

CONTENTS

FOREWORD	7
INTRODUCTION	9
The Visegrad countries have a stake in the success of a pro-European Ukraine Jacek Kucharczyk, Grigorij Mesežnikov
CZECH REPUBLIC
Domestic political context since 1989: Russia as a dividing element in Czech society Petr Kratochvíl, Věra Řiháčková	14
Foreign policy and external security: The diverging trajectories of domestic actors vis-à-vis the Russian-Ukrainian conflict Věra Řiháčková	25
Trade and energy – the conflict's limited impact on the Czech economy Helena Schulzová	37
HUNGARY
Domestic political context since 1989: Hungary, Russia, Ukraine Lóránt Győri, Bulcsú Hunyadi, Attila Juhász, Péter Krekó	52
Hungarian foreign policy and the crisis in Ukraine Botond Feledy	69
Hungary and Russia in economic terms – love, business, both or neither? Ada Ámon, András Deák	83
POLAND
The long shadow of the Kremlin: Polish domestic reactions to the Russian-Ukrainian conflict Jacek Kucharczyk, Aleksander Fuksiewicz	102
Back to basics? Polish foreign policy and the Russian-Ukrainian conflict Agnieszka Łada, Łukasz Wenerski	115
Consequences of the Russian-Ukrainian conflict for the Polish economy and energy sector Łukasz Wenerski, Andreas Speiser	130

SLOVAKIA

Slovakia's response to the Russian-Ukrainian conflict: Domestic socio-political aspects, parties' stances, public opinion	146
Grigorij Mesežnikov, Oľga Gyárfášová

Slovakia's foreign policy towards the Russian-Ukrainian conflict	161
Alexander Duleba

Economics and energy in Slovak-Russian relations in the context of the Russian-Ukrainian conflict	175
Juraj Mesík

THE V4 IN COMPARATIVE PERSPECTIVE	195
Diverging voices, converging policies
Jacek Kucharczyk, Grigorij Mesežnikov

AFTERWORD	207
The V4 reassembled – but to what end?
Jacek Kucharczyk, Grigorij Mesežnikov

ABOUT THE AUTHORS	212
--------------------------	-----