Contents

Part I Knowledge Management and Quality Management in Libraries and Information Services

1 Knowledge Management in Libraries and Information Services 3

1.1 General Aspects on Knowledge: Short Introduction to the Problem of the Book 3

1.1.1 Knowledge and Its Components: Data—Information—Knowledge 8

1.1.2 Importance of Information and the Role of Libraries in the Information Age 13

1.1.3 Creating New Knowledge: Organisational Knowledge 17

1.1.4 Libraries as Centres of Continuous Learning and Knowledge Growth 23

1.2 The Implementation of Knowledge Management in Libraries and IFLA'S Role in this Movement 34

1.3 Libraries' Relevance and Performance Based on Knowledge Management Principles 37

1.4 Conclusions 47

References 48

2 Quality Management in Libraries and Information Services 53
2.1 Conceptual Definition and a Short History of Quality Management Development 53
2.1.1 Contributions to the Development of Quality Management: A Brief History 63
2.2 Quality Management (QM) in Libraries and Some Quality Generic Models 65
2.3 Trends in LIS Literature for Improving Quality of Library Services: Studies and Research Methods 71
2.3.1 Traditional Studies and Research Methods in LIS 75
2.3.2 Digital Transformation of Libraries: Implication of IFLA and Libraries Worldwide in AI & Big Data Integration and Recent Literature: Practice-Based Studies 93
2.4 Conclusions 102
References 105

Part II A Synergistic Approach to Knowledge Management and Quality Management in Libraries and Information Services: A Case Study of Romanian Libraries

3 The Interrelationship Between Quality Management (QM) and Knowledge Management (KM) in Library and Information Services 115
3.1 The Implications of Knowledge Management for Quality Assurance in Library and Information Services 115
3.2 The Role, Skills, and Competencies of Librarians in Ensuring the Relevance of Libraries in the Information Society 129
3.3 A Joint KM-QM Framework for Reshaping Information Services in Romanian Libraries 137
3.4 Conclusions 158
References 159

4 A Synergistic Approach to Knowledge Management and Quality Management in Reshaping Romanian Library Services 165
4.1 Case Study of Romanian Libraries: A Comparative Analysis of Librarians' Perspectives and Users' Perceptions and Requests 165
4.1.1 Design of the Research 165
4.1.2 Establishing the Research Objectives and Selecting the Participant Sample (4.0) 167
4.1.3 Reliability of the Method Used and Background Information of the Participants 168
4.2 Interpretation of the Results 177
4.2.1 Interpretation of Results from Parallel Surveys of Users and Librarians 184
4.3 A Strategy for Reshaping the Services Offered by Romanian Libraries in the Information Society 276
References 281

Conclusions of the Book 283

Appendix A 295

Appendix B 297

Appendix C 299

Bibliography 303

Index 321