Contents

List of figures x
List of tables xi
List of case studies xii
Introduction xiii

PART 1
Providing sport psychology training as a coach and mental health among athletes 1

1 Dos and don't for coaches who provide sport psychology to their athletes: ethics, referrals, and the HCPC 3

2 Mental health disorders and symptoms among athletes 7

PART 2
Facilitating awareness 15

3 Goal setting 17

4 Performance profiling 27

PART 3
Coaching different populations and providing psychological support to athletes with various needs 39

5 Coaching children 41

6 Coaching adolescents 49

7 Coaching adults 60

8 Coaching athletes with learning disabilities and neurodevelopmental disorders 71

9 Providing psychological support to an injured athlete 86

PART 4
Relationships, support, and influence within coaching practice 99

10 The coach-athlete relationship 101

11 Understanding and building team cohesion 113

12 Socially supporting athletes effectively 124

13 Creating the optimal motivational climate 133

14 Promoting anti-doping attitudes among athletes 142

15 Developing athlete leaders 156

16 Psychological safety 169

17 Managing perfectionistic tendencies among athletes 177

PART 5
Mental skills training for athletes 191

18 Mental imagery 193

19 Coping effectiveness training 208

20 Generating challenge states 225

21 Mindfulness-based stress reduction training 238

22 Preventing choking under pressure in sport 248

PART 6
The coach 259

23 Coach mental health 261

24 How to be a more effective leader 269

25 How to give effective team speeches 280

26 Applying self-determination theory and research to enhance coaching practice 285

27 Maltreatment and abusive coaching practices 296

28 Trauma-informed coaching 301

References 307

Index 363