
Index

- Abbott, R. 210, 332–3, 334, 335, 339, 340, 554, 566, 636, 641, 644, 652–72, 715, 716, 727, 729, 730, 732–3
- Accelerating Returns Law 5, 7
- accession rule, copyright law 670
- accountability
- auditing generative AI 309, 312–13, 316
 - criminal law enforcement 351
 - EU AI Liability Directive see EU AI Liability Directive (AILD), accountability
 - legal governance validation models, meta-model for legal governance 86
 - legal services sector, effects on, future direction 137
 - responsible AI promotion 181
- accuracy
- EU AI Act overview, high-risk system classification 522–3, 526–7, 530, 534
 - evolution in law and governance, EU AI Act 151
 - false agency, large language models (LLMs) 236–7
 - legal services sector, effects on, innovation concept 129–30
 - see also* robustness
- act requirement (actus reus), criminal liability 340, 341
- acting-in-function-of rules, legal governance validation 80
- Action Situated Language (ASL), smart legal ecosystem (SLE) 98
- actor network theory, power and control problems 30
- ADICO institutional syntax, smart legal ecosystem (SLE) 93–8, 99
- adversarial debiasing approach, consumer credit finance 463–4
- adversarial machine learning 137, 398
- adverse impact ratio (AIR) in credit scoring 444, 455, 457–9, 462–3
- advertising and personalisation effects, consumer law 579–81, 585, 586, 593–4
- AdvGLUE 320
- Agarwal, S. 400, 448
- agency, false see false agency
- agency law, import of rules from, and corporate law 623–4
- agency question
- automated law enforcement 258–9
 - power and control problems 29–34
- Agrawal, A. 203, 204, 205, 622, 629
- Aidid, A. 195, 208
- airline bereavement fares and chatbot autonomy defence 229
- Ajani, G. 59, 64–5
- Alarie, B. 198, 208
- Aletras, N. 127, 134
- algorithmists, new roles for legal professionals 209–10
- Allen, J. 126, 139, 140
- Allen, T. 402, 421
- Almada, M. 62, 350
- Alpaydin, E. 577, 579
- alternative fairness concepts, consumer credit finance 455–6
- Altman, S. 148, 308
- Amazon
- contract validity 406–7, 411, 421–2
 - recruitment screening tool 283, 294, 378, 449
- amplification bias 303–4
- Anahoya, R. 715, 719
- Angwin, J. 52, 266, 286
- annotation bias (data labeling) 289–91
- anthropomorphic characterisations 221, 239–40, 415
- anti-social behaviour, criminal law enforcement 357, 358, 362, 363
- Apple and technological dependency 27
- application audits 311, 313, 314, 321–3, 324
- Arbel, Y. 429–30, 436
- Armour, J. 618, 619, 620
- articles of association, corporate law, directors, support of 624, 625
- artificial general intelligence (AGI) 10, 402, 406
- Artificial Inventor Project 654, 732–3
- Asaro, P. 217, 341
- Asay, C. 675, 731
- ascertainment bias 278–9
- Ashley, K. 124, 146
- Asimov's three laws of robotics 10–11
- Assad, S. 597, 604
- association bias 449–50
- auditing generative AI 307–27
- access levels 316, 318, 322
 - accountability assessment 309, 312–13, 316
 - application audits 311, 313, 314, 321–3, 324
 - application audits, privileged access 322

- audit trail creation 317
- automation and environmental harms 311
- compliance and risk audits, distinction between 314
- continuous audits 315
- datasets review 320–21
- discrimination assessment 311, 322, 323
- ethical foresight analysis 322
- ex-ante and ex-post audits 315, 322, 323
- foundation models 308, 310
- functionality audits 315, 321–2, 325
- governance audits 312, 313–14, 316–18, 323–4
- governance and technology audits, distinction between 314
- harms, potential 310–11
- high-risk projects and organisational safeguards 318
- human-computer interaction harms 311
- impact audits 315, 322, 325
- independent third-party auditors, selection of 324
- information hazards 311
- information provision 310
- information security assessment 320
- institutional auditing ecosystem, lack of 325
- internal and external audits, distinction between 315–16
- legal standards, meeting 310
- limitations 322–6
- malicious use identification 307, 311
- model audits 312–13, 314, 315, 319–21, 323, 324
- objections to 311–12
- organisational governance structures, adequacy assessment 317
- performance assessment 319–20
- post-deployment monitoring 322
- practical and conceptual challenges 312
- risk assessment 310, 311–12, 316–17, 318, 321–3, 325–6
- robustness assessment 320, 323, 324–5
- sandbox environments 322
- scams and misuse 307
- snapshot audits 315
- technology audits 314–15
- white-box audits 318, 321
- see also* generative AI
- Australia
 - Commonwealth Evidence Act 391–2
 - Digital Platform Services Inquiry 28
- Australia, cases
 - Bleyer v. Google* 230
 - McConnell Dowell Constructors (Aust) Pty Ltd v. Santam Ltd (No 1)* 375
 - Trkulja v. Google* 230
- authorship, and copyright law see copyright law and AI authorship
- automated decision-making 67, 157–8, 164, 167, 185, 188, 426–8
 - see also* decision-making
- automated law enforcement 250–74
 - automated sanctioning. 251
 - blockchain technology 259, 260
 - border management 252
 - confidentiality 270, 271
 - digital disruption programmes 252
 - freedom concerns 251–2
 - impossibility structure reliance 250–51
 - Internet of Things exclusion 252
 - pandemics and access restrictions 252
 - smart contracts 251
- automated law enforcement, detrimental effects 252–60
 - breaches of contract and law, concerns over 253–4
 - communication habits, changes in 257
 - consumers, possible benefits 259
 - copyright violations and memes 257
 - copyright-protected works and online availability 259
 - deplatforming of Internet users 255
 - digital control and burdens of legal disputes 254–5
 - effects on law and society 256–60
 - effects on parties involved 253–6
 - intelligent tracking devices 253
 - internet content moderation and take downs, appeals against 258
 - legal change and flexibility problems 256–7
 - legal costs 255
 - legal transformation, voluntary and trust-based order replacement 259–60
 - overenforcement and material loss of rights 255–6
 - power asymmetries, potential 254–5
 - power increase for digital companies and public agencies 258–9
 - smart contracts 254–5, 256, 258
 - social media surveillance 253, 254, 257
 - state balance of power issues 259
 - surveillance and data protection 253–4
 - translation of legal norms into computer code 255–6
- automated law enforcement, EU legislation 261–73
 - AI Act 263–4
 - Copyright in the Digital Single Market (CDSM) Directive 262, 274
 - crime prevention 262, 264

- Data Protection Law 261–2
- Digital Service Act (DSA) 262–3
- high risk systems 263
- human intervention right 262
- human oversight 263
- Law Enforcement Directive (LED) 261–2, 272
- automated law enforcement, legal framework, EU
 - fundamental rights 262–3, 264–73
 - copyright issues 265–6
 - civil disobedience and freedom of assembly 268, 269–70
 - conscientious objection 268–9
 - crime preventive measures 262–3, 264–5, 266–7
 - freedom of expression 262–3, 264–5
 - grievances disclosure 268, 270–71
 - human dignity 273
 - human review and oversight requirement 267, 271–3
 - legal and legitimate breaches of the law 267–71
 - obligation compliance or breach choices 264–5
 - online platforms and copyrighted content filters 265–6
 - and transparency 271–2
 - whistleblowing 270–71
- autonomy issues
 - AI autonomy defence, characterisation problems 222–4
 - characterisation problems see characterisation problems, analogies and apparently autonomous systems
 - civil liability 475
 - competition law see competition law, autonomous algorithmic collusion
 - computational thinking approach 6
 - corporate law 616–17, 623, 629, 631–2
 - criminal liability 329–30
 - driverless vehicles see driverless vehicles
 - EU AI Liability Directive (AILD) 549–52, 554–5
 - legal governance validation models 80
 - legal governance validation models, meta-model for legal governance 86
 - responsible AI promotion, transparency and explainability 186, 189–90
 - taxation of robots 639
- Bagchi, A. 214, 581–2, 586
- Bakos, Y. 429, 573
- Balkin, J. 577, 583, 589
- Bar-Gill, O. 579, 580, 583
- Barfield, W. 2–12, 57, 63, 203, 255, 329, 338, 355, 414, 468, 642
- Barocas, S. 20, 312, 378, 583, 589
- Bathae, Y. 137, 553
- Bayern, S. 232–49, 630, 631
- Becker, G. 342, 343
- Beckers, A. 220, 402
- Beebe, B. 675, 697
- Belief-Desire-Intention (BDI) model, criminal liability 333
- Bellia, A. 403, 624
- Ben-Shahar, O. 253, 573, 575
- Bender, E. 218–19, 237, 430
- BEPS (base erosion and profit shifting) program, taxation of robots 637
- Bertschinger, U. 617, 625
- Bertuzzi, L. 491, 531
- bias concerns
 - consumer credit finance and fairness risk management 448, 449–50, 451–2, 463–4
 - copyright and AI-generated creations 200
 - EU AI Liability Directive (AILD), machine learning design flaws 558–9, 560–61
 - evidence, AI as, authentication and trustworthiness 387
 - legal services sector, effects on, future direction 137–8, 139–40
 - see also* fairness
- bias and discrimination and harm identification 275–306
 - AI as human-machine enterprise 280–84
 - Amazon recruitment screening tool 283, 294, 378, 449
 - ascertainment bias 278–9
 - bias as error 277, 279, 301
 - collaboration effects 282, 284
 - court decisions and publication bias 279
 - Creator-Vendor track 282, 283–4, 303
 - humans as actuators 281
 - identification of AI biases 279–80
 - interdisciplinary requirement 279
 - new and actionable lifecycle 281–4
 - User track 282–3, 284
- bias and discrimination and harm identification,
 - bias mechanisms 298–306
 - amplification bias 303–4
 - bias amplification 303–4
 - bias inheritance 303, 305
 - confirmation bias 304–5
 - cybersecurity and injection attacks 299
 - facial recognition and parent bias 303
 - governance control points 298
 - hyperparameter bias and single-point injection 299–300

- inherited bias 303
- injection bias 299–302, 302
- intercausality between biases 304–6
- learning rates 299–300
- multipoint bias injection 300–302
- observation bias 304–5
- parent bias 303
- SAVRY violence risk predictor 296, 300–302
- systemic bias 303
- bias and discrimination and harm identification, taxonomy and categorization issues 279, 284–8
 - annotation bias (data labeling) 289–91
 - annotation bias (data labeling), image content 290–91
 - class membership bias 286–7
 - cognitive biases 278, 285–7, 301–2
 - data biases 288–91
 - feature bias 291–2, 293–4
 - framing biases 287–8
 - gender-based framing biases 287–8
 - implicit bias 285, 302
 - learning biases 291–4, 299–300
 - model biases 295–7
 - off-label use bias and errors 298
 - sampling bias 279, 289, 295, 304
 - societal biases 287–8, 303
 - uncertainty bias and confidence value 295–7
 - use biases and errors 297–8
- Big Tech influence in society see power and control problems, AI and Big Tech influence in society
- biometric identification
 - bias mechanisms 303
 - computational thinking approach 4–5
 - criminal law see criminal law enforcement, prohibited AI (EU AI Act), remote biometric identification in public space
 - emotion recognition systems 369, 528
 - EU AI Act overview, risk assessment 515–16, 522, 524
 - evidence, AI as, authentication and trustworthiness 396–7
 - evolution in law and governance, US State and local level initiatives 171–2
 - US, AI Bill of Rights proposal 50, 53
- Bitcoin as money 216
- Bletchley Declaration 217
- blockchain technology 99, 103, 259, 260, 427
- Blockx, J. 602, 607
- Blodgett-Ford, S. 673–714
- Bogenschneider, B. 636, 641, 644, 668
- Bommasani, R. 67, 308, 310, 493, 530
- Borgesius, F. 225, 577, 578, 582
- Bostrom, N. 410, 421, 602, 718
- Bracha, O. 675, 686
- Bradford, A. 60, 65, 70, 155, 350, 493
- Browne, C. 203, 206
- Browning, J. 238, 242, 245
- Brussels Effect 59–60, 61, 64, 117, 155, 228, 350, 359, 493, 501
- Brynjolfsson, E. 196, 615, 637
- Bryson, J. 338, 414
- Bubeck, S. 237, 241, 422
- Bucher, T. 16, 21, 25, 29, 30
- Buolamwini, J. 303, 317
- Burk, D. 197, 199, 200, 201, 728
- Busch, C. 431, 575
- business objectives, consumer credit finance 460–62
- business to consumer (B2C) relations see consumer law, business to consumer (B2C) relations
- Buttrick, H. 51, 53

- Calder-Wang, S. 608, 613
- Calo, R. 20, 27, 213, 286, 580
- Calvano, E. 597, 602, 604, 605, 606, 607, 608, 609, 611
- Canada
 - AI and Data Act 58, 173–4
 - Evidence Act 387
 - Moffatt v. Air Canada* 229
 - Ontario Environmental Bill of Rights 40
- cars, driverless see driverless vehicles
- cartel agreements, competition law 597–9
- Casanovas, P. 73–104
- Casey, B. 205, 229, 344
- copyright issues, automated law enforcement 265–6
- Čerka, P. 218, 222, 566
- Chagal-Feferkorn, K. 177–93
- Chalmers, D. 236, 246
- characterisation problems 213–31
 - AI autonomy defence 222–4
 - Bitcoin as money 216
 - Bletchley Declaration 217
 - driverless vehicle accidents 224
 - electronic construct counterpart issues 215–16
 - framer's perspectives and motivations 214
 - harm liability 224
 - large language models (LLMs) 218
 - law and fact distinction 216
 - mosquito case comparison 222–3 and new technologies 215
 - outcome shaping 222–5
 - property-generating transactions 216

- software artefacts 215, 219
- software and contracting systems 224
- speech act theory 214
- characterisation problems, analogies and
 - apparently autonomous systems 214, 215, 217–22
 - anthropomorphic characterisations 221
 - autonomous thinking machines, issues with 218
 - and frame of reference 219–20
 - inherent arguments 218
 - instrumental purpose consideration 220–21
 - intelligence concept 219
 - safety and risk issues 221
- characterisation problems, courtroom litigation 229–31
 - airline bereavement fares and chatbot autonomy defence 229
 - autonomy characterisations 229–30
 - patent litigation 230–31
 - results published by search engines 230
- characterisation problems, emerging regulations 225–9
 - AI system definition 225–8
 - autonomy, adaptiveness, and inferencing criteria 225–8
 - EU AI Act 225–7, 228
 - EU AI Liability Directive (AILD) 228–9
 - EU Products Liability Directive (PLD) 229
 - self-driving car manufacturers 227
 - software regulation 224, 226, 227, 228, 229
 - US AI Executive Order 226
- chatbots
 - characterisation problems 229
 - consumer law 580, 583, 588
 - contract validity 412, 413, 416
 - EU AI Act overview, risk assessment 527–8
 - false agency, apparent agency 233, 235–6, 237–9, 240–44, 246–7, 248
 - legal services sector, effects on 132, 145
 - use of, consumer law, business to consumer (B2C) relations 583
- ChatGPT
 - consumer law, AI as product 577, 588, 592–3
 - copyright and fair use, New York Times v. OpenAI and Microsoft 699, 706
 - EU AI Act overview 529–30, 533
 - false agency, apparent agency 233, 237–9, 242–3
 - legal governance validation models, smart legal ecosystem (SLE) 91
 - legal services sector, effects on, innovation concept 125, 127, 128, 130, 131, 133, 139
 - US, AI Bill of Rights proposal 43, 48–9, 51
see also OpenAI
- Chesterman, S. 218, 224, 717
- China
 - evolution in law and governance 172–3
 - Li v. Liu* 198–9
 - New Generation AI Development Plan 58
 - social credit system monitoring 260
 - traffic control and automated sanctions 251
- Choi, J. 429–30
- Chopra, S. 204, 213, 219, 222, 402, 413, 434, 624
- Christian, J. 238, 242
- civil disobedience and freedom of assembly 268, 269–70
- civil liability 467–88
 - adaptation and amendment considerations 476
 - AI autonomy concerns 475
 - AI distinctive features 473–6
 - breach of contract 472
 - burden of proof in product liability rules 486
 - complexity and opacity issues 474–5, 483
 - copyright infringements 471
 - cybersecurity 475, 484
 - damages liability 471–2, 475
 - data protection infringements 471
 - data supply services as product component 483
 - defectiveness concept and safety expectations 483–4, 485
 - EU AI Act 468–9, 471, 477, 482
 - EU AI Liability Directive (AILD) proposal 470, 471, 476, 477, 486
 - EU Digital Strategy 469–70
 - EU Product Liability Directive revision 470, 471, 476, 477–80, 481–4, 485–6
 - evidence disclosure and burden of proof issues 477
 - evolving products concept 484
 - exemption from liability and manufacturer control 484–6
 - fairness and efficiency issues 475–6
 - fault-based liability 476, 477, 478, 479
 - fundamental rights and freedoms 473
 - harm caused by multiple causes 474, 475
 - harmonisation issues 476, 477–9
 - high-risk AI systems 477
 - labour law protection infringements 471
 - legal certainty and predictability, need for 479
 - legislative policy dilemmas 476–86
 - monitoring services as product component 483, 485
 - non-contractual liability rules 473
 - open product ecosystems 480

- product, component part definition 483
- product concept 479, 480
- product liability rules, potentialities and imitations 478–80
- product and services, distinction between 480–83
- product updates and upgrades 485
- property damage and personal injury 473, 475
- risk factors 467–72
- smart products 476, 480–81, 484, 485
- specific liability regime for AI proposal 476
- standalone AI products 476
- terminological clarification, need for 479
- transparency issues 474–5
- vulnerability concerns 475
- class actions 54–5, 65, 247, 565, 601
- class membership bias 286–7
- Claude (Constitutional AI) 91
- CLAUDETTE project, consumer law 591–2
- click-and-browse wrap agreements 409, 426
- Cockburn, I. 123, 726
- code of conduct 115, 132–3, 502, 518, 527
- coercion, power and control problems 18, 26
- cognitive bias 278, 285–7, 301–2
- cognitive capacity, criminal liability 341
- cognitive computing, legal services sector, effects on 124
- Cohen, J. 17, 20, 21, 25, 60, 199, 203, 206, 579
- collaboration 135, 136, 137, 144, 145–6, 175, 181–4, 282, 284, 651, 733–5
 - see also* harmonisation issues
- commercial certainty protection, contract validity 405–6, 410
- competent national authorities' involvement, EU AI Act 496, 497, 499, 523–4, 525
- competition
 - patent policy and responsible AI design 722–3
 - power and control problems, legal challenges 28–9
- competition law, autonomous algorithmic
 - collusion 596–613
 - competition concerns 602, 605
 - economic effects, proposed focus on 609–11
 - ex-ante testing limitations 611–12
 - experimental evidence 601–6
 - experimental evidence, critical limitations 605–6
 - explicit collusion distinction 600
 - hub-and-spoke collusion distinction 600–601
 - illegal cartel agreements and legal
 - oligopolistic collusion, distinction between 597–9
 - optimal pricing strategy 600–601, 602–5
- personal data protection 609
- pricing algorithms ban concerns 608–9, 611
- proposed solutions 607–12
- Q-learning 602–4, 605–6, 611
- regulatory intervention issues 610–12
- reinforcement learning 602–3, 606
- sandboxes 612
- and self-assessment 610
- simulated environment suggestion 606, 607, 611
- compliance concept 68, 76, 77, 89–90, 133, 314
- computational irreducibility, contract validity, unexpected outcomes 417–18
- computational modelling 98, 124, 316, 353, 359, 436
- computational thinking approach 2–12
 - Accelerating Returns Law 5, 7
 - AI machines 11–12
 - artificial general intelligence (AGI) 10, 402, 406
 - Asimov's three laws of robotics 10–11
 - autonomous operations 6
 - computational resources and growth rate 2–7
 - computing performance increase 3, 6–7, 9–10
 - exponential growth in computing resources 5–6
 - facial recognition challenges 4–5
 - floating-point operations per second (FLOPS) 6–8, 9
 - future resources expectation 8–10
 - legal challenges 3–4, 5, 6, 7–8, 9
 - machine learning techniques 4, 5–6
 - Moore's Law 2–3, 9
 - negligence law 6
 - neural networks 4–5
 - personhood status for AI 9
 - products liability law 6
 - quantum computing and technical challenges 9–10
 - robots 3–4, 10–12
 - self-driving cars 10–11
- conditional parity scoring, consumer credit finance 455, 456–7, 459
- confidentiality 138, 160, 209, 270, 271, 393
 - see also* data protection
- confirmation bias 240, 304–5
- conflicts of interest, lack of, corporate law, robo-directors 632
- conscientious objection 268–9
- constitution-oriented approach, power, convenience, and prestige paradigms 70–71
- constitutional justification, taxation of robots 642

- consumer benefits, automated law enforcement 259
- consumer credit finance and fairness risk management 443–66
 - adversarial debiasing approach 463–4
 - adverse impact ratio (AIR) statistic in credit scoring 444, 455, 457–9, 462–3
 - AI models 446–8
 - alternative fairness concepts 455–6
 - alternatives, search for less discriminatory 462–4
 - association bias 449–50
 - bias concerns 448, 449–50, 451–2, 463–4
 - business objectives, validation and monitoring 460–62
 - business objectives, validation and monitoring, documentation and data retention 461–2
 - causality-based (counterfactual) fairness concept 456
 - conditional parity scoring 455, 456–7, 459
 - cost reduction factors 448
 - credit default prediction 447–8
 - credit scoring 446, 449, 450–51, 456–9, 462–3
 - cumulative distribution function (CDF) in credit scoring 457, 458
 - demographic groups and differential accuracy or rates of data availability 449
 - direct discrimination 444–5, 449
 - discriminatory effects, reasons for 448–52
 - disparate impact claims 445, 449, 450–52, 453, 462, 463
 - dynamic modeling strategy 446–7
 - employment decisions, examples of 449, 450–51
 - EU AI Act 445–6, 465
 - financial fraud protection 448
 - group fairness concept 455–6
 - group parity scoring 455–7
 - ‘high risk’ category 445–6
 - human bias in decision-making, reducing 448
 - human oversight considerations 452, 465–6
 - indirect discrimination 444–5, 449
 - individual (similarity-based) fairness concept 456
 - machine learning methods 446–8
 - machine learning methods and behaviour predictions 447, 451–2, 454
 - model accuracy and fairness tradeoff 456, 464
 - model change management process 465–6
 - model risk management 465–6
 - policy context 444–6
 - predatory lending behaviour concerns 464
 - protected demographic characteristics 448–50, 453–4
 - proxy relationships 449–52
 - qualitative review and corrective actions 452–4
 - standardized mean difference (SMD) in credit scoring 457
 - static supervised machine learning models 446–7
 - statistical learning methods 447
 - training data bias 449, 451–2, 463
 - tree-based classification models 446
 - unawareness concept and fairness 455
 - underserved customers 448
- consumer law 570–94
 - AI definition 576–7
 - business manipulation concerns 580
 - chatbots 580, 583, 588
 - consumer definition 572
 - consumer empowerment potential 591–3
 - consumer empowerment potential, CLAUDETTE Project example 591–2
 - deceptive communication by traders 573–4 and EU AI Act 571, 577–8, 585, 589
 - EU Consumer Rights Directive (CRD) 586–7
 - EU Digital Services Act (DSA) 587
 - information asymmetries 573 and large language models (LLMs) 571
 - liability and product-safety laws 574
 - power and control problems, legal challenges 28–9
 - price discrimination 578, 581–2, 586
 - public policy considerations 575–6
 - range of customer options, concerns over 580–81
 - significant harm condition concept 578
 - unfair contract terms 574–5
- consumer law, AI as product 587–91
 - ChatGPT 588, 592–3
 - deceptive commercial practices 588
 - digital assistants 587–8
 - fundamental rights 589 and global nature of AI services markets 589
 - product liability 590–91
 - safety factors 589–90
 - social media usage concerns 583, 589–90
- consumer law, business to consumer (B2C) relations 579–87
 - business potential and consumer risk 579–83
 - consumer behaviour monitoring 579
 - consumer search queries and ranking of offers 586–7

- content moderation practices in social media 583
- credit or insurance provision 582–3
- offers tailored to specific consumers 581–2
- personal data protection 584–5
- personalisation and advertising effects 579–81, 585, 586, 593–4
- postcontractual stages distinction 583, 586
- precontractual stages distinction 579–82
- price personalisation 581–2
- unfair commercial practices (UCPD) 585–6
- consumer manipulation, digital (DCM), power and control problems 27
- Conte, A. 80, 81, 85
- continuous audits 315
- contract issues
 - breach, automated law enforcement, detrimental effects 253–4
 - breach, civil liability 472
 - consumer law 574–5
 - consumer law, business to consumer (B2C) relations 579–82, 583, 586
 - legal services sector, effects on, innovation concept 129–30
 - smart contracts see smart contracts
- contract law and advances in AI 425–42
 - algorithmic deception concerns 432
 - automated decision-making 426–8
 - changed circumstances, predicting 439–40
 - clickwrap cases 426–7
 - consent/assent concept 435–6
 - contract doctrine 433–40
 - contract drafting 430
 - contract interpretation and terms (generative interpretation) 429–30
 - contractual agent 440–42
 - development stages 428–32
 - digital assistants 431, 435–6
 - generative AI 428–31
 - good old fashioned artificial intelligence (GOFAI) 427
 - indeterminacy and unclear text 430
 - intentionality concept 433–6, 440–42
 - large language models (LLMs) 428–9, 430–31, 435–6
 - machine learning algorithms 427
 - mental capacity issues 426–7, 436–7
 - minded AI 433
 - morality and contract doctrine 437–9
 - natural language use 428, 430, 431
 - no relevant difference argument 437
 - notice model 435–6
 - objective theory of contract 434–5
 - rational choice theory 433–4
 - representational theory of mind 435
 - smart contracts 426–7
 - smart contracts, and blockchain 427
 - smart contracts, if-then or if-then-else type coding 427
 - Turing test 434
- contract validity 402–24
 - anthropomorphic terms, use of 415
 - automated and human involvement 410–12
 - chatbots 412, 413, 416
 - computer programs with mental state attributions and ELIZA Effect 413–15
 - personhood 414
 - technological neutrality 403, 408, 423
 - Turing test and appearances of intelligence 412–13
- contract validity, contractual intention 404–10
 - Amazon example 406–7, 421–2
 - click-and-browse wrap agreements 409
 - commercial certainty protection 405–6, 410
 - communication methods 405
 - computer programs as sets of human instructions 410
 - decision-making process and statement. 405
 - future unintended contracts 407–9
 - intentional instructions 409–10
 - legal support, lack of 408–9
 - objective theory of contract 404–6, 423
 - reasonable addressee perspective 406, 412–13
 - technology and practical implications 406–7
- contract validity, unexpected outcomes 415–23
 - computational irreducibility 417–18
 - extreme scenarios and massive losses 421–2
 - human monitoring issues 422–3
 - liability of a contract 416
 - operator protection 420–21
 - performance and controllability, tradeoff between 419, 421
 - program development and deployment, distinction between 416, 417, 420, 422–3
 - responsible entities issues 419–20
 - technical considerations 416–18
 - technical considerations, control concept 416–17
 - technical considerations, testing 417–18, 422
 - validity of a contract 416, 418–19
- control and power see power and control problems
- convenience concept, power, convenience, and prestige paradigms 61–4
- cookie handling, Japan 107
- copyright
 - automated law enforcement, detrimental effects 257, 259

- automated law enforcement, EU fundamental rights 265–6
- civil liability 471
- legal interplay see interplay between AI and law, copyright and AI-generated creations
- see also* patent
- copyright and fair use 673–714
- copyright and fair use, New York Times v. OpenAI and Microsoft 674, 679–80, 698–714
- AI training allegations 700–703
- amount and substantiality of portion of copyrighted work as a whole 708–10
- categories of copyrighted work 707–8
- ChatGPT 699, 706
- copying and creation of unlicensed derivative works for LLM training purposes 705–6
- fair use analysis without transformative purpose test 703–13
- future direction consideration 711–12
- peer-to-peer file sharing comparison 712
- potential market or value of copyrighted work, effect of use on 710–13
- purpose and character of use of copyrighted works 706–7
- training AI technology and publicly available content 699–703
- copyright and fair use, transformative purpose test 673–98
- code copies 679
- copyright ownership as a monopoly, issues with 694–7
- correct arguments and decisions 681–3
- creative expression cases 676, 677–8
- derivative works 674, 683–9, 690–91, 696
- digital photocopying technology 691–3, 711
- e-book copy as infringing copy 687
- history 675–80
- image-to-text conversion technologies 678–9
- judicial speculation invite 690–93
- meta-level utilitarian goals of progress 689–94
- natural rights legal theory 695
- parodies 676–8, 711
- and patents 676, 680, 683, 685, 690–91
- patents and copyrights conflation issues 693–4
- profit motive 682–3
- right to reproduce the copyrighted work in copies 674
- scientific or technological cases 676, 678–80
- transformative use versus transformative purpose 692–3
- translations 688, 690
- unpublished works 681–2, 690
- copyright law and AI authorship 652–72
- Artificial Inventor Project 654
- authors, writings, and originality 656–7
- creativity consideration 657
- and EU AI Act 663
- human authorship requirement 655, 657–9, 661, 665–6
- international treatment 661–3
- ordinary meanings and dictionary definitions 656–7
- photographs 658, 659
- spiritual mediums (non-human generated works) 658–9
- Thaler v. Perlmutter* 197, 199, 231, 654–6, 671–2
- transparency rules 663, 671
- US government inquiry into AI-generated works 659–61, 665
- copyright law and AI authorship, protection for AI-generated works 664–72
- accession rule 670
- AI owners as most appropriate default copyright owners 669–70
- authorless works 671
- creativity, nature of 665–6
- distributional fairness concerns 667, 668
- fair use doctrine impact 668–9
- first possession rule 670
- and human exceptionalism 665–6
- investment issues 667–8
- legal authorship benefits 671
- overprotection claims 666–9
- paintings and 3D printers 670
- philosophical distinctions, issues with 666
- recognition of AI authors, importance of 671–2
- small and medium enterprises (SMEs), effects on 667
- stakeholder involvement 669
- technological unemployment concern 667
- unfair or anti-competitive business practices 668
- work made for hire (WMFH) 669, 671
- corporate law 614–35
- AI incorporation 621–3
- AI predictions and data use 622
- augmented AI 623
- autonomy issues 616–17, 623, 629, 631–2
- corporate bodies as legal entities 619–20
- decentralized autonomous organizations (DAOs) 616–17
- Deep Knowledge Ventures and Vital investment tool 614–15, 629