

Contents

1	Introduction .....	1
1.1	Structure of the Book .....	4
2	The Iceberg Theory of Engineering Management .....	7
2.1	Stupidity Creates Jobs .....	10
2.2	Stopping Stupidity .....	11
3	Excellence and Cynicism in Engineering .....	13
4	Fads and Fashions in Engineering .....	17
4.1	Is Engineering Becoming More “Digital”? .....	20
4.2	Digital Twins, Simulation, and the Price of Agency .....	21
4.3	Hype Me Like One of Your French Girls .....	25
5	The Velocity Fallacy .....	29
5.1	Do It Now .....	31
6	Design Versus Engineering .....	35
7	The Engineer Versus the Engineering Manager .....	39
8	Surviving Cringe .....	43
9	The Pretend Work Era .....	45
10	Prototypes and Products .....	47
10.1	You’re the Real MVP (Minimum Viable Product) .....	48
10.2	Productize This .....	50
10.3	From Skunkworks to Production, and Back .....	51
10.4	Sticky Designs .....	52
11	Fake Requirements .....	57

12	Bad Work Breakdowns .....	61
12.1	Confusing Parts and Wholes .....	63
12.2	The Tree of Truth (Product Ontologies) .....	64
13	Fake Ownership .....	69
14	Minimal Engineering .....	73
14.1	Minimalism in Engineering .....	75
14.2	Intuitiveness and Idiot-Proofness .....	76
14.3	Nordic Moderation and Goldilocks Engineering .....	77
15	Shitty Tools .....	79
15.1	The Enterprise Software Shitshow .....	82
16	Ballooning Scopes .....	85
17	Death by a Thousand Pages .....	89
17.1	The Interoperability Paradox .....	91
17.2	Thirty-Thousand Requirements to Rule Them All .....	92
18	Engineering Myopia .....	97
18.1	Seeing the Crumbs .....	98
19	Appetite for Destruction .....	101
20	The Cold War Between Sales and Engineering .....	105
20.1	Product Management to the Rescue .....	106
21	Project, Systems and Products .....	111
22	Dangerous Originality .....	115
23	The Strange Immortality of Failed Projects .....	119
23.1	The Elves and the Project Manager .....	121
24	The Job Title Bingo .....	125
25	The Kindergartization of Work .....	129
26	Let It Rot .....	133
27	The Recurring Cast .....	135
27.1	The Floaters .....	135
27.2	The Assholes .....	136
27.2.1	The Making of an Asshole .....	138
27.2.2	Can It Get Any Worse? Yes, Assholes Might Team Up .....	140
27.2.3	Leadership by Erasure .....	140
27.2.4	Post-Asshole Life .....	141

27.3	The Wannabes .....	141
27.4	The Rainmakers .....	142
27.5	The Crony .....	144
27.6	The Tightrope Walkers .....	146
27.7	The Technocrat .....	146
27.8	The Anti-skilled .....	147
27.9	The Significant Other .....	148
27.10	The Single Point of Failure .....	149
27.11	The Delusional .....	150
28	Unrealistic Goals and Reality Distortion Fields .....	155
28.1	Setting and Adjusting Goals .....	156
29	Residual Taylorism in Engineering Design .....	159
29.1	The Ethereal “Processes” .....	163
29.2	Out-of-Context Efficiency .....	164
30	And Yet It Works .....	167
30.1	Near Misses .....	170
31	The Office Conga Line .....	173
32	Projects, Damn Lies, and Statistics .....	179
32.1	Double Schedule, Double Trouble .....	183
33	Stop Making Idiots Rich .....	187
34	What the Future Holds: Engineering, AI, and the Machine That Designs the Machine .....	189
34.1	A Robot Stole My Job, and I Couldn’t Be Happier .....	192