Contents

Preface vii

Part One: Underlying Principles

1. A Picture of Personality 3
   Is Personality Determined? 4
   Freedom of the Person 10
   Individuality in Personality 13
2. The Search for One's Self 22
   Social Integration 22
   The Source of Spirit 28
3. The Source of Personality Problems 37
   Case of George 37
   Creative Tension 44
   Structure of Our Difficulties 53
4. Empathy – Key to the Counselling Process 62
   Empathy in Art 65
   Mental Transference 71
   The Secret of Influence 78

Part Two: Practical Steps

5.	Reading Character	89
	Forgetting and Slips	96
	The Family Constellation	100
6.	Confession and Interpretation	110
	Case of Bronson	111
	Aspects of Confession	122
	Limitations of Counselling	127
7.	The Transforming of Personality	130
	Limits of Advice	131
	The Leaven of Suggestion	132
	Citing Constructive Alternatives	133
	Utilising Counsellee's Suffering	138

Part Three: Ultimate Considerations

8.	The Personality of the Counsellor	147
	What Makes a Good Counsellor?	147
	Analysis of a Typical Counsellor	151
	The Courage of Imperfection	161
9.	Morals and Counselling	163
	Creative Individuality in Morals	167
	Structure of Morality	173
	Constructive Urges	175
10.	Religion and Mental Health	180
	Neurotic Religion	181
	Passion for Meaning	185
	Atheism as Discouragement	187
	Counselling and the Infinite	191

Notes and References 199

Index 219