

Contents

Acknowledgements	ix
Introduction	1
1. War Power, Police Power, Cell Power	31
‘Imagine That Your Body Is a Sovereign Nation’	32
‘A Natural Policing Thing That Happens in the Body’	43
‘It Is to This Resistance . . . That We Give the Name of Immunity’	53
Life and Death in a Cell	63
2. Imagining an Immune Self	79
The Mystique of the Self	81
From Self-Defence . . .	93
. . . To Self-Destruction	110
3. Imagining an Immune System: Politics of Systems I	145
The Mystique of the System	151
Bodies as Systems	168
The Mystique of the Immune Social System	185
4. Order, Energy, Entropy, Bodies: Politics of Systems II	199
Invisible Hands, Invisible Systems, Invisible Governors	203
‘Shipwrecked Passengers on a Doomed Planet’	228
Demons and Parasites: Towards a Politics of the Nervous State	246

5. Nervous States: Politics of Systems III	257
Nervous System, Nervous Self	261
Memoirs of My Nervous Illness; or, Something Rotten in the State of Denmark	285
Nervous State, Nervous Terror	299
6. Immunity's Fiction	311
The Civilian: Born to Die	314
The State: Born to Kill	328
Coda: Fiction	344
Index	347