

Contents

List of Figures	page x
Preface	xi
Acknowledgments	xiv

PART I GET HIP, MY SOUL: HOW IT ALL GOT STARTED

(1944–1948) 1

- 1 The Wild Outré Gang of Columbia Campus:
The Beginnings of a Movement 3
 - 1.1 Unsettling the Official Story 7
 - 1.2 The Beats, Evasion, and the Underground 12
- 2 Write for Them about Them Personally: The Beats and Avant-Garde Literary Communities at Mid-Century 15
 - 2.1 The Dual Audiences for Beat Work 17
 - 2.2 Black Mountain College into Black Mountain Review 20
 - 2.3 Anarchy and Poetry in San Francisco 24
 - 2.4 Personism and the New York School 29

PART II UNDERGROUND TO LITERARY CELEBRITY

(1948–1957) 33

- 3 Hipsters in the Zoo: How the Beats Came Up from the Underground 35
 - 3.1 1948: Cool Hipsters Turn Hot 37
- 4 The Rise of the Beat Novel: Factualism to Spontaneity 39
 - 4.1 The Town and the City: Children of the Sad American Paradise 40
 - 4.2 Flee the Angry Strangers and Who Walk in Darkness: Underground
Calling 47
 - 4.3 Go: A New Season about to Break 54
 - 4.4 Junky: The Hip Sensibility Mutates 62

4.5	Queer : The Routine Artist Outdoes Himself	71
4.6	Naked Lunch : The Word Will Leap on You	76
4.7	On the Road : Sordid Hipsters of America	85
4.8	Developing Spontaneous Prose	97
4.9	Visions of Cody : A Vertical, Metaphysical Study	100
5	The Rise of Beat Poetry: Raw Experience Meets Raw Language	107
5.1	Allen Ginsberg: Poetry in the Raw	108
5.2	Peter Orlovsky: Pure American	111
5.3	Gregory Corso: The Reluctant Hipster	115
5.4	San Francisco and the Rise of Beat Poetry	119
5.5	Charming Event: The 6 Gallery Reading	122
5.6	"Howl" and Its Aftermath	123
5.7	The Obvious Construction of "Howl"	124
5.8	"Howl" as Secret History of the Beat Generation	129
5.9	The Trial	131

PART III THE BEATNIK ERA AND THE PROFUSION OF BEAT LITERATURE (1958–1962) 135

6	The Establishment Strikes Back: Beat Becomes Beatnik	137
6.1	How the New Criticism Savaged Beat Writing	143
6.2	Early Critical Sympathy	151
7	Little Magazines and Subterranean Networks	159
7.1	LeRoi and Hettie Jones, Yugen , and the New Consciousness	160
7.2	Bob Kaufman, Beatitude , and the San Francisco Scene	168
7.3	Two Other Beat Little Magazines and Their Associated Writers: The Floating Bear and Big Table	184
	The Floating Bear	185
	Big Table	188
8	The Opening of the Field	192
8.1	Gregory Corso: The Surreal-Real	193
8.2	Diane di Prima: Vanguard in the Village	201
8.3	LeRoi Jones: Black Bohemian	207
8.4	Jack Micheline: Poetics of the Street	214
8.5	The Gaslight Poets	217
8.6	Ray Bremser: Jailbird, "Best Poet of His Generation"	222
8.7	Bonnie Bremser: Distorted Communities	228
8.8	Ted Joans: Hipper than Thou	231
8.9	Tuli Kupferberg: Beatnik Philosopher	237

9	Revisions of the Real	243
9.1	Lawrence Ferlinghetti Says Things about Ontology	243
9.2	ruth weiss Keeps the Beat	246
9.3	Four Auerhahn Poets	251
	John Wieners: The Poem Does Not Lie	252
	Philip Lamantia: Surreal Mystic	258
	Michael McClure: Powerful Knowledge	264
	Philip Whalen: Mind Moving	267
9.4	Kerouac, Again: Buddhist Goofing	273
9.5	Gary Snyder: Words to Things	279
9.6	Joanne Kyger: Delicious Interpretation	282
9.7	Lew Welch: No Separation	284
9.8	Ron Loewinsohn: The Thing Made Real	286
9.9	David Meltzer: San Francisco Ragas	288
9.10	Sheri Martinelli: Queen of the Beats	292
9.11	Lenore Kandel: Restless Mind	298
9.12	Alan Ansen Digs Those Crazy Cats	301
10	Ignus: From the Beat Hotel to Pull My Daisy	306
PART IV BEAT POLITICS (1962–1969)		313
11	The Women Who Said Something	315
11.1	Joyce Johnson: Moments of Triumph	317
11.2	Elise Cowen: Beat Fragments	321
11.3	Janine Pommy Vega: Paying Dues	327
11.4	Kay Johnson: Battle for Existence	329
11.5	Barbara Moraff: Hip Song Mistress	336
11.6	Carol Bergé: Light Years Ahead	340
12	Liberating Language	345
12.1	Her : Headlines of Pure Poetry	345
12.2	The American Express : Good Language for the New Consciousness	349
12.3	The Hipsters : Black Humor First Visual Comment	351
12.4	The Cut-Up Method of Minutes to Go	355
13	The Vietnam Effect	360
13.1	Countering the Black Magic: Ginsberg's Vietnam Era Poetics	363
13.2	Ed Sanders, Fuck You Press, and Theatrical Activism	368
Coda		373
Notes		376
Bibliography		429
Index		453