Article 102 TFEU: Comparison with Article 101 TFEU, Economic Efficiency, the Criterion of the as Efficient Competitor; Realism, Utopia and Contradictions 223

An active and potentially sufficiently effective competitor even if he does not constitute an as efficient competitor, he also definitely deserves equally the protection of competition on the merits and therefore he should also be protected from the abusive practices of a dominant competitor. The specific position is mainly consistent with the special responsibility of the dominant undertaking not to allow its behavior to impair genuine, undistorted competition in the internal market.

AI Personalised Pricing: A Structural Blind Spot in the Draft Joint Guidelines on the Interplay Between the DMA and the GDPR 239

This article argues that the Draft DMA-GDPR Joint Guidelines are internally inconsistent in their approach to purpose-specific consent under Article 5(2) DMA. It shows that omitting pricing personalisation from the purpose framework exposes a structural weakness in consent-based regulation, creating scope for potentially exploitative conduct under Article 102(a) TFEU.
