

CONTENTS

|                                                                                                                                                                           |     |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| List of Illustrations                                                                                                                                                     | vii |
| Acknowledgments                                                                                                                                                           | ix  |
| List of Abbreviations                                                                                                                                                     | x   |
| Note on Place Names                                                                                                                                                       | xii |
| Introduction. Eighteenth- and Nineteenth-Century Coronations and Inaugurations in the Habsburg Monarchy: Why Do They Matter?Klaas Van Gelder                   | 1   |
| Chapter 1. The Care of Thrones: A Plethora of Investitures in the Habsburg Composite Monarchy and Beyond from the Sixteenth to the Eighteenth CenturyPetr Matá | 29  |
| Chapter 2. Meaningless Spectacles? Eighteenth-Century Imperial Coronations in the Holy Roman Empire ReconsideredHarriet Rudolph                                | 67  |
| Chapter 3. The Hungarian Coronations of Charles VI and Leopold II and the Representation of Political CompromiseFanni Hende                                    | 99  |
| Chapter 4. Maria Theresa, the Habsburgs, and the Hungarian Coronations in the Light of the Coronation Medals, 1687–1741Werner Telesko                          | 119 |
| Chapter 5. The Bohemian Coronation of Charles VI and Its Hidden MessagePetra Vokáčová                                                                          | 143 |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                         |     |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Chapter 6.  | Inaugurations in the Austrian Netherlands: Flexible Formats at the Interface between Constitution, Political Negotiation, and RepresentationKlaas Van Gelder | 168 |
| Chapter 7.  | Conditioning Sovereignty in the Austrian Netherlands: The Joyous Entry Charter and the Inauguration of Maria Theresa in BrabantThomas Cambrelin              | 198 |
| Chapter 8.  | Shaping a New Habsburg Territory: The 1773 Lemberg Act of Homage and the Galician Polish NobilityMiloš Řezník                                                | 223 |
| Chapter 9.  | Pageantry in the Revolutionary Age: Inaugural Rites in the Habsburg Monarchy, 1790–1848William D. Godsey                                                     | 247 |
| Chapter 10. | After 1848: The Heightened Constitutional Importance of the Habsburg Coronation in HungaryJudit Beke-Martos                                                  | 283 |
| Afterword.  | The Last Habsburg Coronation and What It Means to Be AnointedHelen Watanabe-O’Kelly                                                                          | 303 |
| Index       |                                                                                                                                                                         | 313 |