

CONTENTS

Foreword by Barry Keith Grant	vii
Preface by Richard Lippe: The Journey from Psycho to The American Nightmare ; or, Why Should We Take the Horror Film Seriously?	xi
Psychoanalysis of Psycho	3
In Memoriam: Michael Reeves	11
The Shadow Worlds of Jacques Tourneur	25
Disreputable Genre	41
The Creeping Flesh	43
Blood Brides	45
You'll Like My Mother	47
Death Line (Raw Meat)	49
The Most Horrible Horror Film Ever?	53
Return of the Repressed	57
Yet Another Terrible Child	63
Race with the Devil	67
An Introduction to the American Horror Film	73
Der Erlkönig: The Ambiguities of Horror	111
The Dark Mirror: Murnau's Nosferatu	119
Sisters	133
World of Gods and Monsters: The Films of Larry Cohen	141
Apocalypse Now: Notes on the Living Dead	161
The American Family Comedy: From Meet Me in St. Louis to The Texas Chainsaw Massacre	171
Neglected Nightmares	181

“Art” and Alligators	201
Burying the Undead: The Use and Obsolescence of Count Dracula	205
Returning the Look: Eyes of a Stranger	221
Cronenberg: A Dissenting View	231
King Meets Cronenberg	253
John Carpenter	259
Dead End	261
Cat and Dog: Lewis Teague’s Stephen King Movies	265
Notes for a Reading of I Walked with a Zombie	281
The Woman’s Nightmare: Masculinity in Day of the Dead	319
Larry Cohen Interview (Robin Wood and Richard Lippe)	331
Nosferatu	361
The Silence of the Lambs	365
Brian De Palma	369
George Romero	373
Fresh Meat: Diary of the Dead	377
Revenge Is Sweet: The Bitterness of Audition	385
What Lies Beneath?	399
Notes	407
Acknowledgments	415
Index	421