INTRODUCTION: THE CONTRIBUTION OF MONOPOLISTIC COMPETITION THEORIES TO THE ANALYSIS OF VALUE PHENOMENA	3
1. THE THEORY OF THE ECONOMIC UNIT AND THE THEORY OF EXTERNAL INTERDEPENDENCE	4
2. MONOPOLISTIC COMPETITION AND THE THEORY OF THE ECONOMIC UNIT	5
3. MONOPOLISTIC COMPETITION AND THE THEORY OF EXTERNAL INTERDEPENDENCE	6
4. PLAN OF THE BOOK	12
I. THE PRESENT STAGE OF MONOPOLISTIC COMPETITION THEORIES: Chamberlin, Robinson, Stackelberg, Pareto
1. PROFESSOR CHAMBERLIN'S THEORY OF MONOPOLISTIC COMPETITION	19
A. The General Conditions of Equilibrium, 19: 1. The Equilibrium of the Firm, 20; 2. The Equilibrium of the Industry, 21. B. Particularizing Assumptions and Diagrammatical Tools, 23. C. The Definition of Demand, 27: 1. The Small Group, 28; 2. The Large Group, 30; 3. The Tangency Solution under Large and Small Group Assumptions, 33.
2. MRS. ROBINSON'S ECONOMICS OF IMPERFECT COMPETITION	36
A. The Problem under Attack, 36. B. The General Approach, 42. C. Tools and Techniques, 43: 1. The Particularizing Assumptions, 43; 2. The Definition of Demand, 44; 3. The Diagrams, 46. D. The Conditions of Equilibrium, 47.
3. H. VON STACKELBERG'S "MARKTFORM UND GLEICHGEWICHT"	49
A. Pure Duopoly, 50. B. Pure Oligopoly, 51. C. Monopolistic Competition, 51.
4. MONOPOLISTIC COMPETITION IN PARETO	52
A. The Setting of the Problem, 54: 1. The Blending of Monopoly and Competition, 54; 2. The Differentiation of the Product, 55. B. Its Solution, 55: 1. Individual Equilibrium, 55; 2. Conditions External to the Firm, 56.

5. SUMMARY AND CONCLUSIONS	57
NOTE ON PARETO'S INCOMPLETE COMPETITION	58
A. Monopoly, 59. B. Free Competition, 60.
II. GENERAL EVALUATION AND CRITICISM OF MONOPOLISTIC COMPETITION THEORIES
1. SUBJECTIVE OR OBJECTIVE SALES AND COST CURVES?	62
2. THE TREATMENT OF THE INTERDEPENDENCE OF THE FIRMS	67
A. General or Particular Equilibrium? 67. B. Mrs. Robinson's Circular Solution, 68. C. The Gap in Pareto's System, 70. D. The Fanciful Solution of Stackelberg, 73: 1. Pure Oligopoly, 74; 2. Product Differentiation, 75. E. Chamberlin's Elimination of Oligopolistic Interdependence, 76.
3. THE CONCEPT OF A GROUP OR INDUSTRY	78
A. Under Pure Competition, 78. B. Under Monopolistic Competition, 81. C. Under General Equilibrium Methodology, 85.
4. THE RECASTING OF OUR BASIC CONCEPTS	90
A. From a Physical to an Economic Definition of Commodities, 90. B. Our Basic Definitions: Firms, Commodities, Factors, 93.
5. SUMMARY	95
III. THE THEORY OF EXTERNAL INTERDEPENDENCE
1. INTERDEPENDENCE IN SELLING	98
A. Provisional Simplifications, 98. B. Classification of Cases, 99.
2. INTERDEPENDENCE IN BUYING	108
A. The Analysis of the Cost Curve, 108: 1. The Technological Problem, 110; 2. The Economic Problem, 111. B. Cost Interdependence, 112.
3. INTERDEPENDENCE AND THE PROBLEM OF ENTRY	117
A. Sensitiveness to Entry, 117. B. Influence on Entry, 119. C. Oligopolistic Interdependence as to Entry, 121.
4. INTERDEPENDENCE BETWEEN BUYERS AND SELLERS: BILATERAL MONOPOLY	124
5. WHAT IS PURE MONOPOLY?	125
A. The Traditional Concept of Monopoly, 125. B. Recent Trends in Monopoly Theory, 126. C. A New Definition, 130.

6. WHAT IS PURE COMPETITION?	133
A. Recent Trends in the Theory of Competition, 133. B. A New Definition, 137.
7. SUMMARY	141
A NOTE ON TERMINOLOGY	142
IV. COMPETITION AND THE SHAPE OF THE COST CURVE	145
1. THE SHAPE OF THE COST CURVE	145
A. The Supply Curve of the Industry, 146. B. The Cost Curve of the Firm, 148: 1. Formal Inferences from Equilibrium Conditions, 148: 2. Interpretation of the U-Shape, 149.
2. MONOPOLISTIC COMPETITION AND THE SHAPE OF THE COST CURVE	153
3. PURE COMPETITION AND THE SHAPE OF THE COST CURVE	155
V. THE THEORY OF PROFIT	158
1. A DYNAMIC INCOME	158
A. Mrs. Robinson: The Theory of Normal Profits, 158. B. Pareto: The Monopoly Theory of Profit, 160. C. Chamberlin: The Entry Theory of Profit, 162. D. Schumpeter: The Dynamic Theory of Profit, 164. E. Profits and Heterogeneous Competition, 166: 1. The Remuneration of the Producer, 166; 2. Innovation, 168; 3. The Imputation of the Profits of Innovation: Paretian Rents, 172; 4. Entry and Rents, 173; 5. The Direction of Production, 177.
2. AN INSTITUTIONAL INCOME	179
A. The Entrepreneur-Owner, 181. B. The Propertyless Entrepreneur, 182. C. The Mixed Cases, 183. D. Control and Responsibility — The Modern Corporation, 184.
