

Contents

List of figures	xii
List of tables	xiv
List of boxes	xvii
Foreword	xix
Preface to the fifth edition	xxi
Acknowledgements	xxiv
List of abbreviations	xxv
1 The economic characteristics of the tourism sector	1
What is tourism?	1
The economic characteristics of tourism	10
What is a tourism destination?	21
Questions	22
2 Measuring tourism	24
Introduction	24
A tourism information system or destination management information system	25
Measurement of day visitors	26
The tourism satellite account	29
WTO tourism statistics	49
Tourism and/or holiday surveys	49
The tourism production index – WES	53
The Swiss tourism barometer	54
Questions	56
Gross Value Added (GVA)	59
Gross Domestic Product (GDP)	59
Gross National Product (GNP)	59
Difference between GDP and GNP: net factor incomes received from abroad	59
Disposable income	60
Tourism (Direct) Gross Value Added (TGVA)	60
Tourism Gross Domestic Product (TGDP)	60

3	Tourism demand	61
	Determinants of tourism demand	61
	Determinant factors of tourist expenses	71
	Trends in tourism demand	73
	Monitoring source markets for destinations	85
	Tourism demand worldwide	85
	Holiday participation and holiday frequency	91
	Seasonality	92
	Questions	99
4	Overtourism	106
	'Overtourism': What does it mean?	106
	The causes of 'overtourism'	107
	Cities do not have the monopoly on overtourism	112
	Indicators of overtourism	118
	Overtourism and local resistance	119
	Strategies and measures	120
	The role of DMO's and overtourism	123
	Concluding remarks	124
	Questions	124
5	Tourism's vulnerability: Terrorism and pandemics	128
	Introduction	128
	Tourism demand and terrorism	129
	Measurement of terrorism impact	130
	Security threats are more than terrorism	133
	Tourism demand and pandemics	134
	The German tourism market and COVID-19	137
	COVID-19 impacts of inbound tourism on the Australian economy	138
	Government support to the tourism sector	140
	Recovery: business as usual?	142
	Questions	144
6	Tourism supply	146
	Tourism supply in the tourism system	146
	Tourism supply, the tourist product and its life cycle	150
	Tourism product development	152
	Tourism supply and market structures	155
	Supply trends	161
	Artificial Intelligence (AI) and the tourism industry	176
	Questions	189
7	Pricing and taxation	194
	Pricing in tourism	194
	Determinants of tourism prices	195

Pricing objectives	196
Pricing approaches	196
The Hubbart formula for determining room rates	199
Break-even analysis	200
Yield management	201
Peak-load pricing	205
Pricing and elasticity of demand	206
Tourism and taxation	206
A tourism tax: Why?	207
Who pays the tourism tax bill: the tourist or the producer?	208
Tax receipts not always what is expected	213
Questions	214
8 Competition and the tourism destination	217
Introduction	218
The competitive forces of M. Porter	220
Porter's generic competitive strategies	223
The determinants of competitive advantage in tourism	225
The Poon concept	230
The WES approach	233
The price-competitiveness approach	234
The Bordas model	236
The Ritchie and Crouch conceptual model of destination competitiveness	238
The Dwyer-Kim model	245
Synthesis of the models	247
Ten key factors for a competitive destination	248
The Travel and Tourism Competitiveness Index (TTCI)	253
Travel and Tourism Development Index (TTDI) the successor to the TTCI	257
The partial model of destination competitiveness of Modul University	260
Questions	262
9 Forecasting tourism demand	267
Introduction	267
Concepts of demand measurement	268
Qualitative methods	270
Traditional approaches	270
The Delphi model	270
Judgement-aided models	273
Quantitative methods	276
Univariate time-series methods	277
Regression analysis or causal methods	280
Test for significance	282
A generic demand model	284

Gravity and trip-generation models	285
Case studies based on regression analysis	287
Final remarks	300
Questions	301
10 Tourism as a development strategy	305
Introduction	305
Tourism and the value chain	306
Possible options for a good strategy for regional development	309
Sustainable tourism	310
Tourism as a strategic option for regional development	311
Basic and non-basic activities	311
Comparative advantages of tourism	312
Other benefits of the tourism sector	314
Economic disadvantages	314
Incidental costs of tourism	316
Can tourism be a strategic vehicle in developed and less developed countries?	318
Critical remarks	319
Questions	320
11 Tourism export-led growth	323
Introduction	323
Methodologies for measuring tourism's contribution to economic growth	325
Case studies of tourism export-led growth	327
Tourism and poverty reduction	341
Income inequality from the personal income point of view	343
Income inequality from the regional point of view	348
Conclusion	349
Questions	350
12 The economic impact of tourism	355
Introduction	355
Balance of payments and tourism	356
The structure of the balance of payments	357
The real tourism external account	359
The tempting tourism multiplier	361
The multiplier and input-output analysis	368
Measurement of income generation	372
Measurement of employment generation	376
Special characteristics of employment	380
The impact of events: special features	381

Computable general equilibrium models	383
Use of CGE modelling in tourism	388
Questions	400
13 Micro-evaluation of projects in the tourism and hospitality industry	406
Introduction	406
The nature of a tourism investment appraisal	407
The discounting methods	409
The necessity for a feasibility study	414
Questions	417
14 Macro-evaluation of projects in the tourism and hospitality industry	418
Foundations of CBA	418
Externalities in tourism	419
Identification of cost and benefit items	423
Quantification of cost and benefit items	425
Valuation of cost and benefit items	426
Willingness to pay and consumer surplus	427
Calculation of NPV and/or IRR	435
Three case studies of CBA in tourism	438
Final remarks	446
Questions	447
15 Tourism and sustainable development	450
Definitions	450
Measuring the Sustainability of Tourism (MST)	452
Sustainable tourism as a development tool	454
Key issues for sustainable tourism	456
Which sustainability model?	458
Impact of tourism on climate change	460
Impact climate change on tourism	468
Impact of tourism on the environment	477
Socio-cultural impacts of tourism	479
Conclusion	480
Questions	481
Index	487