

Contents

|                                                                                                          |     |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| List of Illustrations                                                                             | ix  |
| Preface                                                                                           | xi  |
| Introduction: The Neoglobalism of the American and Russian Far-Right Intelligentsia                      | 3   |
| 1 A Place at the High Table: Mythologizing the Russian Intelligentsia, Crusading against US Elites       | 32  |
| 2 Whither the State? Steve Bannon, the Alt-Right, and Lenin's State and Revolution                | 72  |
| 3 Hijacking Academic Authority: Racism and the Internet Expertise of Kevin MacDonald and Alexander Dugin | 110 |
| 4 The Spectacle of God's Will: Performing Homophobia in the Russian Federation                           | 135 |
| 5 Statuary Performances: Monuments and Neopaganism in the United States and the Russian Federation       | 164 |
| Conclusion: The Fight against Rightist Elites                                                            | 197 |
| Acknowledgments                                                                                   | 217 |
| Notes                                                                                             | 219 |
| Works Cited                                                                                       | 239 |
| Index                                                                                             | 261 |