

Contents

1	Historiography and Evolutionary Biology	1
1.1	Theses	6
1.2	The Model of Two Closures	6
1.3	Basics to Be Taken by the Reader	13
	References	14
2	Charade from One Pocket	15
2.1	Karel Čapek: The Fall of the House of Voticky	16
2.2	Interpretation	22
2.3	Continuity and Narrative Interpretation	26
	References	30
3	About Things and Objects	31
3.1	Things and Objects	32
3.2	Signs and Relations	35
3.3	Organic Codes and Disputes About Interpretation	39
3.4	Troubles with the Representation	42
3.5	Semiotics and Historical Sciences	43
3.5.1	Arbitrariness	45
	References	47
4	Memory and Explosion	49
4.1	Where Memory Ends, History Begins	52
4.2	Interpretation of the World	53
4.3	Writing, Speech, and Distributed Language	55
4.4	Text and Reading	57
4.5	Darwin and Science	61
4.6	Transformations	62
4.7	Alphabet and Pictograms	63
	References	68

5	The Disenchantment of the World	71
5.1	Finding Unity in Diversity	72
5.2	“Event” Theory: “Big History” and “Big Events”	74
5.3	“Illumination of the Spirit” and Overcoming of “Original Participation”	76
5.4	The Lord’s Supper in the Reformation Faith	78
5.5	Plasticity and Elasticity in the Ontic or in the Noetic Sense?	83
5.6	Weber and Barfield’s “After”	85
	References	88
6	Non-contemporary Contemporaneity	91
6.1	Contemporary, Non-contemporary, Narrated	92
6.2	Historism and the Historicization of Ethics	95
6.3	Cultural Integrity of an Epoch: An Example of the Period Around 1900	97
6.4	Quasi-Character	104
6.5	Plasticity and Elasticity in the Development of Culture	108
6.6	Can Cultural Evolution Somatize?	110
6.6.1	The Grandmother Hypothesis	111
6.6.2	Color Vision	112
6.6.3	Somatization	113
	References	120
7	General in History, or Slavery in Bohemia?	125
7.1	Traces and Conjectures	126
7.2	Discussing General and Comparative History	127
7.3	Analogous Phenomena in Multiple Lines of Historical Development	130
7.4	Restructuring of the Ancient Past and the Self-consciousness of Modern Society	134
7.5	Slavery in the Czech Early Middle Ages	138
7.6	The “State” as a “Wise Organizer”?	142
7.7	Back to “General History”?	147
	References	148
8	Invariable Yet Changing	151
8.1	How the Molecules Do It?	153
8.2	Genetic Script	154
8.3	Underdetermination	155
8.4	The Scientific Character of Evolutionary Biology	159
8.5	Present	163
8.6	Evolution of Bacteria in Solitary Confinement	164
	References	167

9	Not by Genes Alone	169
9.1	Inheritance of Cell Structures	171
9.2	Genetic Assimilation	171
9.3	Signatures of “Humanization”	173
9.3.1	The Hunt for the Genes of the Soul	174
9.3.2	Why Couldn’t It Have Gone Faster?	180
9.4	Adaptive Radiation	180
9.5	Plasticity, Canalization and Reaction Norm	188
9.5.1	The Charade with a Script as an Entry	188
	References.....	191
10	Of Seeds and Forms	193
10.1	Seeds and Forms	194
10.2	Interplay of Seeds and Forms	198
10.3	Communicative and Collective	200
10.4	Closure 1 (Cell)	202
10.4.1	The Fate of One Class of RNA	208
10.4.2	The Cell as a Reader	208
10.4.3	Differentiation	209
10.5	Closure 2 (Cell Community)	210
10.5.1	Cohabitation.....	211
10.6	Evodevo	219
10.7	Inheritance of Acquired Characteristics.....	220
	References.....	220
11	Analogies	223
11.1	Innerness	224
11.2	Plasticity, Elasticity, Hypolepsis	226
11.3	Doubts	230
	References.....	235
	Epilogue	237
	Summary.....	239
	Glossary	241
	Author Index.....	251
	Subject Index	255