

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments ix

Introduction 1

- 1 Shaping the Global Promise: Entangled Globalizations, Non-Alignment, and Socialist Corporate Culture 19
- 2 The Cracks in the Promise of Global Socialism: Debt and Restructuring in the Time of Reform 46
- 3 Delivering Change? Remaking the World of Work in the Early Privatization Reforms (1988–1990) 61
- 4 Our World Came Tumbling Down: The Workplace at War 75
- 5 Layers of Deservingness: Ownership and Employment after the War 107
- 6 Expecting the Global: New Horizons of Development and the Fate of (Post)Socialist Corporations 129

7 Bound by Promises: Narratives and Experiences of the Workplace Across Reforms 147

Conclusions 169

Notes 175

Bibliography 215

Index 237