

CONTENTS

Foreword	I
Introduction	13
1. Screams, Screens, Flatlines: Cybernetics, Postmodernism, and the Gothic	25
How an Android Must Feel — Cybernetics, Postmodernism, Fiction — Flatlines — Constructs — Second Naturalism
2. Body Image Fading Down Corridors of Television Sky: The Media Landscape and the Schizophrenic Implosion of Subjectivity	77
The Body without Image — The Body without Organs and Intensive Quantities — Intensive Voyages and Cyberspace — The Mediatized Body — Jumping Out of Our Skin — From Narcissism to Schizophrenia — Stimulating the Gothic Body: Videodrome — Tactile Power — The Atrocity Exhibition — Atroci-TV — Catastrophe Management — Beyond the Pleasures of the Organs
3. Xerox and Xenogenesis: Mechanical Reproduction and Gothic Propagation	139
Let Me Tell You About My Mother — The Simulacrum's Revenge — Samuel Butler and Surplus Value of Code — Nuptials Against Nature: Sorcery and Propagation — The Wasp Factory: Neuromancer — Capitalism and Isophrenia: Ashpool — Wintermutation: Neuromancer as Sorcerous Narrative

4. Black Mirror: Hypernaturalism, Hyperreality, and Hyperfiction

188

Never Mind Metaphor — Borges Doesn't Make It into Cyberspace — Hyperreality and Postmodernist Fiction — Social Science/Social Science Fiction (How the True World Became a Simulation) — The Decline of the Shadow (or, the End of the Marvellous) — Mechanism and Animism (or, Gremlins in the Hyperreal) — Capitalism as Toy Story: Hyperfiction, Strange Loops, and Rhizomes — A Closing Parable: Hyperfiction and In the Mouth of Madness