Table of contents

Abbreviations of Kierkegaard's Writings 10

Acknowledgments 13

Introduction 14

Chapter 1 24

1. Kierkegaard's Aesthetics in a Nutshell 26

2. The Delights of Existential Aestheticism 30

3. The Plight of Existential Aestheticism 36

a. Emotional instability, inward fragmentation 36

b. Emptiness and boredom 37

c. Melancholia 38

e. Suicidality 41

4. The Narcissistic Core of Erotic Aestheticism 44

a. The irresistible genius 44

b. The voyeuristic stalker 46

c. The malignant, manipulative, and heterophobe narcissist 47

1. Delusional, Exhibitionistic Arrogance 48

2. Self-Centered Eroticism 50

3. Machiavellian deceitfulness 54

4. Control, manipulation, exploitation 56

5. Psychopathic malignancy: alienation, commodification, mistreatment of the other 61

5. The Case Against Aesthetic Absolutism. Lessons For The Present 69

Chapter 2 73

1. An impressive ethical record, indeed 76

2. The ethical self-choice. A brief outline 81

(a) The concrete component 82

(b) The "shadowy" side of self-choice 83

(c) The eternal component 84

(d) The socio-historical component 84

(e) Historical trauma and God 86

(f) The ethical meaning of repentance 89

(g) The normative side of ethics 90

3. Lessons and warnings 94

(a) Lesson 01: The spacious scope of ethics 94

(b) Lesson 02: The centrality of volition 95

(c) Lesson 03: The fourfold justification of ethical self-choice 96

(d) Lesson 04: A marital ethic of love 98

(e) Lesson 05: The indispensability of religion 99

(f) Lesson 06: A plea for historical honesty 100

(g) Lesson 07: Ethics, a dependable source of cheerfulness 101

Chapter 3 104

Introduction 104

1. The dual backdrop 108

2. Individuality first 112

3. Christian soteriology vs. utopian transhumanism 114

4. Against concupiscent desire 118

5. Christian resistance against hegemonic worldliness 121

6. Soteriological dualism or not? 127

A. The postulate of sin 128

B. Soteriological discord and paradoxical reconciliation 129

C. Dualistic or not? 131

D. Additional relevant insights 132

Chapter 4 136

Introduction 136

1. Modern Politics and Its Anti-Religious Potential 138

(a) Foundational individualism 138

(b) The political per se 140

(c) The state. With or without? 144

(d) Concluding suggestions: For a strictly delimited politics 146

2. Education and Its Latest Discontents 151

(a) Disciplinary marginalization 153

(b) Inner fragmentation 158

(c) Politicization and Ideological Polarization 162

(d) The administrative overreach 166

Conclusions 171

Back to "the single individual" 173

Outer negativity as inner discipline 175

Kierkegaard, the timeless Socratic corrective 175

Bibliography 178