Contents

1 Cancer registration in Europe: Coordination and role in cancer control
C.S. Muir, J. Powell, J. Nectoux, S. Whelan, and A. Malhotra

37 The occurrence of cancer in Saarland (FRG) and in the south-eastern part of the Netherlands (SOOZ-area) is very similar: A comparative description and its relevance for cancer control in Belgium
J.W.W. Coebergh, M.A. Crommelin, M.Th. Verhagen-Teulings, and D. Bakker

49 Mechanisms and implications, initiation and promotion: mechanisms of action and implication for risk estimation
M. Kirsch-Volders, A. Deleener, and Ph. Castelein

59 Evidence indicating that carcinogenesis has a genetic basis
N. Van Larebeke

71 Chemoprevention of cancer
H. Wrba

79 Comprehensive program to combat the smoking epidemic
K. Bjartveit

93 Smokeless tobacco and cancer
C.S. Muir, and D. Zaridze

105 Smoking in Belgium: Attitudes and behavior
L. Joossens

113 Occupational exposures and primary prevention of cancer
H. Vainio

129 Occupational risk from radiation
I. Schmitz-Feuerhake

141 Occupational cancer: Interaction of factors
O. Axelson

149 Occupational cancer in Belgium: Medico-legal aspects
D. Lahaye, and M. van Sprundel

159 Primary prevention of diet related cancers
T. Hirayama

177 Diet and cancer: Are there conflicting nutritional recommendations with other diseases?
G. Verdonk

185 Cancer mortality following widow(er) hood in the office of population censuses and surveys longitudinal study
D.R. Jones

199 The Heidelberg prospective intervention study
R. Grossarth-Maticek, H.J. Eysenck, H. Vetter, and R. Frentzel-Beyme

213 Socio-economic factors and the primary prevention of cancer
D.A. Leon

229 Environmental carcinogens in Belgium and their control
D.J. Rondia

237 Environmental epidemiology
O. Axelson

247 Monitoring of carcinogens in industrial areas
F. Veroustraete, R. Defre, H. Peperstraete, and G. Verduyn

257 Co-mutagenic effect of biliary acids towards direct and indirect acting genotoxic chemicals: correlation with human study
M. Wilpart, and M. Roberfroid

267 Chronic disease and cancer
P. Prior

275 Chronobiological factors and breast cancer risk
D.W. Wilson, G.F. Read, H.W. Simpson, R.I. Nicholson, and K. Griffiths

277 The cancer registry as a tool for epidemiology: Some Danish examples
O. Møller-Jensen

285 The Rotterdam cancer registry: Aims, philosophy and implemetation
M.W.M. Oostenbrug

297 Bottle-necks of Belgian cancer registration
M. Haelterman

305 Smoking and cancer: Legislation and political activity
K. Bjartveit

313 Preventive strategies for occupational cancer in Finland
J. Rantanen

337 Occupational cancer in Belgium: Epidemiology and prevention
M. van Sprundel, and D. Lahaye

343 Ionizing radiation control
I. Schmitz-Feuerhake

347 Implementation and health education: Evaluation of educational programs
J. Berry

355 Stockholm cancer prevention program
L.E. Holm, C.G. Eriksson, B.J.A. Haglund, L. Kanström, G. Lindeberg, L. Linnergren-Fleck, P. Tillgren, and E. Wirfält

363 Subject Index