Contents

Introduction to the Second Edition page xi
Preface xii
Table of cases xv
Table of treaties xvii
List of abbreviations xxiii

1. The general framework 1
   - I. Preliminary definitions 1
     - A. Hostilities 1
     - B. Attacks 2
   - II. The major premises 2
     - A. Limitation of means and methods of warfare 2
     - B. Equality of the Belligerent Parties 3
   - III. The driving forces 4
     - A. Military necessity and humanitarian considerations 4
     - B. Military necessity as a legal justification 6
   - IV. The cardinal principles 8
     - A. Distinction and unnecessary suffering 8
     - B. The Martens Clause 8
     - C. Neutrality 9
   - V. The strata of the law 10
     - A. Customary international law 10
     - B. Treaty law 11
     - C. The principal treaties 14
   - VI. The semantics 18
   - VII. Humanitarian law and human rights 19
     - A. Human rights and State rights 19
     - B. Derogations 21
     - C. Lex specialis and symbiotic coexistence 23
   - VIII. Inter-State armed conflicts 26
     - A. Inter-State and intra-State armed conflicts 26
     - B. Formalities and recognition 28
     - C. The United Nations 29
     - D. Rules of Engagement 30
   - IX. Dissemination, training and legal advisers 30

Knihovna
Právnické fakulty UP
v Olomouci

2. Lawful combatancy 33
I. Lawful and unlawful combatants 33
II. The consequences of unlawful combatancy 35
III. Entitlement to prisoners of war status under customary international law 39
A. The Hague and Geneva provisions and their scope of application 39
B. The seven Hague and Geneva conditions 43
C. The impact and extent of the conditions 47
(a) Guerrilla warfare 47
(b) Levée en masse 48
(c) Certain civilians 49
(d) Armed groups and individuals 49
(e) Doubt 50
IV. The legal position under Additional Protocol I 51
V. A case study: the war in Afghanistan 55
VI. Mercenaries 57
VII. Armed merchant vessels 60

3. Prohibited weapons 62
I. The principle of distinction 62
II. The principle prohibiting unnecessary suffering 63
III. Explicit prohibitions or restrictions of certain weapons 67
A. Conventional weapons 68
(a) Poison 68
(b) Certain projectiles 69
(c) Non-detectable fragments 70
(d) Booby-traps 70
(e) Landmines 72
(f) Naval mines 75
(g) Torpedoes 76
(h) Incendiaries 77
(i) Blinding laser weapons 79
(j) Cluster munitions 79
B. Weapons of mass destruction 80
(a) Chemical weapons 80
(b) Biological weapons 82
IV. The status of nuclear weapons 83
V. Development of new weapons 86

4. Lawful targets of attack 89
I. Military objectives and combatants 89
A. The basic rule 89
B. Military objectives 89
C. Combatants 92
II. The meaning of a definite military advantage 92
III. 'War-sustaining' versus 'war-fighting' 95
IV. The definition by nature, use, purpose and location 96
A. The nature of the objective 96
B. The use of the objective 97
C. The purpose of the objective 99

D. The location of the objective 100
E. Bridges 101
F. Military objectives exempt from attack 102
V. Problems relating to the spectrum of lawful targets of attack 102
VI. Defended and undefended localities in land warfare 108
VII. Special issues of sea warfare 111
A. Areas of naval warfare 111
B. Enemy warships 111
C. Enemy merchant vessels 112
D. Neutral merchant vessels 112
E. Destruction of enemy merchant vessels after capture 113
F. Bombardment of coastal areas 114
VIII. Special issues of air warfare 115
A. Military aircraft 115
B. Civilian aircraft 116
C. 'Strategic' bombing 117
D. 'Target area' bombing 118

5. Protection from attack of civilians and civilian objects 121
I. Protection from attack 121
A. Civilians and civilian objects 121
B. Direct attacks against civilians or civilian objects 124
C. Indiscriminate attacks 126
D. The principle of proportionality 128
(a) Proportionality as an indispensable requirement 128
(b) 'Excessive' collateral damage 130
(c) Calculating military advantage 133
E. Lawful collateral damage 135
F. Active precautions in attack 138
(a) The concept 138
(b) The feasibility of precautions 138
(c) The information available 139
(d) Targeting 140
(e) Force protection 141
(f) Precision-guided munitions 142
(g) The timing of an attack 143
(h) Warnings 144
G. Passive precautions 145
II. Loss of civilian protection 146
A. General 146
B. Direct participation in hostilities 146
(a) The concept 146
(b) The time factor 147
(c) Concrete activities 149
C. 'Human shields' 152
(a) The prohibition 152
(b) The different categories 153
(c) The consequences 153

6. Measures of special protection from attack 156
I. Persons entitled to special protection 156
A. The different categories of beneficiaries 156
(a) Women 156
(b) Children 157
(c) Hors de combat 159
(d) Parachutists from aircraft in distress 162
(e) Parlementaires 163
(f) Medical personnel 163
(g) Religious personnel 165
(h) Civil defence personnel 166
(i) Relief personnel 166
(j) Journalists 166
B. Loss of special protection 168
II. Cultural property and places of worship 170
A. Introduction 170
B. The legal position prior to 1954 171
(a) Land warfare 171
(b) Sea warfare 171
(c) Air warfare (1923) 172
(d) The Roerich Pact 173
C. The Cultural Property Convention of 1954 174
(a) The definition 174
(b) The general protection 175
(c) Special protection 176
D. Additional Protocol I 178
(a) The protection afforded 178
(b) The two levels of protection 180
E. Other texts 182
(a) The war crimes provisions 182
(b) The Second Protocol to the Cultural Property Convention 183
III. Medical units 185
A. Medical units on land 185
B. Hospital ships 187
C. Medical aircraft 189
D. Loss of protection of medical units 191
IV. Works and installations containing dangerous forces 193

7. Protection of the environment 197
I. Customary international law 197
II. The treaty law 198
A. The ENMOD Convention 198
B. Additional Protocol I 202
C. Supplementary texts 206
(a) The Rome Statute 206
(b) Protocol III to the Convention on Conventional Weapons 207
(c) The Chemical Weapons Convention 208
III. The dissimilarities between the ENMOD Convention and Additional Protocol I 209

IV. A case study: setting fire to oil wells in the Gulf War 212
V. The need for law reform 216

8. Specific methods of warfare 218
I. Starvation of civilians 218
A. General 218
B. Siege warfare 220
II. Blockade 223
III. Humanitarian assistance 225
IV. Exclusion zones 227
A. Maritime exclusion zones 227
B. Air exclusion and no-fly zones 229
V. Perfidy 229
A. Treachery 229
B. Unlawful perfidious acts 231
VI. Improper use of emblems, flags and uniforms 234
A. The Hague Regulations 234
B. Additional Protocol I 235
C. The Rome Statute 239
VII. Ruses of war 239
VIII. Espionage 241
A. The definition of espionage 241
B. The penal prosecution of spies 242
IX. Seizure and destruction of enemy property 245
A. Pillage 246
B. Booty of war 247
C. Prize 248
D. Contraband 250
E. Other instances of destruction and seizure of enemy property 252
X. Belligerent reprisals 253
A. The concept 253
B. Prohibitions of specific belligerent reprisals 257
XI. The taking of hostages 261

9. War crimes, orders, command responsibility and defences 263
I. The definition of war crimes 263
II. The distinction between war criminals and unlawful combatants 266
III. Issuance of orders 270
IV. Command responsibility 271
A. Dereliction of duty 271
B. Prevention or punishment 272
C. The core issue of knowledge 273
D. The more recent texts 275
E. Effective control 277
F. Civilian superiors 278
IV. Lack of mens rea 279
V. Admissible defences 280
A. Mistake of fact 280

B. Mistake of law 281
C. Duress 282
(a) The concept 282
(b) Duress and murder 283
D. Insanity 284
E. Intoxication 285
F. Lawful defence of oneself and others 286
VI. Inadmissible defence pleas 287
A. Obedience to domestic law 287
B. Obedience to superior orders 288
C. Official position and immunities 289
(a) Official capacity 289
(b) Immunities 290
VII. Mitigation of punishment 292

General conclusions 295

Index of persons 299
Index of subjects 305