

CONTENTS

Introduction to the English Edition	11
1. Introduction	31
2. The International System and Its Current Form	53
2.1. The International System and Its Actors	53
2.2. The Current Global System and Its Nature	59
3. Violence – Its Nature and Use in International Relations	64
3.1. Violence and Its Manifestations in Relations between Human Communities	64
3.2. Physical Violence, the State and War	76
3.3. Peaceful Coexistence versus War	81
3.4. Violence and War in Today's International System	83
3.5. The Formal Legal Regulation of War	87
3.6. Neutral States in Contemporary International Law	92
4. War as Social and Economic Phenomenon	94
4.1. Economic Importance of War	94
4.2. War and Democracy	102
4.3. Total War in Nuclear Age	110
4.4. The Role of United Nations and the Rise of US Power	122
5. Possibility of Peaceful Coexistence	129
5.1. Definition of Peace	129
5.2. Peace Movement and Its Beginnings	132
5.3. Organizational Platform of Peace Movement in the 20 th century ..	137
5.4. The Soviet Union and Communist Ideology	145
5.5. Collective Security and Collective Defense	151
5.6. Importance of European Integration	155
6. Idea of Legal Regulation of Warfare	160
6.1. Historical Limitations of Wartime Activities	160
6.2. The Nature and Grounds of Legal Regulation of Warfare	163
6.3. Possibilities of Real Application of Legal Regulation of Warfare ..	169
7. Legally Justified Wars and Just Causes and Objectives of Warfare ..	178
7.1. Legal and Moral Classification of Wars	178
7.2. Justified Causes and Objectives of Wars under International Law ..	179

7.3. Objectives of Wars from Moral Perspective	188
7.4. Moral Classification of Wars	193
8. Just and Legally Justified War from Ethical and Legal Perspective	199
8.1. Criteria of Just and Legally Justified War	199
8.2. Non-permissible Use of Force	203
9. Some Issues of Humanitarian Intervention	205
9.1. Humanitarian Intervention	205
9.2. The Law versus Morality Dilemma	209
9.3. Humanitarian Intervention in History	214
9.4. Renewed Discussion of Humanitarian Intervention	217
9.5. Forms of Possible Humanitarian Intervention	227
9.6. Universal, Global Humanitarian Intervention	240
9.7. Introducing Humanitarian Intervention in the Regional or Particular System	243
9.8. Selective Humanitarian Intervention	244
9.9. The Consequences of Introducing Humanitarian Intervention in International Law	245
10. Disarmament and Arms Control	249
11. International Terrorism and International Law	255
12. The Phenomenon of Violence in International Relations at the Threshold of the 21st Century	268
12.1. The United States as a Semi-hegemonic Power in International Relations	268
12.2. The Future of International Law	271
12.3. Defending a Small State	275
12.4. Today and Beyond	280
13. Conclusion	298
14. Works Cited	305