CONTENTS

List of Figures and Tables viii
Preface ix
Acknowledgements xiii

Part 1 Introduction 1

1 Understanding our Context 3
The Importance of Discourse 3
Theories for Practice 6
Discourses and Theories for Practice: What's the Difference? 8
Why Context Matters 9
Conclusion 11

2 A Dynamic Model of Practice 12
Practice Diversity and the Construction of Purpose 12
Constructing Social Work Purpose: A Dynamic Approach 15
A Dynamic Approach to Theory Use 20
Creating and Using Theory in Practice: Debates about Evidence and Reflection 24
Approaching Theory Reflexively: Creating Theory in Practice 29
Conclusion 30

Part 2 Discourses Shaping Practice Contexts 33

3 Dominant Discourses in Health and Welfare: Medicine, Law, Economics and New Public Management 35
The Biomedical Discourse 36
Legal Discourse 43
Discourses of Neoclassical Economics and New Public Management (NPM) 48
Conclusion 59

4 Behavioural and Social Science Discourses: 'Psy' and Sociological Ideas in Social Work 62
Social Work and the 'Psy' Disciplines 64
Sociological Discourses 74
Conclusion 82

5 Alternative Discourses: Citizen Rights, Religion and Spirituality, and Environmental Social Work 85
Citizen Rights Discourse 88
Religious and Spiritual Discourses 98
Environmental Social Work 106
Conclusion 108

Part 3 Social Work Theories for Practice 111

6 Three Waves of Systems Theories 115
Systems Theories in Context 116
The First Wave: General Systems Theory 117
The Second Wave: Ecosystems Perspectives 121
The Third Wave: Complex Systems Theories 127
Strengths and Limitations of Systems Theories in Social Work 132
Conclusion 135

7 Problem-solving Approaches: Focusing on Task-centred Practice 137
Problem-solving Practice in Context 137
Task-centred Practice: A Brief History 140
Key Principles of Task-centred Practice 142
Task-centred Practice: Putting the Model into Practice 144
Comparing Task-centred and Crisis Intervention 152
Links to Motivational Interviewing 154
Strengths, Weaknesses and Issues in Problem-solving Approaches 156
Conclusion 159

8 Strengths and Solution-focused Theories: Future-oriented Approaches 161
Strengths and Solution-focused Approaches as Social Work Practices 161
Origins of the Strengths Perspective 165
Knowledge Foundations of the Strengths Perspective 166
Practice Assumptions and Principles 168
Solution-focused Brief Therapy (SFBT) 173
The Strengths Perspective in Community Development: An Assets Approach 176
Strengths of the Strengths Perspective and SFBT 177
Weaknesses and Concerns about the Strengths Perspective and SFBT 178
Conclusion 181

9 Modern Critical Social Work: From Radical to Anti-oppressive Practice 183
The Foundations of Modern Critical Social Work 185
The Early History of Critical Social Work 186

The Birth of Radical Social Work 187
The Diversification of Critical Practice Models 188
Critical Social Work Today 190
Anti-oppressive Practice 192
Anti-oppressive Practice: Some Critical Reflections 201
Conclusion 204

10 Postmodern Approaches to Practice 206
Differences among 'Post' Theories 208
'Post' Theories and Social Work Practices 209
Key Concepts 211
Narrative Therapy: A Postmodern Practice Approach 217
Uses and Limitations of 'Post' Theories for Social Work Practices 221
Conclusion 224

11 Creating Frameworks for Practice 227
Frameworks for Practice 227
Formalizing Practitioner Contribution to Knowledge 230
Conclusion 232

Bibliography 233

Index 251