

Contents

Table of cases	xx
Table of statutes of the international courts	xxxi
Table of treaties and conventions	xxxiii
Table of other documents	xlii

---

Chapter 1 International law in the modern context 1

1.1 A brief history of international law: a distinction between the 'origin' and 'documentation' of international law	2
1.2 The meaning and concept of international law	5
1.3 The nature of international law: theories	11
1.4 The relationship of theories of law with international law	14
1.5 The basis of international law: consent	15
1.6 The functions of international law	18
1.7 What next in international law?	20

Conclusion 21

Questions 22

Key case 23

Further reading 23

---

Chapter 2 Sources of international law 25

2.1 What does the phrase 'sources of law' mean?	26
2.2 'Formal', 'material', and 'functional' sources of law	26
2.3 What are the sources of international law?	27
2.4 Treaties	28
2.5 Customs	33
2.6 General principles of law	49
2.7 Judicial decisions	55
2.8 The writings of publicists	55
2.9 The relationship between sources of international law	56
2.10 Are there other sources of international law?	62

Conclusion 64

Questions 65

Key cases 66

Further reading 66

Chapter 3 The law of treaties	67
3.1 General issues: the definition, scope, and nature of treaties	68
3.2 The scope of the Vienna Convention on the Law of Treaties	69
3.3 The nature of treaties	71
3.4 Procedural obligations of treaties	89
3.5 The reservation of treaties	89
3.6 The interpretation of treaties	100
3.7 Invalid treaties	105
3.8 The termination and suspension of treaties	106
Conclusion	109
Questions	110
Key cases	111
Further reading	111
Chapter 4 Statehood and recognition in international law	112
4.1 Legal personality of States	113
4.2 The status of international legal persons	114
4.3 States as a subject of international law	116
4.4 Lesser States and special territories	127
4.5 International organizations	130
4.6 Individuals	130
4.7 The recognition of States and governments	133
Conclusion	153
Questions	153
Key cases	154
Further reading	155
Chapter 5 International organizations	156
5.1 Origins: from the Congress of Vienna to the League of Nations	157
5.2 Definitions	159
5.3 Classification: international (governmental) organizations, international (non-governmental) organizations, and international public corporations	160
5.4 Features of international organizations	162
5.5 The operation of legal personality	167
5.6 Privileges and immunity	189
Conclusion	198
Questions	199
Key cases	200
Further reading	200
Chapter 6 Territory and the law of the sea	201
6.1 The modes of acquiring territory	202
6.2 Occupation and prescription	202
6.3 Cession and accretion	214

6.4	The law of the sea	215
6.5	The codification of the law of the sea: 1930	217
6.6	The 1958 and 1960 UN Conference on the Law of the Sea (UNCLOS I and II)	218
6.7	The 1982 UN Convention on the Law of the Sea (UNCLOS III)	221
	Conclusion	234
	Questions	234
	Key cases	235
	Further reading	236
<hr/>
	Chapter 7 Jurisdiction	237
7.1	The meaning and nature of jurisdiction	238
7.2	The territoriality principle	240
7.3	The 'effect' doctrine	245
7.4	The nationality principle	248
7.5	The protective principle	250
7.6	The universality principle	251
7.7	The passive personality principle	256
7.8	Problems of illegal enforcement jurisdiction	260
	Conclusion	264
	Questions	264
	Key cases	265
	Further reading	266
<hr/>
	Chapter 8 Immunity	267
8.1	The nature of immunity	268
8.2	The rationale behind immunity	269
8.3	State immunity	273
8.4	Distinguishing between absolute and restrictive immunity	277
8.5	International crimes and State immunity	284
8.6	Individual immunity	285
8.7	Immunities before international tribunals and courts	294
8.8	Diplomatic and consular immunities	296
8.9	Diplomatic missions	300
	Conclusion	300
	Questions	300
	Key cases	301
	Further reading	302
<hr/>
	Chapter 9 International law and municipal law	303
9.1	International and municipal law: what relationship?	304
9.2	Municipal law issues under international law	306
9.3	International legal issues before municipal legal systems	314
9.4	The transformation of treaties into municipal law	324
	Conclusion	330
	Questions	331

Key cases	332
Further reading	332
<hr/>
Chapter 10 The law of use of force	333
10.1 The League of Nations and the Kellogg–Briand Pact	334
10.2 The UN Charter and the prohibition of the use and threat of force	337
10.3 Exceptions to the prohibition of the use of force	348
10.4 Is Article 2(4) sufficient in the modern world?	367
Conclusion	368
Questions	368
Key cases	369
Further reading	370
<hr/>
Chapter 11 Collective security	371
11.1 The meaning of ‘collective security’	372
11.2 Collective security in a modern world	374
11.3 Collective security under the League of Nations	374
11.4 The scope of, and authority for, collective security	375
11.5 The United Nations and collective security	376
11.6 Regional collective security systems	393
11.7 The distinction between ‘collective security’ and ‘collective self-defence’	398
11.8 Peacekeeping	399
11.9 Humanitarian intervention	404
11.10 Responsibility to protect	408
Conclusion	410
Questions	410
Further reading	411
<hr/>
Chapter 12 International humanitarian law	413
12.1 Background	415
12.2 International customary law and the codification of IHL	416
12.3 Customary international law and IHL	418
12.4 When does an armed conflict occur?	419
12.5 Armed conflict classification and the war on terror	423
12.6 Combatants, civilians, and somewhere in between: the principle of distinction	424
12.7 Restricting methods of warfare through the distinction and proportionality and control of weapons	431
12.8 Civilian objects and military objectives	432
12.9 Regulating weapons	434
12.10 The International Committee of the Red Cross and its role	435
Conclusion	436
Questions	436
Key cases	437
Further reading	438

Chapter 13 State responsibility	439
13.1 The International Law Commission	440
13.2 Determining the internationally wrongful acts of a State	441
13.3 Attribution of acts or omissions to States	444
13.4 Theories of imputability	465
13.5 Enforcing responsibility against delinquent States	468
13.6 Circumstances precluding wrongfulness	483
13.7 Peremptory norms: breaches that can never be excused (Article 26 ARSIWA)	485
Conclusion	486
Questions	486
Key cases	487
Further reading	488
Chapter 14 The settlement of international disputes	489
14.1 What is a dispute?	490
14.2 The peaceful settlement of disputes	494
14.3 Negotiation, inquiry, mediation, good offices, and conciliation	495
14.4 Arbitration	513
Conclusion	520
Questions	520
Key cases	521
Further reading	522
Chapter 15 The International Court of Justice	523
15.1 A short history of the Court	524
15.2 The functions of the ICJ	525
15.3 Access to the Court	526
15.4 The composition, election, and retirement of judges of the ICJ	529
15.5 The independence of the Court	534
15.6 The jurisdiction of the ICJ	535
15.7 The effects of a declaration under Article 36(2)	546
15.8 The conditions of declaration	552
15.9 Types of reservation	556
15.10 Interventions	561
15.11 Advisory opinions	565
15.12 Consent and advisory opinion	568
15.13 The effects of ICJ judgments	570
Conclusion	572
Questions	572
Key cases	573
Further reading	574

Chapter 16 International criminal law	575
16.1 What is international criminal law and how did it develop?	576
16.2 Sources, nature, and scope of international criminal law	578
16.3 The distinction between State and individual responsibility	579
16.4 General principles of international criminal law	579
16.5 International criminal tribunals	581
16.6 The International Criminal Court (ICC)	588
16.7 International crimes	595
16.8 Immunity	622
Conclusion	623
Questions	624
Key cases	625
Further reading	625
Chapter 17 International environmental law	627
17.1 What is international environmental law?	628
17.2 The development of international environmental law: a short history	629
17.3 Sources of international environmental law	633
17.4 Major international efforts towards international regulation of the environment	638
17.5 Enforcement of international environmental law	657
Conclusion	661
Questions	661
Key cases	662
Further reading	662
Chapter 18 International economic law	664
18.1 The origins and nature of international economic law	665
18.2 International economic law and public international law	667
18.3 Institutional mechanisms for regulating international economic law	668
18.4 International finance law	681
18.5 The World Bank's Inspection Panel	686
Conclusion	689
Questions	689
Key cases	690
Further reading	690
Chapter 19 International human rights	691
19.1 States and human rights	692
19.2 The rise of international human rights	693

19.3	The United Nations and human rights	694
19.4	Regional human rights systems	712
19.5	Regional human rights courts	719
19.6	Current issues in international human rights law	728
Conclusion		741
Questions		741
Key cases		742
Further reading		743
Index		745