

Content

Chapter III. CRIMINALISTICAL PROBLEMS IN FIGHT AGAINST ORGANIZED CRIME 14

Jurgita Baltrūnienė

Cigarette contraband is one of the forms of organized crime and the fight against it 36

Gediminas Buciušas

Organized crime and the usage of the newest technologies and achievements of science to detect crimes in the context of criminal procedure laws 42

Ferenc Dávid

Security challenges and answers:
terrorism and financing terrorism in Hungary 56

István László Gál

The situation of the corruption in Hungary in the light of the new criminal code 44

Hanna Reznikova

Preservation of the pre-trial secrecy of the investigation as the necessary condition of the counteraction to the organized crime 80

Helen Reznikova

Problems of the providing security of the victims of the organized crime activity as a means of the overcoming of the counteraction of the investigation 91

Chapter IV. GENERAL THEORETICAL PROBLEMS OF FORENSIC SCIENCE 93

Halyna Avdeeva

Problems of appointment of forensic examination in criminal proceedings of Ukraine 100

Dagmar Bartonikova, Marek Frystak

Forensic examination and handwriting analysis, and their meaning in a criminal case 111

Elena Ivanova

Legislative regulation for methodical guidelines of forensic expertise in Russian Federation..... 129

Gabrielė Juodkaitė-Granskienė, Hendryk Malevski

Evaluation of the results of forensic examination..... 230

Raimundas Jurka, Karolis Kurapka

Scientia juris as special knowledge in legal proceedings:
from ideas to implementation 232

Gennady Kostur

A term “ecological examination” and its usage in judicial and expert, research-practice and administrative activity..... 138

Andrey Lozovoy, Larisa Deretcha

Development of international cooperation in the sphere of juridical expertise 147

Valeryi Lukyanenko

Protectionism to state specialized judicial and expert institutions (on example of norms of project of law of Ukraine «about judicial and expert activity») 155

Valery Lukyanenko, Helen Turina

Blanks, variances and inaccuracies of conception of judicial legislation of Ukraine as risk factor of expert mistakes 164

Olga Perepichka

The usage of special knowledge in adversarial criminal procedure of Ukraine 173

Wladislav Sednev

Theory of forensic expertise:
epistemological constructs 188

Anastasiya Semikalenova

Problems of application of standart act of Russian Federation in judicial and expert activity..... 197

Vera Sherstyuk

Disciplinary liability of judicial experts of state specialized expert institutions 218

Ella Simakova-Yefremian

Problems of ensuring of united approach to development of methods of expert investigations and training of experts207

Vladimirs Terehovičs, Elita Nimande

Peculiarities of evaluation of expert conclusion in criminal procedure208

Helen Zaiceva

About normative definition of judicial expert activities121

Chapter V. FORENSIC PRACTICE: MODERN METHODICS AND TECHNOLOGIES.....243

Shakhana Aliyeva

New technologies in the examination of the dismembered corpses, skeletalized and burned human remains252

Eglė Bilevičiūtė, Vidmantas Egidijus Kurapka,

Snieguolė Matulienė, Genrikas Nedveckis, Giedrius Mickus
Fingerprints' identification system in Lithuania253

Leonid Bordjugov

Forensic engineering and environmental expertise:
matters of theory and practice275

Helen Chubina

Media image of the linguistic expertise
(on materials of the Russian mass media).....388

Sylwia Jastrzębowska, Krzysztof Krassowski

Forensic examination of documents in Poland – present state and new directions of research389

Nikolay Kitaev, Valentina Kitaeva

Theory and practice issues of forensic psychological and psycho-psychiatric expertise in cases of psychic frauds296

Anna Koziczak

Measurement as the basis of forensic identification297

Alexandr Moiseev

Expert research of accident traces:
the technological approach.313

József Orbán

Subjective probability in forensic science with special attention to the bayesian networks.....315

Irina Perepechina

The classification issues of forensic genetic identification339

Pavel Plevinskis

Some typical difficulties for sole forensic investigation in cases of fatal traffic accident.....347

Lionginas Radzevičius, Egidijus Radzevičius

Some aspects of methodology of the technological expertise in accident investigation355

Lena Sikorskaya

Role of the forensic DNA analysis in the investigation of grave crimes359

Tatiana Sokolova

Formation of naming examination.....364

Ireneusz Sołtyszewski

Opportunities of utilization of DNA database in the investigative process366

Rasa Tamošiūnaitė

Conclusion scale in handwriting examination in forensic science centre of Lithuania382

Renata Valūnė

Objectives of criminalistic linguistic examination282

Vitaliy Vasiliev, Annika Lall

Contemporary radiological methods in Estonian forensic practice290