

CONTENTS

3.1. Theory and Methodology of Forensic Examinations	7
Gabrielė Juodkaitė-Granskienė, Hendryk Malevski, Remigijus Merkevičius
Regulation of forensic examination – state of art and perspective	9
Yaroslava Komissarova
Optimization of legal status of forensic experts in criminal procedure in the contest of his professional activity	22
Jarosław Moszczyński
Subjectivity in forensic examinations	36
Iwona Zieniewicz, Sylwia Skubisz-Ślusarczyk
Necessary information for the expert witness	49
Vilma Joneliūkstienė, Agnė Šiaulytė
Forensic psychological examination in criminal procedure. Practical problems and relevancies	62
3.2. State of Art and Tendencies of the Development of Different Types of Forensic Examinations	75
Tadeusz Tomaszewski, Mieczysław Goc, Andrzej Łuszczuk, Krystyn Łuszczuk
Computer-based graphometry – new quality in forensic analysis of handwriting	77
Gintarė Žalkauskaitė
The scope of forensic linguistics and examinations, carried out in Lithuania	91
Diana Girčė, Antanas Misius, Zita Staponienė, Anelė Žalkauskienė
Examination of strongly disguised handwritings	100
Rasa Tamošiūnaitė, Liuda Raubaitė, Ramutis Jatulis
Handwriting examination following fingerprints detection	114
Marija Jakubėnienė, Eduardas Vaitkevičius
Investigation of metal traces in gunshot injuries by the method of atomic absorption spectroscopy	122
Aysen Tezel Celebioglu, Adalet Kilic, Emel Yardimci
Validation of the PLEXOR® HY system for dna quantitation	135
Bernardas Šalna, Juozas Kamarauskas
Use of combined method in forensic speaker identification	146
Andrius Chaževskas, Kęstutis Graželis, Tomas Džiovalas, Andrej Gorbatkov
Forensic examination of information technologies: state, objects and performance peculiarities	156
Milena Pugnaroni
„Mould gestures“ in dissimulated signatures	168