INDEX I: WRITINGS BY GEORGE ELIOT

This index lists references to all of George Eliot's writings, published and unpublished (with the exception of references to her letters as sources within Sections A-F, as these are too numerous). They are arranged under categories: collected works; essays and reviews; letters; miscellaneous (including her journals as documents; however, when these are used as supportive evidence, the references are listed in Index II); novellas; novels; poetry; translations; and unpublished writings (including projected works, drafts and notes, and unpublished items from other categories). Within each of these categories, as appropriate, collections or selections of items appear first, and the items are then listed individually in alphabetical order. Some titles listed also appear in Index II, when used for other purposes. References for items are given in the form of assigned item-numbers within the various sections, and not of page-numbers. Abbreviations recorded in the 'List of Abbreviations' are employed in the index.
