

Contents

About the Conference	3
Acknowledgements	3
Greetings to the participants	4
Jerzy Buzek: Opening remarks	9

Session I

Crimes of Communism - Why Does Europe Need to Do More?

The moral and legal obligation to provide international legal settlement for the Communist crimes

Sandra Kalniete: Why must the European Union do more to provide international legal settlement for Communist crimes?	15
Ján Čarnogurský: Communism and its crimes – overcoming history's dialectics	19
Martin Alm: Communist crimes without statutory limitations	23
Łukasz Kamiński: Prosecuting Communist crimes – Polish experience	29
Raluca Grosescu: Legal and political constraints in prosecuting the Communist crimes in Romania	35
Zdeněk Boháč: Initiative “Declaration 2012”	39

Session II

Cases with European-Wide Relevance

Crimes against humanity committed under the Communist regimes transcending national borders

Egils Levits: The Berlin Wall shootings as a precedent	43
Miroslav Lehký: Killings along the Iron Curtain in former Czechoslovakia	49
Vasil Kadrinov: Forced assimilation of the Turkish minority in Bulgaria in the 1980s	55
Lauri Mälksoo: Mass deportations of civilians and their qualification under international law	59
Jernej Letnar Čerňič: Mass killings, torture, mass graves in the EU	63

Session III

International Justice for the Communist Crimes

What could the new institution of international justice look like?

Albin Eser: Transnational reinforcement of the prosecution of international crimes	69
Renata Vaišvilienė: Considerations on jurisdictional aspects of the International Criminal Court	75
Frank Meyer: Coming to terms with Communist crimes in the EU framework – dawn of a new court?	79
Juergen Schurr: Prosecution in third countries	85

Session IV

The Next Steps toward International Justice (panel discussion)

What is needed to establish the new institution of justice? Which political steps to take?

Jan Rydel: Next steps? To inform, to make aware 93

Gabriel Toggenburg: Remembrance of crimes: moving from dividing lines to a collective memory 97

Vincent Depaigne 99

Matevž Pezdirc 101

Hans-Gert Pöttering: Closing remarks 105

Annex

Mikataj Pačkajeŭ: Towards legal settlement of Communist crimes:
Belarusian perspective 110

Ivonka J. Survilla: Letter from the President of the Rada of the Belarusian
Democratic Republic in Exile 116

Karl Altau: Letter from the Joint Baltic American National Committee, Inc. 118

Declaration 2012 119

The Platform of European Memory and Conscience 120