

Contents

Acknowledgements	viii
1 Introduction	1
2 The idea of an information society	8
3 The information society as post-industrialism: Daniel Bell	30
4 Information, restructuring and globalisation	59
5 Informational capitalism: Manuel Castells	97
6 Information and advanced capitalism: Herbert Schiller	124
7 Information management and manipulation: Jürgen Habermas and the concept of the public sphere	161
8 Information, reflexivity and surveillance: Anthony Giddens	202
9 Information, postmodernism and postmodernity	227
10 Conclusion: is there an information society?	263
Bibliography	274
Index	299

Index

- advertising: inauthenticity of 245–6; and information management 193–5; see also corporate sponsorship; marketing
- aesthetic relativism: in postmodernism 233–4
- anti-holistic theories of society 34–6
- art galleries see museums
- authenticity: postmodern rejection of 234, 235–9, 244–9, 256–7; see also truth
- banking see finance
- Barthes, Roland 242–3
- Baudrillard, Jean 243–9, 256–7
- Bauman, Zygmunt 259, 261
- BBC: and information provision 169–72, 199–200
- Bell, Daniel: on postmodernity 260; see also post-industrial society
- body shape: postmodern approach 247
- bourgeois public sphere see public sphere
- Britain see United Kingdom
- British Telecom: commercial strategy, 142–5; R&D strategy 137–8
- broadcasting see media; public service broadcasting
- business civilisation: development of 268–70
- businesses see corporate sector
- capitalism: and globalisation 68–70; and the information society 270–1; information trends 126–8; and the postmodern condition 259–61; and reduction of the public sphere 164–5, 166–7; trends in 267–8; see also consumer capitalism; corporate capitalism; informational capitalism
- capitalist accumulation: modes of 62–3; and postmodernism 260; see also Fordism; post-Fordism
- Castells, Manuel 97–9; see also Information Age
- citizenship: and surveillance 220–2
- civil liberties: and surveillance 222–3; see also human rights regimes
- class see social classes
- clothes see fashion
- command and control systems: in warfare 213
- commercial broadcasting: and the public service ethos 171
- commercialization: of information 145–6, 151–2, 179, 180–1, 188–9; see also information inequality
- commmodification: of information 128, 251–2, 258
- communications: globalisation of 72–3; see also ICT; media; public service broadcasting
- communism: decline of 156–7; see also Marxism
- computers see ICT
- consumer capitalism 49–51, 153–5, 159–60
- consumption 79, 86; see also mass consumption
- corporate capitalism: alternatives to 156–7; and consumer capitalism 153–5, 159–60; continuities in 266; growth of 129–36; and ICT 130–1, 137–8, 150–1, 152–3; and information 128–9, 131–6, 150–3; and information inequality 145–50, 158; and information networks 130–1; and information services 151–2; and markets 136–46; and the media 131–6; and surveillance 153–4, 155, 157, 223–5; and technological innovation 137–9, 140–1, 150–1; see also transnational corporations
- corporate sector: and information management 192–5
- corporate sponsorship 146, 185
- corporate structure: in the Information Age 102–4; and ownership 117–19; under post-Fordism 76–7, 79, 82, 92–3;

- corporate structure (cont.)
 - see also* transnational corporations
- critical theory 125, 129, 137; critique 155–60; see also corporate capitalism
- cultural capital 158
- cultural definitions: of the information society 18–21, 25
- cultural effects: of informational capitalism 104–7
- cultural imperialism 72, 132–5
- cultural public sphere 200–1
- cultural standards: postmodern rejection of 233–4, 239
- culture: postmodern fragmentation of 239–40
- defence: and surveillance 216–17, 220–1; see also war
- democracy: and information 161–2, 163, 168; see also public sphere
- deregulation: and information 142–4, 145
- Desert Storm operation see Gulf War
- design: in flexible specialisation 91–2
- discourse analysis 242–3
- division of labour: international 77, 102
- dress see fashion
- economic definitions: of the information society 12–14, 25
- education: and performativity 252–4; see also higher education
- elitism: in public libraries 178–9; in public service broadcasting 171–2, 199
- employment: in the Fordist-Keynesian era 64–5; in the Information Age 110–14; under post-Fordism 76, 79, 80, 83–4, 90–1, 94; see also occupational definitions
- England see United Kingdom
- entertainment see infotainment; media; public service broadcasting
- entry charges: for museums and art galleries 182–3, 184–5
- epochal change: denied 265–8, 270–1, 272–3; and the Information Age 100, 121–3; and post-Fordism 84–9, 95–6; and post-industrial society 41–4, 52
- evolutionism see neo-evolutionism
- fashion: as information 19, 20
- feminism: in the Information Age 110
- films see media
- finance: globalisation of 71, 73, 74–5
- firms see corporate sector
- flexibility: in information workers 113–14; under post-Fordism 78–80, 83–4; of production 79, 89–92
- flexible specialisation 88–94
- Fordism 64–8; critique 85–6; decline of 68–75; see also post-Fordism
- galleries see museums
- Giddens, Anthony 202–3, 265–6, 271; see also reflexivity; surveillance
- globalisation: and the decline of Fordism 68–75; definition 68; effects 73–5, 82–3, 109, 268–70; and human rights 218–19; and ICT 73, 77–8, 130–1; and the Information Age 101–2; and information networks 77–8, 79–80, 130–1; and local responsiveness 87–8; of the media 72–3, 105; underlying principles 268–9; see also transnational corporations
- government information services: and the public sphere 186–9
- grand narratives: failure of 230–2
- Great Britain see United Kingdom
- Gulf War 214, 215–16, 256–7
- Habermas, Jürgen 162, 265–6; see also public sphere
- Harvey, David 260, 261
- heritage industries 185–6, 237
- higher education: access to 116–17, 118; performativity in 252–4
- historicism: criticisms of 34
- history: inauthenticity of 237–8
- holist theories 35, 99; see also anti-holist theories
- human rights regimes 218–20; see also civil liberties
- hyper-reality 248
- ICT: and corporate capitalism 130–1, 137–8, 150–1, 152–3; and flexible specialisation 90; and globalisation 73, 77–8, 130–1; and the Information Age 100, 101, 104–7; and the information society 9–12, 17–19; under post-Fordism 77–8; and postmodernism 250–1, 257; and privatisation 142–4, 145; and social change 11–12, 14, 60–1
- identity: in the Information Age 108–10; see also national identity; self inauthenticity see authenticity
- individuality: and individuation 206–7; and surveillance 206–9

- industrial activity: and the service sector 47–8, 49–51; see also productivity
- industrial relations: and post-Fordism 76
- industrial society: development of 36–7; see also post-industrial society
- industrial workers: in the Fordist-Keynesian era 65
- industrialisation: and war 213, 215
- information: commercialization of 145–6, 151–2, 179, 180–1, 188–9; commodification of 128, 251–2, 258; and corporate capitalism 128–9, 131–6, 150–3; definitions 23–6, 30, 121–2; and democracy 161–2, 163, 168; in flexible specialisation 90–1; and markets 136–46; and meaning 24–5; and performativity 251–5, 258; and the post-industrial society 39–41; and postmodernism 242–3, 251–5; and social change 25–6, 60–1, 81–2; and social classes 128; see also knowledge; public sphere; signs and symbols
- Information Age 10, 97–9; continuity with the past 100, 121–3; critique 115–23; cultural effects 104–7; employment in 110–14; identity in 108–10; and information networks 100, 101–8; nation states in 101–2, 109; social classes in 107–8, 110–15, 117–19; see also informational capitalism
- information and communications technology see ICT
- information flows: and globalisation 73; in the network society 107–8
- information imperialism 134–5
- information industries: definition 12
- information inequality 145–50, 158–9, 184–5, 189; see also commercialization, of information
- information management 189–92; and the corporate sector 192–5; critique 198–9; and government information services 187, 189; and the media 195, 197–8; and politics 196–8, 246; and war 197–8, 214, 218; see also advertising; marketing; public relations
- information networks: and corporate capitalism 130–1; and globalisation 77–8, 79–80, 130–1; and the Information Age 100, 101–8; under post-Fordism 92–4; and social change 17–18; see also Internet
- information services: and corporate capitalism 151–2; globalisation of 71, 73; and industrial activity 51; under post-Fordism 77, 83–4; see also government information services; public libraries
- information society: and capitalism 270–1; definitions 8–9, 21; definitions (cultural) 18–21, 25; definitions (economic) 12–14, 25; definitions (occupational) 14–17; definitions (qualitative) 21–3, 25; definitions (spatial) 17–18, 24–5; definitions (technological) 9–12, 18, 24–5; historical continuities in see epochal change; quantification of 10–11, 12–13, 14, 15–16, 17, 21–3, 25, 272–3; see also knowledge society; new world
- information order; post-industrial society
- information warfare 213–16
- information workers: definitions 15–16, 115–16; historical development 116–17; under post-Fordism 83–4, 92–3; role in capitalism 112–19; see also professionalism
- informational capitalism 100, 101; cultural effects 104–7; origins 119–20; role of information workers 112–19
- informationalism 104
- infotainment: spread of 195
- innovation: in flexible specialisation 91–2; see also technological innovation
- instant wars 108, 214
- intellectual characteristics: of postmodernism 230–2
- intelligence see surveillance
- international division of labour 77, 102
- Internet 10; and the Information Age 104–5, 106; and marketing 139–40; in postmodern society 251; and the public sphere 200
- interpretation: subjectivity in 235; see also textual criticism
- knowledge: construction of 230–1; definitions 30; and reflexivity 55–6; see also theoretical knowledge
- knowledge society 26–8, 52–7
- labour see division of labour; employment; industrial relations; occupational definitions
- language: and reality 242–3
- libraries see public libraries
- Lyotard, Jean-François 251–5, 258

- manufacturing see industrial activity; production; productivity
- marketing: and the Internet 139–40; and the media 131–2, 139, 147–8, 154–5, 159–60, 167; and surveillance 224–5
- markets: globalisation of 69–70, 83; and information 136–46; and public libraries 178; and public service broadcasting 173–6
- Marxism: in Castells's thought 98–9; influence on Schiller 125; postmodern analysis 231–2, 254; see also communism
- mass communication see media
- mass consumption: in the Fordist-Keynesian era 65–6
- mass media see media
- mass production: in the Fordist-Keynesian era 64–5, 66; under post-Fordism 80, 86–8, 93–4
- meaning: and information 24–5; postmodern abandonment of 19–20, 238–9, 240, 246–7; see also signs and symbols
- measurement see quantification
- media: and corporate capitalism 131–6; development of 18–19; globalisation of 72–3, 105; and the Information Age 105, 106–7; and information inequality 146–50, 158–9; and information management 195, 197–8; and information quality 146, 158; as a marketing tool 131–2, 139, 147–8, 154–5, 159–60, 167; and postmodernism 244–7, 249–50, 257–8; and the public sphere 165–6; see also advertising; infotainment; news reporting; public service broadcasting; signs and symbols
- mergers: and control of information 152–3
- meritocracy: in the Information Age 114–15, 117
- military: and technological innovation 140–1, 214–15; see also war
- modernism: definition 229; postmodern opposition to 233; and signs and symbols 244–5, 247
- modernity: definition 228, 259; and surveillance 205–6
- movies see media
- multinational corporations see transnational corporations
- museums: and the public sphere 182–6; see also heritage industries
- nation states: characteristics 210–13; concept of 209–10; effects of globalisation 73–5; in the Information Age 101–2, 109; and national identity 210–11; and surveillance 209–13, 220–2; and war 211–13
- national defence see defence
- national identity 210–11
- neo-evolutionism: and the post-industrial society 33–4, 41
- network enterprises 102–4
- networks see information networks; social networks
- new technology see ICT
- new world information order 134–5
- news reporting: inauthenticity of 245, 256–7; and information management 197–8; and the public sphere 164, 214; US bias 132–4
- occupational definitions: of the information society 14–17
- opinion management see information management
- outsourcing: under post-Fordism 76–7
- ownership: and corporate structure 117–19
- panopticon: concept of 222–3
- peasantry: decline of 269
- perception management: in war 214
- performativity: in information production 251–5, 258
- planning: in the Fordist-Keynesian era 67; under post-Fordism 80–1; and theoretical knowledge 40, 53–4
- political economy 126–9
- politics: and information management 196–8, 246
- post-Fordism: characteristics 75–84; corporate structure under 76–7, 79, 82, 92–3; critique 84–8; development of 68–75; employment under 76, 79, 80, 83–4, 90–1, 94; and epochal change 84–9, 95–6; information networks under 92–4; and postmodernism 260; production under 80, 83, 86–8, 93–4; see also flexible specialisation; Fordism
- post-industrial society 14, 30–3; benefits 39–41; continuity with industrialism 41–4, 52; development of 33, 36–9; and information 39–41; and neo-evolutionism 33–4, 41; service sector in 44–51; and technological determinism

- 41–4, 120, 271–2; and theoretical knowledge 52–7
- post-Marxism 98, 99
- post-traditional society 55–6, 205
- Poster, Mark 250–1, 257
- postmodernism: and capitalism 259–61; characteristics 227, 228–30, 241; characteristics (intellectual) 230–2; characteristics (social) 232–41; critique 255–8, 261; and information 242–3, 251–5; and information technologies 250–1, 257; and the media 244–7, 249–50, 257–8; and post-Fordism 260; rejection of authenticity 234, 235–9, 244–9, 256–7; rejection of meaning 19–20, 238–9, 240, 246–7; rejection of truth 234–5, 240–1, 249–51, 253–4, 255–7, 258; see also signs and symbols
- postmodernity: definition 228, 259; in society 259–61
- privatisation 142–4, 145
- production: flexibility of 79, 89–92; in the Fordist-Keynesian era 64–5, 66; globalisation of 70–1; in the Information Age 102; under post-Fordism 80, 83, 86–8, 93–4
- productivity: under post-Fordism 76, 77; postmodern analysis 231; and the service sector 47–8; and social change 36–7, 42–4
- professionalism: development of 16, 39–40, 52, 116–17; in public service broadcasting 172; and the public service ethos 176; and the public sphere 166; see also information workers
- propaganda see information management
- propertied class: continuation of 117–19
- public libraries 176–82
- public relations: and information management 194–5; and the public sphere 165, 167; see also information management
- public service broadcasting 148, 169–76, 199–200
- public service ethos: and commercial broadcasting 171; in government information services 187; in museums and art galleries 183; of professionals 176; and the public sphere 166, 169
- public sphere: continuities in 266; critique 167–8, 198–201; decline of 164–7, 173–6; definition 163; and government information services 186–9; history 163–7; and information 163, 166, 167–8; and information management 187, 189–98; and museums and art galleries 182–6; and news reporting 164, 214; and public libraries 176–82; and public service broadcasting 169–76; see also democracy
- qualitative definitions: of the information society 21–3, 25
- quantification: of the information society 10–11, 12–13, 14, 15–16, 17, 21–3, 25, 272–3
- radio see media; public service broadcasting
- rationalisation see productivity
- reference materials: use in libraries 179–80, 181
- refeudalisation: of public affairs 164–6
- reflexivity: in flexible specialisation 91; and knowledge 55–6; and modernity 205–6
- Regulation School theory 61, 62–3, 266; see also capitalist accumulation
- Reichism 82–4, 92–4
- research and development see social science research; technological innovation
- Roszak, Theodore 22–3
- Schiller, Dan 130–1
- Schiller, Herbert I. 124–6; critique 156–60, 265–6, 271; see also corporate capitalism
- secondary information sector 12, 13
- self: fragmentation of 239–40; see also identity
- service sector: definition 46–7; development of 37–9, 44–6; and industrial activity 47–8, 49–51; in post-industrial society 44–51; and productivity 47–8; and service products 49–50; and social change 14, 39–41
- signs and symbols: in flexible specialisation 91–2; globalisation of 72–3; loss of meaning 19–20; modernist approach 244–5, 247; postmodern approach 243–9, 257; and social networks 250–1; see also fashion; meaning
- social change: effects of globalisation 269; extent of 59–61; and ICT 11–12, 14, 60–1; and information 25–6, 60–1, 81–2; and information networks 17–18; under post-Fordism 80–1; and

- social change (cont.)
 - productivity 36–7, 42–4; rationales for 231–2; and the service sector 14, 39–41; and technological determinism 41–4
- social characteristics: of postmodernism 232–41
- social classes: decline of 81, 85–6, 111–14, 269; and information 128; in the Information Age 107–8, 110–15, 117–19; and information inequality 146–50, 158; and public library provision 178–9; and public service broadcasting 171–2
- social constructivism: and signs and symbols 247–8
- social life: organisation of 203–5; see also national identity; urban life
- social movements: in the Information Age 108–10
- social networks: in postmodern society 250–1
- social science research: performativity decisions 252
- social structure: and post-industrial society 36–9; and virtual communities 105–6
- society: disjunctive realms within 34–6, 50; see also information society; knowledge society; post-industrial society; post-traditional society
- spatial definitions: of the information society 17–18, 24–5
- sponsorship 146, 185
- standards see cultural standards
- state see nation states
- state planning see planning
- statistical data: integrity of 187, 189
- subjectivity: in interpretation 235
- surveillance: and corporate capitalism 153–4, 155, 157, 223–5; dangers 222–3; and defence 216–17, 220–1; and government information services 186; and individuality 206–9; and modernity 205–6; and nation states 209–13, 220–2; for social organisation 204–5
- symbolic analysts 83–4, 92–3
- symbols see signs and symbols
- technological definitions: of the information society 9–12, 18, 24–5
- technological determinism: and the post-industrial society 41–4, 120, 271–2
- technological innovation: and corporate capitalism 137–9, 140–1, 150–1; and the military 140–1, 214–15; see also ICT telecommunications/ telematics see ICT
- teleological thinking: criticisms of 34
- television see media; public service broadcasting
- tertiary industry see service sector
- textual criticism: and postmodernism 242–3
- theoretical knowledge 271; definitions 26–7, 54–5, 56–7; and planning 40, 53–4; and the post-industrial society 52–7; role of 27–8
- time-space compression 17, 78, 108
- tourism: inauthenticity of 236–7, 238–9; see also heritage industries
- trade unions see industrial relations
- transactional information: growth of 225
- transnational corporations: development of 69–71, 74–5; in the Information Age 102–4; and information networks 131; information services in 77
- transnational empire: of corporate capitalism 129–36
- travel see tourism
- truth: postmodern rejection of 234–5, 240–1, 249–51, 253–4, 255–7, 258; see also authenticity
- United Kingdom: industrial situation (1945–73) 66–7; mass consumption in 66; service sector development in 45–6
- United States: cultural imperialism 72, 132–5; news reporting bias of 132–4; public service broadcasting in 174
- urban life: impersonality of 207–8; and postmodernism 240; and surveillance 208–9
- Vattimo, Gianni 249–50, 257–8
- vertical disintegration 76–7, 79, 82, 103
- virtual communities 105–6
- war: human rights causes 218–20; and industrialisation 213, 215; and information management 197–8, 214, 218; instant 108, 214; and nation states 211–13; in the network society 108; role of information 213–16; see also defence; Gulf War; military
- wealth creation see productivity
- webs see information networks
- working class: demise 85–6, 111–14, 269
- World Wide Web see Internet