Contents

Acknowledgments vii

INTRODUCTION:
On the Style and Politics of an Intellectual Class xi

I IN THE SERVICE OF STALINISM

Whittaker Chambers: Thinking About Witness 3
Whittaker Chambers: The Judgment of History 23
Who Was Josephine Herbst? 32
The Life and Death of Lillian Hellman 59
The Blacklist Revisited 70
Nora Sayre's Sentimental "Journey" 81

II THE TWILIGHT OF THE NEW YORK INTELLECTUALS

The Edmund Wilson Centenary 95
The Follies of Dwight Macdonald 107
Mary McCarthy & Company 118

The Role of Sidney Hook 129
Irving Howe: "Socialism Is the Name of Our Desire" 149
Diana Trilling and the Politics of Psychoanalysis 157
Saul Bellow, Our Contemporary 167

III FROM MODERNISM TO THE "NEW SENSIBILITY"

Clement Greenberg in the Forties 183
Clement Greenberg and the Cold War 195
Lincoln Kirstein and the "Aesthetic" Generation 207
The "Apples" of Meyer Schapiro 214
Susan Sontag: The Pasionaria of Style 222

IV "CLOSING TIME IN THE GARDENS OF THE WEST"

Cyril Connolly's Horizon 235
An Orwell for the Nineties 248
Bloomsbury Idols 258
The Tynan Phenomenon 275
The Flowers on Sartre's Grave 285

V THE STRANGE FATE OF LIBERAL ANTI-COMMUNISM

What Was the Congress for Cultural Freedom? 305
Life After Liberalism: The New Republic at Eighty 319
Reflections on Partisan Review 334

Afterword 349

Index 361