
Contents

Notes on contributors	ix
Acknowledgements	xii
Permissions	xiii

1 Narratives of change and continuity: their transdisciplinary and subversive potential	I
LINDEN WEST AND HAZEL REID
2 Auto/biography: a relational journey	II
LAURA FORMENTI
3 'Moments of being' and the search for meaning: epistemological and methodological challenges for the autoethnographic researcher	25
WILMA FRASER
4 'A very elementary transformation of one's existence': narrating moments of political change	37
MOLLY ANDREWS
5 Learning democracy and fundamentalism: narratives of change, recognition and disrespect	49
LINDEN WEST
6 Whose story? Whose memory? Multiple readings of oral history life accounts from the socialist era	66
MARTIN HÁJEK

7	Identity formation and re-formation within Christian Fundamentalism: journeys of faith – interrupted	79
	JOSIE MCSKIMMING
8	Stories of resistance and resilience: journeys to engagement with the UK Global Justice Movement	93
	JAMES TREWBY
9	Family beliefs and practices around academic ability and social mobility: narratives of contradiction, continuity and resistance	105
	LAURA MAZZOLI SMITH
10	How do career guidance practitioners talk about their class, gender and racialised identities?	117
	JANICE SMITH
11	What is career about if not biography? Examining the ‘shift’ to constructivist and interdisciplinary approaches in career counselling	129
	HAZEL REID
12	Poetry written from the words of people given a diagnosis of dementia: a narrative analysis	144
	MARIA CASTRO AND KITTY CLARK-MCGHEE
13	‘Those letters keep me going’: epistolary spaces and resilience-building processes in US soldiers to sweetheart war correspondence, 1942 to 1945	159
	ANNE BYRNE AND TANJA KOVAČIĆ
	Afterword: Telling stories of change and continuities, the transdisciplinary and subversive imperative	172
	HAZEL REID AND LINDEN WEST
	Index	181