

CONTENTS

Introduction	vii
Part I: General Conceptual and Methodological Approaches	1
Chapter 1 Meaning and Its Manifestations: The Meaning System Shulamith Kreidler	3
Chapter 2 A Psychosemantic Approach to the Study of Meanings Victor Petrenko and Olga Mitina	33
Part II: Meaning from the Perspective of Different Disciplines	57
Chapter 3 The Other(s') Sense(s): Meaning, Sensorial Experience and Anthropological Encounters Diana Riboli	59
Chapter 4 Meaning, Self and Interaction from a Sociological Perspective: Exploring the Relation in Two Studies on Prestige and Solidarity in Greece Vasiliki Kantzara	73
Chapter 5 Against Crowding Out the Meaning of Meaning Rainer Born and Eva Gatarik	89
Chapter 6 Meaning Constitution Analysis: A Transcendental Phenomenological Approach to Empirical Research in Psychology and Related Areas Roger B. Sages	113
Part III: Applications of Meaning in Different Domains	149
Chapter 7 Meaning in Education: The Meaning Dimensions As Tools for the Training of Thinking Skills Adva Margalio	151
Chapter 8 Meaning in Life Operationalized: An Empirical Approach to Existential Psychology Tatjana Schnell	173

Chapter 9	Psychological Meaning from the Point of View of the Psychology of Personal Constructs Miroslav Filip	195
Part IV: Methodological Approaches to Meaning		211
Chapter 10	Semantic Calculus of Meanings Meir Kuzari Kozarinsky	213
Chapter 11	Narrative Meaning: Dilemmas of Interpretation Vladimír Chrz and Ivo Čermák	221
Chapter 12	Analysis of Textual Data in Psychology Tomáš Urbánek and Kristína Czekóová	243
Editors' Contact Information		255
Index		257