

Contents

	Preface	vii
	Acknowledgments	xi
	Introduction	xiii
1	Doris Lessing Children of Violence: The Quest for Change	1
2	Olivia Manning The Balkan Trilogy: The Quest for Permanence	29
3	Lawrence Durrell The Alexandria Quartet: Art and the Changing Vision	51
4	Anthony Burgess The Malayan Trilogy: The Futility of History	71
5	C. P. Snow Strangers and Brothers: The Morality of History	93
6	Anthony Powell A Dance to the Music of Time: The Comedy of History	123
	Notes	157
	Index	161

Arendt, Hannah, xvi, 14, 15
Austen, Jane, 53

Bergson, Henri, 85, 133
Bildungsroman, 1, 10, 85
Broch, Herman, 2
Browning, Robert, 150
Burgess, Anthony: his hero's view of history, xv; disillusion and disintegration in sequence, xvi; heterogeneity of Malaya, 30; his hero caught in history, 73, 74; themes in trilogy, 73; views on imperialism compared to Waugh's and Orwell's, 73; use of setting compared to that in other sequences, 74; sources of cyclical theory of history, 75; on change and history, 79; characters, 84; style, 85; his sequence as drama of change, 89

—Beds in the East, 76, 77;
Clockwork Orange, A, 18, 120; Enemy in the Blanket, The, 77; Malayan Trilogy, The (The Long Day Wanes), xv, xix, 71-91; Time for a Tiger, 77, 82

Camus, Albert, 105

Carey, Father John, 19
Conrad, Joseph, 71, 72

Durrell, Lawrence: art linked to history, xix; concern with revolution, xix; motif and imagery in sequence, xix; treatment of artist compared with Powell's, xix; heterogeneity of locale, 30; respect for history, 48; themes in sequence, 51; narrative devices in sequence, 53; sequence as attempt at "pure novel," 54; art and the artist, 56; use of mirror imagery in sequence, 57-60 passim; use of theory of relativity in sequence, 58; history distinguished from art, 60; use of history in Mountolive, 66; genesis of artist, 69

—Alexandria Quartet, The, xix, 51-69, 74, 81, 107, 109, 112; Balthazar, 52; Clea, 63; Justine, 55, 59, 67, 69; Mountolive, 66-68 passim

Einstein, Albert, 85, 133, 134
Eliot, George, 53

Faulkner, William, 105, 134

Forster, E. M., 71, 72

Freud, Sigmund, 133

Gide, André, 2, 54-55

Golding, William, 105

Hegel, Georg Friedrich, 76

History: as double agent, xiv;

as shaped by Proust, xiv; as slave of time, xiv; compared with fiction, xiv; transcended by art, xiv; background of compared to fictional foreground, xv; its philosophy predicated on artistic method, xv; not transcribed in fiction, xv; treatments of sequence writers compared, xv; logic of compared with logic of fiction, xvi; resistance of writers to dramatizing large-scale events, xvi; sequence settings related to, xvi; writer of compared to novelist, xvii; philosophic views of compared, 14; freedom and determinism, 14-16; personal choice exercised within its cosmic shift, 15;

Mrs. Lessing's view of,

18-20 passim; and myth in

Golden Notebook, 19; and communism, 22; uses and views of in Balkan Trilogy,

29, 36, 37, 42-44 passim,

49; symbolized by geography, 55, uses and views of in Alexandria Quartet, 64,

66; cyclical theories of, 71;

and colonialism, 71, 72; uses and views of in Malayan

Trilogy, 73-77 passim, 79,

81, 89, 90; uses and views of in Strangers and Brothers,

94, 96, 98, 99, 103, 104,

105, 108, 109, 111, 120; decay and growth in, 125; uses and views of in The Music of Time, 124, 127, 129, 130,

133, 135, 136, 144-147 passim, 149

Hugo, Victor, xvi

Huxley, Aldous, 18, 120

James, Henry, 53

Joyce, James: Ulysses and AL- exandria Quartet contrasted,

54; "epiphanies" compared with Durrell's "bayonets of time," 68; as influence on

Burgess, 75; Bloom compared with Burgess hero, 76;

Stephen Dedalus compared with Burgess hero, 77; and stream-of-consciousness, 133

Jung, C. G., 59

Keats, John, 6

Kernode, Frank, 64

Kipling, Rudyard, 71

Künstlerroman, 61

Lawrence, D. H., 3, 105, 119

Leavis, F. R., 94

Lessing, Doris: her philosophy of history, xv; themes of novels in her sequence, 1, 3;

on the individual against the collective, 1, 13; compared and contrasted with Snow,

3; style compared with Lawrence's, 3; on ritual, 8; characters in sequence, 9-12 passim; on freedom, 14; on hope for mankind, 18;

world outlook, 20; concern with Communism, 21-22;

on change, 24; on madness of modern age, 25-26

-Children of Violence, xix, xx, 1-29, 109; Four-Gated City, The, 6, 10, 16, 18-19, 20, 25; Golden Notebook, The, 2, 19, 20; Landlocked, 10, 14, 15, 23; Martha Quest, 4-7 passim; Proper Marriage, A, 17; Ripple from the Storm, A, 14 methods in treating, xix.

See also Roman fleuve

Orwell, George: exemplifying evils of imperialism in writings, 71, 72; his sensibility akin to Burgess's, 73; 1984, 120

McCarthy, Mary, 49

Mann, Thomas, 33

Manning, Olivia: quest of her heroine, xv; themes of disillusionment and disintegration in sequence, xvi; her heroine compared to Mrs. Lessing's, 8-9, 41; artistic use of history, 29-30; compared with Powell, 31; concern with change, 31; uncertainty of history as springboard for sequence, 32; style, 34; on history, 43, 49

-Balkan Trilogy, The, 29-51, 109; Friends and Heroes, 43-48; Great Fortune, The, 33-37, 38, 44; Spoilt City, The, 37-43

Melville, Herman, 105

Miller, Arthur, 16

Mizener, Arthur, 131

Muggeridge, Malcolm, 94

Murdoch, Iris, 45

Nabokov, Vladimir, 54, 60

Novel sequence: personal change linked with historic change, xiii; as reflection of individual's growth, xiv; views of, xvii, xviii; difference of styles in authors of, xviii; organized about motifs, xviii; critical emphasis in discussing, xix; critical

Powell, Anthony: use of gesture in fiction, xvi; class values, xvii; his protagonist compared with Mrs. Lessing's, 6; Nicholas Jenkins as narrator of sequence, 123, 124; balance struck between history and fiction, 125; concepts of time, 127, 128, 133, 134; his men of will and men of imagination, 130, 131; movements within sequence, 132, 133; characters, 140; history conforming to comic vision, 154

-Acceptance World, The, 126, 130, 132, 138, 139; At Lady Molly's, 130, 140, 141; Buyer's Market, A, 126, 130, 137, 139; Dance to the Music of Time, A, xix, 31, 74, 97, 109, 123-55; Casanova's Chinese Restaurant, 130, 132, 141, 142, 143, 145; Kindly Ones, The, 128, 130, 132, 141, 143, 144, 145, 146; Military Philosophers, The, 132, 147, 152-54 passim; Question of Upbringing, A, 127, 135, 136, 139; Soldier's Art, The, 132, 147, 149, 150-52 passim; Valley of Bones, The, 147, 148, 150

Proust, Marcel: Remembrance of Things Past as greatest roman fleuve, xiv; his sequence contrasted with Durrell's, 54; champion of art over history, 60; his moments bienheureux compared with Durrell's "bayonets of time," 68; as one of Snow's favorite authors, 108; his roman fleuve as reflection of Bergsonian mysticism, 133, 134

Rilke, Rainer Maria, 121

Roman fleuve, xiii, xiv. See also Novel sequence

Shakespeare, William, 60

Snow, C. P.: class values of, xvii; his high-caliber dilettantism, 93; as meliorist, 94; as apologist for science, 94, 95; and the formulaic novel, 95; his scientific use of fiction, 95; compared with Powell, 96; his Lewis Eliot as narrator of sequence, 96-99 passim; his design in Strangers and Brothers, 96; defense of technique, 98; bias for history, 98; "zig-zag" of progress, 103; characters, 105; reflections on change, 109; as antiexistentialist, 115; and the marriage of the "two cultures," 119; his philosophy of history, 120

-Affair, The, 102-4 passim, 108, 116; Conscience of the Rich, The, 102, 117; Corridors of Power, 104, 108, 113, 114; Homecoming(s), 103, 108; Last Things, 111, 121; Light and the Dark,

The, 99-101 passim; Masters, The, 100, 104, 108, 110-14, 116, 117; New Men, The, 102, 117; Sleep of Reason, The, 117, 118; Strangers and Brothers (book), 99, 102, 103; Strangers and Brothers (sequence) 74, 93-122; Time of Hope, 96, 97, 117

Spengler, Oswald, 71

Stevens, Wallace, 57

Time: at heart of novel sequence, xiii; historic as opposed to fictional, xv; man's sole hope to order change, xx; as arbitrary background, 43; as it plays upon love and art, 51; uses and views of in The Alexandria Quartet, 53, 58, 59, 65, 67, 68; uses and views of in The Malayan Trilogy, 79, 84, 85, 86, 87; uses and views of in Strangers and Brothers, 106, 107; uses and views of in The Music of Time, 124, 126, 127-29, 132, 134, 144, 155

Tolstoy, Leo, xvi

Toynbee, Arnold, 71

Valéry, Paul, xiii

Vico, Giambattista, 75

Warren, Robert Penn, 73

Waugh, Evelyn, 71-73 passim

Wilson, Angus, 119

Yeats, W. B., 64

Zamyatin, Yevgeni, 18

Zola, Émile, xvi, 95, 119