

Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
Introduction: Radical Politics in the Desert of Transition Igor Štiks and Srećko Horvat	1
Part I: From Self-management to Disaster Capitalism
1 Self-management, Development and Debt: The Rise and Fall of the 'Yugoslav Experiment' Vladimir Unkovski-Korica	21
2 From the Market . . . to the Market: The Debt Economy After Yugoslavia Andreja Živković	45
3 Workers and Unions After Yugoslavia Marko Grdešić	65
Part II: Re-imagining the Post-Socialist Balkans
4 Re-imagining the Balkans Maria Todorova	85
5 On the Way to Europe: EU Metaphors and Political Imagination of the Western Balkans Tanja Petrović	103
6 Children of Post-communism Boris Buden	123

Part III: Two Decades After Yugoslavia: Bitter Fruits of Transition

- 7      The Silence of Lamb-eaters:
Transition as a Post-war Crime
Andrej Nikolaidis 143
- 8      Kosovo: The Long Independence Day
Agon Hamza 157
- 9      Mapping Nostalgia for Tito:
From Commemoration to Activism
Mitja Velikonja 173

Part IV: Towards a Balkan Spring? New Political Subjectivities

- 10     Insurrections in the Balkans: From Workers and Students to New Political Subjectivities
Michael G. Kraft 199
- 11     'They had sex, drugs and rock 'n' roll;
we'll have mini-jobs and loans to pay':
Transition, Social Change and Student Movements
in the Post-Yugoslav Region
Jana Baćević 223
- 12     Women's Struggles and Political Economy:
From Yugoslav Self-management to Neoliberal Austerity
Ankica Čakardić 243

Postscript: The Future of Radical Politics in the Balkans – Protests, Plenums, Parties

Igor Štiks and Srećko Horvat 281

List of Contributors 265

Index 269