

C O N T E N T S

Preface

x

⊞ CHAPTER ONE ⊞

Reconstructing Reconstruction: The Political Cartoonist and the National Mood

1

The Problem

1

Background

2

The Method

9

The Evidence

11

Political cartoons of Thomas Nast

Questions to Consider

24

Epilogue

25

⊞ CHAPTER TWO ⊞

The Road to True Freedom: African American Alternatives in the New South

27

The Problem

27

Background

28

The Method

32

The Evidence

35

Excerpt from Ida B. Wells, United States Atrocities

Booker T. Washington's Atlanta Exposition Address

Henry McNeal Turner's "The American Negro and His Fatherland," 1895

Excerpts from the writings of W. E. B. Du Bois

Table showing migration of Negro population by region, 1870-1920

Questions to Consider	53
Epilogue	56

☞ CHAPTER THREE ☞

How They Lived: Middle-Class Life, 1870–1917	58
The Problem	58
Background	59
The Method	65
The Evidence	68
Advertisements for clothing, beauty and health aids, firearms, books and home study courses, typewriters, insurance, bicycles, automobiles, household appliances and furnishings
Architectural drawings and descriptions of houses
Questions to Consider	99
Epilogue	100

✓☞ CHAPTER FOUR ☞

Justifying American Imperialism: The Louisiana Purchase Exposition, 1904	102
The Problem	102
Background	103
The Method	108
The Evidence	111
Photographs
Questions to Consider	124
Epilogue	126

☞ CHAPTER FIVE ☞

Homogenizing a Pluralistic Culture: Propaganda During World War I	129
The Problem	129
Background	130

The Method	134
The Evidence	136
Songs and poetry, advertisements, posters, editorial cartoons, speeches, broadsides
Questions to Consider	156
Epilogue	157

☞ CHAPTER SIX ☞

The “New” Woman of the 1920s: Image and Reality 160

The Problem	160
Background	161
The Method	164
The Evidence	166
Popular fiction versus nonfiction views of women in the 1920s
Questions to Consider	180
Epilogue	181

☞ CHAPTER SEVEN ☞

Documenting the Depression: The FSA Photographers and Rural Poverty 183

The Problem	183
Background	184
The Method	186
The Evidence	188
Documentary photographs as instruments of reform
Questions to Consider	197
Epilogue	197

☞ CHAPTER EIGHT ☞

The Burdens of Power: The Decision to Drop the Atomic Bomb, 1945	199
The Problem	199
Background	200
The Method	204
The Evidence	206
Excerpts from memoirs and reminiscences by Truman, Stimson, Eisenhower, and others involved in the decision
Questions to Consider	226
Epilogue	227

☞ CHAPTER NINE ☞

The Second Red Scare: HUAC vs. Hollywood, 1947	231
The Problem	231
Background	232
The Method	237
The Evidence	239
Testimony from congressional hearings
Questions to Consider	277
Epilogue	278

☞ CHAPTER TEN ☞

A Generation in War and Turmoil: The Agony of Vietnam	281
The Problem	281
Background	282
The Method	288
The Evidence	292
Suggested release forms for oral history interviews Responses of five males and two females to the Vietnam War Family photographs

☞ CHAPTER EIGHT ☞

The Burdens of Power: The Decision to Drop the Atomic Bomb, 1945

The Problem	199
Background	200
The Method	204
The Evidence	206

Excerpts from memoirs and reminiscences by Truman, Stimson, Eisenhower, and others involved in the decision

Questions to Consider	226
Epilogue	227

☞ CHAPTER NINE ☞

The Second Red Scare: HUAC vs. Hollywood, 1947

The Problem	231
Background	232
The Method	237
The Evidence	239

Testimony from congressional hearings

Questions to Consider	277
Epilogue	278

☞ CHAPTER TEN ☞

A Generation in War and Turmoil: The Agony of Vietnam

The Problem	281
Background	282
The Method	288
The Evidence	292

*Suggested release forms for oral history interviews
Responses of five males and two females to the Vietnam War
Family photographs*