

Contents

Foreword	page vii
List of contributors	viii

Part one: The analysis of commodity demands

Introduction	2
1 Some Engel curves W. M. GORMAN	7
2 Suggestions towards freeing systems of demand functions from a strait-jacket L. JOHANSEN	31
3 Theoretical and empirical approaches to consumer demand under rationing A. S. DEATON	55
4 The independence transformation: a review and some further explorations H. THEIL AND K. LAITINEN	73
5 The analysis of consumption and demand in the USSR N. P. FEDORENKO AND N. J. RIMASHEVSKAYA	113

Part two: The theory of index numbers

Introduction	130
6 On the constructability of consistent price indices between sev- eral periods simultaneously S. N. AFRIAT	133
7 The economic theory of index numbers: a survey W. E. DIEWERT	163

Part three: The consumption function and durable goods

Introduction	210
8 Testing neoclassical models of the demand for consumer durables J. MUELLBAUER	213
9 Liquidity and inflation effects on consumers' expenditure D. F. HENDRY AND T. VON UNGERN- STERNBERG	237

Part four: Other aspects: fertility and labour supply

Introduction	262
10 On labour supply and commodity demands A. B. ATKINSON AND N. H. STERN	265
11 Child spacing and numbers: an empirical analysis M. NERLOVE AND A. RAZIN	297
Bibliography of Sir Richard Stone's works 1936-79	325
Index of names	338
Subject index	341