

CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION 7

1 CITIZENSHIP 11

1.1 Citizenship and its historical development..... 11

1.2 The modern concept of citizenship 16

1.3 Critical reflections on the liberal concept of citizenship 17

1.4 The acquisition of state citizenship in practice 20

1.4.1 Naturalization 21

1.4.2 Loss of state citizenship 22

1.5 State citizenship of the Czech Republic 23

1.5.1 Acquisition of state citizenship of the Czech Republic..... 24

1.5.2 Loss of Czech citizenship..... 25

1.6 Citizenship of the European Union 26

2 CIVIL SOCIETY 37

2.1 Civil society as a concept..... 37

2.2 Civil society from a historical perspective..... 39

2.3 Civil society in the Czech Republic..... 42

2.4 Current Czech theoretical discourse on civil society 46

3 MODERN DEMOCRACY..... 57

3.1 The emergence of democratic societies in Europe 57

3.2 Democratization as evolution 62

3.3 Economic conditions for the emergence of democracies..... 66

3.4 Political culture and democracy..... 68

4 THE THEORY OF DEMOCRACY: PARTICIPATORY
DEMOCRACY 81

4.1 Democracy as a concept 81

4.2	The theory of democracy	84
4.3	The participatory theory of democracy	87
4.3.1	Theoretical concepts of the participatory theory of democracy	87
4.3.2	The participatory theory of democracy in political practice	89
4.3.3	Critical reflections on the possibilities of participatory democracy in political practice	90
4.4	Participation as a desirable element in Czech democracy	92
5	EDUCATION FOR ACTIVE CITIZENSHIP	105
5.1	Historical changes in the school curriculum	105
5.2	Educating democratic citizens in school practice	108
5.2.1	The Act on local referendums	109
5.2.2	Civic associations	111
5.2.3	Civic associations as participants in administrative proceedings	113
5.2.4	The right of petition	115
5.2.5	Participation in assembly sessions, communication with authorities, members of parliament, and senators	116
5.2.6	Interconnections between tools of direct democracy	119
5.3	The current level of willingness to engage in civic activities at primary and secondary schools in the Czech Republic	120
	Correspondence tasks	137