

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction	1
Part I: Background	13
1. Theoretical Framework: Issues of Class, Gender, and Mass Media Reception	15
2. Work, Family, and Social Class in Television Images of Women: Prefeminism, Feminism, and Postfeminism on Prime-Time Television	27
Part II: Women Interpreting Television	51
Introduction. Women's Experiences with Television: The Evolution of the Meaning of Television Through the Generations	53
3. Middle-Class Women Discuss Television	63
4. Working-Class Women Discuss Television	97
5. Women Remembering Television: Pre- and Postfeminist Generations	141
Conclusion: Television Reception as a Window on Culture	171
Appendix: Methodology	179
Notes	195
Bibliography	213
Index	233

Index

- accommodation, 174
- achievement ideology, 120
- Acker, Joel, 183
- action
 - and hegemony theory, 173
 - strategies of, 174
- action-adventure genre, 35
- actors vs. characters, 77
 - middle-class women discuss, 133–34
 - working-class women discuss, 133–35
- Affirmative Action, 4
- Alice*, 37, 117–21, 128–29, 207
- All My Children*, 58, 88–90
- alternative families, 46–47
- Althusser, Louis, 19, 200
- Ang, Ien, 101
- audience studies, 20
- Auerbach, Erich, 198
- authority, in the family
 - egalitarian, 34
 - matriarchal, 32–34, 42
 - paternal, 158
 - patriarchal, 33–34
- autonomy, women's, in television fiction, 131

- Bellah, Robert, 199
- Bernstein, Basil, 98
- Bewitched*, 102–5
- bias, 179
- Birmingham School, 7, 19–23, 196–97, 200
 - definitions of culture, 20
 - feminist criticisms of, 22–23
 - See also* British Cultural Studies; Centre for Contemporary Cultural Studies
- black family 44–45, 105–6, 115–16, 206
- Bob Newhart*, 80, 166, 168, 169, 206
- Bottomore, Tom, 182
- Bourdieu, Pierre, 101
- Brady Bunch*, 103, 160, 162–65, 210
- Breines, Wini, 195
- Bridges, Amy, 184
- British Cultural Studies, 15, 19–23, 26
- broken homes, women from, and nostalgia, 161, 163
- Burns and Allen*, 34

- Cagney and Lacey*, 37, 40, 41, 48, 146–50
- capitalism, 6
- capitalist society, 21
- Caputi, Jane, 203
- career woman
 - ideal criticized by postfeminists, 5
 - in television fiction,
 - middle-class women discuss, 77, 79,
112
 - working-class women discuss, 79–80, 111–12, 123
 - See also* professional women
- Centre for Contemporary Cultural Studies (University of Birmingham), 19, 98, 196, 200
 - See also* Birmingham School; British
Cultural Studies
- Cerullo, Margaret, 195
- Charlie's Angels*, 35–36, 148–51
- Cheers*, 135
- children, in television fiction, 203

- Chodorow, Nancy, 64, 204
- class, 7, 21–22, 182 and cultural experience, 97 differences suppressed by mass media, 6, 113 feminist analyses of, 183 and media reception, 137–39, 177
 oppression, 6
 theoretical models, 182 women's membership, 6, 182–85, 211 working definitions, 181–84
 See also middle class; working class
- class-specific, 75, 97, 138, 176
- Cohen, Stanley, 20
- comedy, and social class, 125–35
- comic glamour, 135, 137
- commercial femininity, 39, 40
- common culture, television as, 57–58, 60, 145
- conglomerate families, 156
- consciousness, 20–21, 173
- content analysis, 202
- Cosby Show*, 40, 44, 80, 84–86, 99, 105–11, 115–16, 134–35, 166–68, 169–70, 206, 210
- Crime Stoppers*, 107
- critical media studies, 197
- cultural hegemony, 7
- cultural space, 19
- culture, as a concept, 20, 200
- "culture of femininity," 22
- Dallas*, 70–72, 101, 105, 114, 121–22, 197
- Danny Thomas Show, The*, 33, 34
- December Bride*, 34
- de Courtivron, Isabelle, 195
- Designing Women*, 40, 47
- Dick van Dyke Show, The*, 33, 34
- diegetic vs. real-world events, 132, 134–35
- Diff'rent Strokes*, 156
- discrimination, 48, 63
- "distance," in descriptive language, 89, 93–94, 96, 99, 165
- division of labor, 32, 64, 144, 209
- divorce, 165
- domesticity, doctrine of female, 183
- dominant ideology, 203
- domination, 21
- Donna Reed Show, The*, 33, 34
- drama, as television genre, 34–35
- DuBois, Ellen, 195
- dykes, 40
- Dynasty*, 67–70, 73, 84, 86, 90–94, 105, 111–14, 132
- economic detail, in television fiction, 121
- Edmundson, Mark, 200
- effects research, 10
- Eight Is Enough*, 163, 206, 209, 210
- Eisenstein, Zillah, 6
- emotional labor, 64
- empirical studies, of audience, 20
- Epstein, Cynthia, 183
- Equal Rights Amendment, 4
- "escape," 106, 107, 128, 205, 207
- essential female nature, 195
- ethnic minorities, 116
- ethnography, 19–20
- Fairbairn, W. R. D., 209
- families, 6, 18, 28
- families, in television fiction and class, 28, 106
 conglomerate, 156
 nuclear, as nostalgic, 159 in postfeminist television, 43–48 in prefeminist television, 48 pseudo-families, 36
 work families, 36–37
 See also middle-class families; working-class families
- Family Ties*, 156
- "fantasies of realism," 204
- fantasy, 103, 105, 119, 123, 124, 147–48
- fantasy-level solutions, 28
- Father Knows Best*, 33, 34, 45, 158, 161–62
- Felson, Marcus, 183
- female bonding, 31, 43, 45–47
 See also women's friendship
- female culture, 64
 See also women's culture
- female power, 32
- female solidarity, 33, 46
- Feminine Mystique, The*, 4, 30, 130, 208
- "feminine wiles," 81, 83, 125
- femininity, 22, 40
- feminism, 23, 25, 37, 39
 See also women's movement
- feminist

- analyses of class, 183
- criticisms of Birmingham School, 22–23
- cultural studies, 23
- methodologies, 10, 200–201
- qualities of television characters, 76–79, 81, 96
- television, 34–38, 77, 143, 145, 208, 209
- Feuer, Jane, 132–33
- film theory, 23
- filmic technique, as source of meanings, 30
- Fish, Stanley, 201–2
- Fiske, John, 98
- Freud, Sigmund, 3, 173, 210
- Friedan, Betty, 4–5, 30, 38, 208
 - See also Feminine Mystique, The
- Gale Storm Show, The*, 33
- gaze, in film theory, 18
- gender
 - in Birmingham School analysis, 21–22
 - and class as categories, 22
 - identity, 3
 - oppression, 6
 - roles, 3
- gender-specific, 65–73, 83, 97, 138, 176
- generational responses to television fiction
 - summarized, 167–70, 176
 - See also middle-class women; older women; working-class women; younger women
- generational vs. life course differences, 208
- generations, women, in contemporary U.S., 142
- genre, television, 34
- Gerson, Kathleen, 142–43
- Giddens, Anthony, 183
- Gilligan, Carol, 205
- Gilligan's Island*, 81–83, 135–37
- girl's groups, as research subjects, 22
- Gitlin, Todd, 35–36, 150
- glamour, in television fiction, 40, 135–37
- Gold, Herbert, 155
- Golden Girls*, 47
- Graduate, The*, 87
- Gramsci, Antonio, 16, 19, 98, 195, 198, 200
- Gramscian-Althusserian-Marxist School, 15, 195, 200
- Gray, Herman, 204, 207
- Gronbeck, Bruce, 9
- Hacker, Helen, 184
- Hall, Stuart, 20
- Happy Days*, 59
- Hartmann, Heidi, 6, 184, 195
- Hazel*, 33
- hegemony, 15–17, 98, 116, 173, 177, 196
- "hegemony of middle-class realism," 99, 102
 - See also middle-class realism
- Heilbronn, Lisa, 203, 209
- Hill Street Blues*, 36, 150–52
- Hochschild, Arlie, 204
- Holland, Norman, 201
- Honeymooners, The*, 31–34, 122, 156
- Horatio Alger myth, 120
- housework, 48, 103–4
- husband-wife relationship, 45, 80
- I Love Lucy*, 29–34, 76–77, 83, 94–95, 104, 125–29, 133–34
- I Married Joan*, 34
- ideal woman, in television fiction, 75–83, 96
- identification, with television characters, 66
 - and class differences, summarized, 95–96, 175
 - as a term, 207, 210
- identification processes, 18
- "identify with," as conceptual description, 95
- ideological hegemony, 98
- ideology, 15, 20, 198
- individuality, female model of, 18
- intellectuals, 21
- interpersonal themes, 67
- interview schedule (questions), 192–93
- interview subjects, 179–81
 - middle-class women, 188–92
 - working-class women, 185–88
- interviewing techniques, 179–81
 - in-depth, 20, 22
 - open-ended, 180
- Ironside*, 94
- Jackie Gleason Show, The*, 55

- Kate and Allie*, 46–47, 123–24
 Katz, Elihu, 197
 Katznelson, Ira, 98, 195
 Klein, Melanie, 209
 Knoke, David, 183
Knot's Landing, 153–54
- L.A. Law*, 40, 108, 153 language, about television and class experience, 98 middle- and working-class compared, 88–96 Laverne and Shirley, 129 learning from television, 57
Leave It to Beaver, 33, 45, 162, 165, 210 lessons from television, 106 liberal ideology, 37, 203
 Lichter, Robert, 202
 Liebes, Tamar, 101, 197
 literalism, in viewer responses, 90–92
Little House on the Prairie, 163, 209
 Long, Elizabeth, 22, 25, 63, 64–65, 66, 72, 100–101, 204
Loretta Young Show, The, 35
Love Boat, 84
 Lucy (Ricardo/Lucille Ball)
 as discussed by women, 76–77, 125–28, 133
 as prefeminist character, 29–34, 76–77
 Lyotard, Jean-François, 204
- mainstream media studies, 197
Mama, 32–33, 34, 156–57
 Mannheim, Karl, 198
 Marks, Elaine, 195
Martha Raye Show, The, 35
 Marx, Karl, 173, 198, 210
 Marxism, 7, 8, 21
Mary Tyler Moore Show, The, 36–37, 77–80
 masculinist bias, 21–22 mass media, 6, 173
 matriarch, working-class, in television fiction, 32–33, 42, 156
Maude, 40
 McRobbie, Angela, 20, 22, 23
 media reception studies, 173–74
 See also reception men, idealization in television fiction, 45–46 methodology, quantitative, 20, 179–93 middle class beliefs, 65 culture, 101
 normality, 102
 middle-class family, in television fiction, 29–31, 34, 44–45 middle-class realism, 103, 105, 124, 144, 155, 175
 middle-class women
 as romance readers, 24
 as television viewers, discuss career women, 77–81
 interpersonal themes, 67–73
 sexiness, 81–83
 work-and-family conflict, 73–75
 expectations of realism, 66, 83–84, 86–87
 Middleton, Chris, 184
 Millet, Kate, 184
 money, 31, 109–10
Monty Python, 60 moral assessments, of television characters, 72–74, 95 morality, 73
 Morgan, Robin, 195
 Morley, David, 20
Murphy Brown, 40–41, 146
- narrative, 18, 131
 normality, middle class, 102 normative idea of reality, 124 nostalgia, 159–63, 165
- Oakley, Ann, 183
 object relations theory, 18
Oh, Susannah!, 33 older women, and television technology, 53–56, 61 opportunity structures, 143
Our Miss Brooks, 33
Ozzie and Harriet, 158
- parental authority, and television viewing, 60 Parkin, Frank, 182–83 participant observation, 20, 208
Partridge Family, The, 160, 162 passivity, 174
 paternal authority, 158
 patriarchal family, Ricardo, as, 33 patriarchy, 6, 184
 peer group involvement, 58–61 pleasure, and identification, 30, 31

- popular culture, 196 postfeminism, 4, 5, 38–39, 43, 46, 143, 144, 208 postfeminist
 ideology, 43, 47–49
 realism, 152–55
 television, 38–49, 80, 81, 143, 146, 176
 woman, 166
 Poulantzas, Nicos, 182 practices, social, 20 prefeminist television, 77, 80, 143, 144, 155 and nostalgia, 159 portrayal of women, 29 situation comedies, 29–34 “pre-text,” 30 privatization, 22 problem solving, 107–8 professional women, in television fiction, 36, 41, 45 discussed by women viewers, 108, 146–55 psychoanalytic theory, 23 public opinion, network perceptions of, 41 public-private split, 36 race, in television fiction, 115–16 radical feminists, and class, 184
 Radway, Janice, 23–26, 63–66, 69, 100–101, 201–2, 204–5 rationalist bias, 201 reader-response theory, 201
 Reagan, Ronald, 4
 realism, 37, 99, 198–99, 210
 conventions, 100–101
 as criterion for “like” or “dislike,” 101 desire for escape, 107 ethnicity and, 101 identification with television characters and, 79 middle-class women’s expectations of as readers, 65, 100
 as television viewers, 83–87, 99–101, 175 resistance and, 175 romance readers and, 24, 65 working-class women’s expectations of, 83–84, 99–102, 128, 174–75 “reality” television compared to novels, 25 use of term, 99–104 rebellion, women’s, in fiction television, 34 reception, 25, 173, 174 “relate to” as a conceptual description, 95 relational problems, 97
Remington Steele, 152 representations, 5–6 resistance, 19–21, 159, 174, 177
 and appropriation, 98 and femininity, 30
 in interpretation of television, 119 male vs. female expressions of, 21 as subtext in I Love Lucy, 29 in working-class subcultures, 7 rich people, in fiction television, 112–15 role models, 91, 208 romance heroines, 205
 novels, 24–25, 202
 readers, 23–24, 64–65, 205
 reading, 69
Roseanne, 42–44
 Rosenfelt, Deborah, 195
 Rossi, Alice, 195
 Rubin, Lillian, 179, 211–12
 Ryan, Mary, 183, 195 sampling techniques, 179–80 self, 204 self-image, 6
 self-in-relation, 205 sexuality, women’s, in television fiction, 81–83, 96, 148–51, 155 single fathers, 28
 in television fiction, 156
 single mothers, 28, 117, 119–20
 in television fiction, 28, 37, 117, 119–20, 156
 single women, in television fiction, 37, 77–79 situation comedy, 36, 209
 Smith-Blau, Zena, 183 snowball sampling, 179 soap operas, 58, 147, 148, 206 social problems, 28 social structures, 19
 Socialist Feminists, 6 socializing patterns, and television, 53–58 spectator, 18, 199
 “splitting,” as interpretive strategy, 144, 154, 155, 166, 176, 209

- Stacey, Judith, 195
 subcultures, 7, 21, 178
 masculinist bias in studies of, 21
 Marxist evaluations, 21 of resistance, 30, 98 women as, 184
 subjectivity, active, 19
 subtexts, 30, 31
 superwoman myth, 143 symbolic annihilation, 39
- Taylor, Ella, 36–37, 47, 203, 204
 Tedesco, Nancy, 202
- television, 8, 9, 17–19, 107, 146, 159
 audience, compared to film, 18 characters, 71, 72, 74, 91–93, 133 feminist qualities, 76–79, 81, 96
 See also individual program titles as common culture, 57–58, 60, 145 consumption, 57, 59–61
 as cultural institution, 8, 9, 17–19, 53 fiction narrative as information source, 110–11
 patriarchal values, 96 repetitive format, 18 and resolution of problems, 18, 72, 107 and romance novels, 25 and wish-fulfillment, 122 flow, 132
 hegemonic function, 9, 17–19, 86, 96, 176 as liberating force, 146 and resistance, 9, 96 technology, in the home, 53–56, 61 viewers, 65–66
 viewing, 53, 55–58, 69–70
That Girl, 77–78, 129–31
thirtysomething, 48
Twilight Zone, 94
- value structure, 29
- Waltons, The, 158, 209
 Weinbaum, Batya, 6
Who's the Boss, 120–22
 Williams, Raymond, 198–99
 Willis, Paul, 20–21, 200
- wish-fulfillment, 30, 108–10, 122
- women in paid labor force, 63
 as presumed audience, 18
 as readers, 64
 as separate class, 184
 in television fiction, 27–49
 work and family conflicts, 48
 See also middle-class women; working-class women women's culture, 63, 64, 204 women's friendship, in television fiction, 30, 33
 "women's lib," 40
 women's movement, 4, 38, 39, 141, 145, 195 women's solidarity, 42 women's work, 183, 209 work, in television fiction, 42–44 feminist critique of, in Roseanne, 44
 work-and-family conflict, 6, 44–45, 48, 73–75, 80–81, 130
 "work families," 36–37
 working class, 7, 8, 21, 98, 196
 working-class families, 43, 196 in fiction television, 31–34 working-class men, 21, 42 working-class situation comedy, 31, 33
 working-class women, 34, 196
 as television viewers, discuss achievement and improvement, 117–18, 120 middle-class families, 102–11 pre-feminist television families, 159–64 rich families, 121–22 work, 118–19
 working-class families, 116–24
 in television fiction, 32–33, 37, 42–44, 131
 working women, in television fiction generational responses, 145–55
 Wright, Eric, 182
- younger women, and television technology, 52–62
- Zworykin, Vladimir, 9