

CONTENTS

Notes on contributors page ix

Preface xi

Introduction 1

HEATHER WIDDOWS AND CAROLINE MULLEN

SECTION I Problematising governance of genetic information 13

- 1 The medium and the message: tissue samples, genetic information and data protection legislation 15

NEIL C. MANSON, LANCASTER UNIVERSITY

- 2 Me, myself, I – against narcissism in the governance of genetic information 37

SØREN HOLM, CARDIFF UNIVERSITY

- 3 Decisions, consent and expectations of the individual 51

CAROLINE MULLEN, UNIVERSITY OF LEEDS

SECTION II Ethical frameworks of governance 73

- 4 Constructing communal models of governance: collectives of individuals or distinct ethical loci? 75

HEATHER WIDDOWS, UNIVERSITY OF BIRMINGHAM

- 5 Rights, responsibility and stewardship: beyond consent 99

ROGER BROWNSWORD, KING'S COLLEGE, LONDON

- 6 Who decides what? Relational ethics, genetics and well-being 126

SARAH WILSON, UNIVERSITY OF CENTRAL LANCASHIRE

SECTION III Redesigning governance 149

- 7 Involving publics in biobank governance: moving beyond existing approaches 151

KATHRYN G. HUNTER AND GRAEME T. LAURIE,
UNIVERSITY OF EDINBURGH

- 8 Genetic information and public opinion 178

ANDREW EDGAR, CARDIFF UNIVERSITY

- 9 Harmonisation and standardisation in ethics and governance: conceptual and practical challenges 201

RUTH CHADWICK AND HEATHER STRANGE, CARDIFF
UNIVERSITY

Bibliography 214

Index 229