2. What Makes Bioethics Mediation Unique? 21

The Bioethics Mediator Is Generally Employed by the Hospital 22

The Bioethics Mediator and Members of the Treatment Team
Are Repeat Players 23

The Bioethics Mediator Provides Information, Enforces Norms, and Ensures That Resolutions Fall within Medical "Best Practice"
Guidelines 24

Deciding Not to Reach a Resolution Is Not an Option 25

The Playing Field Is Usually Uneven for Patients and Their Families 25

Confidentiality Is Limited to Information Not Relevant to Patient Care 26

Time Is of the Essence 27

Bioethics Mediations Involve Life-and-Death Issues 27

Facts Play a Different Role 27

The Person with the Greatest Stake in the Dispute, the Patient,
Is Often Not at the Table 28

There May Be a Sequence of Separate, Prior Meetings in Addition to the Group Mediation 29

Bioethics Mediations Are Almost Always Multiparty Events	29
The Parties Usually Do Not Sign an Agreement to Mediate	30
The Physical Setting May Not Be in the Mediator's Control	30
Bioethics Mediators Are Often Involved in Following Up on Implementation of the Agreement	31
All Participants in a Bioethics Mediation Have a Common Interest in the Well-Being of the Patient	31
