

BRIEF CONTENTS

Preface	xiii	12 Banking industry: structure and competition	252
About the authors	xx
Guided tour	xxii	PART 4
Guided tour to MyEconLab	xxvi	CENTRAL BANKING	273
Publisher's acknowledgements	xxviii
PART 1		13 The goals and structure of central banks	275
INTRODUCTION	1	14 The money supply process	301
1 Why study money, banking and financial markets?	3	15 The tools of monetary policy	326
2 An overview of the financial system	23	16 The conduct of monetary policy: strategy and tactics	351
3 What is money? A comparative approach to measuring money	46	PART 5
PART 2		INTERNATIONAL FINANCE AND MONETARY POLICY	379
FINANCIAL MARKETS	59
4 Understanding interest rates	61	17 The foreign exchange market: exchange rates and applications	381
5 The behaviour of interest rates	80	18 The international financial system	407
6 The risk and term structure of interest rates	108	PART 6
7 The stock market, the theory of rational expectations and the efficient market hypothesis	130	MONETARY THEORY	443
PART 3
FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS	147	19 The demand for money	445
8 An economic analysis of financial structure	149	20 The ISLM model	464
9 Financial crises and the subprime meltdown	176	21 Monetary and fiscal policy in the ISLM model	485
10 Banking and the management of financial institutions	205	22 Aggregate demand and supply analysis	507
11 Economic analysis of financial regulation	232	23 Transmission mechanisms of monetary policy: the evidence	525
		24 Money and inflation	555
		25 Rational expectations: implications for policy	579
		Glossary	599
		Index	612