
Contents

List of illustrations	vii
Notes on contributors	viii
Preface	xi
Introduction	1
Russell Keat, Nigel Whiteley, Nicholas Abercrombie
 Part One Social change and consumption
1 Scepticism, authority and the market	23
Russell Keat
2 Authority and consumer society	43
Nicholas Abercrombie
3 Consumers, identity and belonging: reflections on some theses of Zygmunt Bauman	58
Alan Warde
4 The organized consumer and consumer information co-operatives	75
John Winward
5 Advertising: moving beyond the stereotypes	91
Adam Lury
6 The limits of consumption and the post-modern 'religion' of the New Age	102
Paul Heelas

Part Two Consuming culture

- 7 High art and the high street: the 'commerce-and-culture' debate 119
Nigel Whiteley
- 8 Planning a culture for the people? 138
Celia Lury
- 9 The culture of consumption: design museums as educators or tastemakers? 154
Helen Rees
- 10 Framing the audience for theatre 166
Baz Kershaw

Part Three Consuming public services

- 11 Citizens, charters and contracts 189
Kieron Walsh
- 12 Consuming health and welfare 207
Richard Hugman
- 13 Consuming education 223
Oliver Fulton
- 14 Retailing the police: corporate identity and the Met. 240
Tony Heward
- 15 Conversationalization of public discourse and the authority of the consumer 253
Norman Fairclough
- Name index 269
- Subject index 274