

CONTENTS

About the Authors

Acknowledgements

Foreword

by The Very Revd. Dr. John Moses, Provost of Chelmsford

1. Introduction	11
2. Politics and Law	15
Genes and all that	17
Persons	20
The moral community	23
Identity and individuation	29
The initial argument restated	32
3. Theology and Ethics	37
The least among us	37
The moral priority of the weak	38
The moral status of the embryo	41
Embryos as potential humans	41
Unsoulled humans	42
Embryos as non-persons	42
Drawing the line	43

Arguments against (i) Individualist ethics	45
(ii) The need to compromise	47
(iii) Uacceptable consequences	48
(iv) Taking power for God	51
The realities of power	54
Dominion or despotism	55
Jesus and powerlessness	56
Moral imagination	58
Otiose arguments	59
Conclusion	60
 4. Submission: The Limits to Embryonic Research	 63
Introduction	63
The creation of embryos	67
Experimentation	72
The moral status of the embryo	80
Recommendations	85
 5. Conclusion	 91
 Notes	 97
 Bibliography	 103