

Chapter I – Introductory Chapter

Preface. I:1	11
Fieldwork and the Formulation of a Research Agenda. I:2	13
Survey of Literature. I:3	15
An Image Seen from Different Perspectives. I:4	18
The Conceptual Framework of the Study. I:5	19
Theoretical Concepts I:6	22
Aesthetic Approaches I:7	30
Terminology. I:8	39
History of Ethiopian Monasticism. I:9	40
The Monastic Community and the Modern Period. I:10	47

Chapter II – The Classic Ascetic form of Monasticism: The Monk and God

Ethiopian Contemplative Asceticism from a Postmodern Perspective. II:1	51
Asceticism. II:2	53
The Concept of the Desert and the Topography of Monastic Settlement. II:3	55
Inspiration and Sources of Regulation for Monastic Life. II:4	58
Specific Monastic Rules. II:5	61
The Practice of Asceticism. II:6	64
The Degrees of Monastic Attainment. II:7	67
“Siwurañ” and Bilocation. II:8	68
The Monastery of Mahbärä Silase. II:9	70
The Monastery of Waldäba. II:10	75
Conclusion. II:11	78

Chapter III – Traditional Community Orientated Form of Monasticism:

The monk and the believer i.e. Christian Society

Introduction. III:1	82
Traditional System of Land Ownership, Raising Revenue and Administration. III:2	84
The Monasteries and Social Life. III:3	87
The Traditional Education System. III:4	90
The Continued Importance of Theological Disputes and the Qebat Sect. III:5	94
Monks and Literature, the image of monks projected in the local media. III:6	95
Märt’ulä-Maryam Monastery. III:7	99
Däbrä Wärk’ Monastery. III:8	106
Dima Giyorgis Monastery. III:9	110
Conclusion. III:10	113

Chapter IV – Monasteries as Points of Encounter with Other Religions and Dissemination of the Faith. Monks and Non-Believers

Introduction. IV:1	118
Monks and Mission. IV:2	120
Monasteries and Pilgrimage. IV:3	121
Monastic life and Healing. IV:4	124
The Significance of Holy Water and Sacred Wells. IV:5	125
Monasticism and Ethnic Minorities. IV:6	128
Arch-Angel Gabri'el Monastery Zway. IV:7	131
The monastery of Zik'wala Abbo. IV:8	137
Conclusion. IV:9	146

Chapter V – Monasteries in the Urban Setting. The Monk and the City

Cities in Africa and Ethiopia. V:1	151
Cities in the Christian context. V:2	152
The City and Monasticism. V:3	154
The Rural to Urban Shift of the Monastic Communities in Ethiopia During the Twentieth Century. V:4	155
The Problem of the Definition of Monasteries, and Changes in the Roles of Monks and Nuns. V:5	157
The Institution of Sunday Schools, Youth Movements, and Evening Preaching Sessions. V:6	159
Monasticism Beyond Monastery Walls. V:7	162
The Activities of Hermits. V:8	169
The Monastery of Kidanä Mährät. V:9	174
The Monastery of Miskaye Hizunan Mädhine Alām. V:10	178
Conclusion. V:11	181

Chapter VI – Monasticism and Modernity

Introduction VI:1	186
Feminine Monasticism in Ethiopia. VI:2	187
The Ethiopian Monk: A Changing Concept of Masculinity. VI:3	193
Monasticism and Communism. VI:4	196
Ethiopian Orthodoxy's Achievement of Maintaining the Continuity and Purity of its Monastic Heritage. VI:5	200
Monasticism in Other Ethiopian Traditions. VI:6	203
The Monastic Community and the Derg. VI:7	204
Recruitment and Development. VI:8	206
Changes in the Role and Function of Monasticism. VI:9	209
General Conclusion VI:10	211
Bibliography	225

PART TWO (Václav Ježek)

Table of Contents:

Introduction	260
Parallels between Communist ideology and Orthodoxy	271
The Union of Brest-Litovsk, church policy and the laity	273
Orthodox missionary activity	291
Old Believers	295
Church and State during the reign of Peter the Great	296
Socialist and Populist anthropology with reference to Orthodox anthropology	306
Pobedonostsev K. P. and arguments against Democracy	326
Russian Religious philosophy of the people and for the people, the case of Khomiakov	335
Laity and the Church before the Revolution	341
The Church and the Revolutionary period	356
The Church in the Soviet State	373
The Church during the Second World War and its aftermath	384
The Church after Stalin	398
Orthodoxy in the region of Czecho-Slovakia	413
Romania	437
Serbia	442
Bulgaria	447
Albania	452
Greece and Cyprus	455
Ethiopian Tewahedo Orthodox Church	460
Land and governance as exemplified by the Wollo province	464
Emperor's rule	469
Thomas Wold and his period	475
The downfall of the Monarchy	478
Regional politics	488
The fall of the Derg	492
Narratives of revolution	493
Notes about contemporary Ethiopia	496
Conclusions	519
Selected Bibliography	525
Illustrations	535