

CONTENTS

	Preface	xi
1	United Europe: A Visit to the Celestial City	1
2	The British Empire in Famine and War	7
3	Europe's Uncertain Dominion in Africa	12
4	The Challenge of Socialism	21
5	The Coming of War	28
6	July 1914	38
7	The War in the West	44
8	The War in the East	66
9	The Aftermath of War	86
10	Republicanism and Revolt in Germany	97
11	The Triumph of Communism in Russia	112
12	Mussolini and Italian Fascism	134
13	Political Instability and the Weakness of France	154
14	The Supremacy of Conservatism in Britain	169
15	Hitler and the Failure of German Democracy	179
16	Austria's Fragile Independence	197
17	Czechoslovakia: Europe's Futile Sacrifice	211
18	Poland and the Return of War	221
19	The German Conquest of Europe	232
20	Germany's Challenge to the World	255
21	The Triumph of Barbarism	268
22	Europe in Eclipse	284
	Bibliography	292
	Index	299

INDEX

- Adenauer, Konrad, German Chancellor, and Germany's recovery after 1945, 290
- Albert, heir to the Belgian throne, and his father's extravagance, 20
- Albuquerque, Mousinho de, Portuguese administrator, an imperial zealot, 13
- Alexander, King of Yugoslavia, murdered, 166
- Angell, Norman, doubts that victorious powers can profit by war, 88
- Asquith, Henry Herbert, British Prime Minister, on the need for courage in wartime, 52; his Party declines, 172
- Baldwin, Stanley, British politician, critical of new M.P.s, 170; opposes war with Turkey, 171; strikes down Lloyd George's coalition, 172; Prime Minister, 173; opposes rearmament, 176
- Barthou, Louis, French Foreign Minister, murdered, 165-6
- Bauer, Otto, Austrian socialist, supports union with Germany, 199
- Beaverbrook, Lord, British politician and newspaper proprietor, comments on the fall of Lloyd George, 171-2; his paper criticizes Polish guarantee, 195; aids the Battle of Britain, 260; pledges British support for Russia, 262
- Beck, Colonel Joseph, Polish Foreign Minister, and Germany, 229; appeals to Britain for help, 232-3
- Belloc, Hilaire, poet, on the Maxim gun, 16-7
- Beneš, Eduard, Czech politician, in Great War, 213; Foreign Minister, 214-5; seeks conciliation, 217-8; influenced by Britain, 218; resigns, 220
- Berchtold, Austrian Foreign Minister, seeks to humiliate Serbia, 38; is advised to attack Serbia, 40; hears British regrets on outbreak of war, 42
- Bernstein, Eduard, challenges Marxists, 24
- Bethmann-Hollweg, Theobald von, German Chancellor, and the Agadir crisis, 35; tries to reduce European tensions, 36; admits responsibility for war, 97-8; not wicked, 98; dismissed, 99
- Birkenhead, Lord, British politician, favors war against Turkey, 171
- Bismarck, Otto von, German Chancellor, fosters autocratic state, 1;

- weakens socialists by radical legislation, 26-7; on the Italian appetite, 136
- Blanqui, Louis, French revolutionary socialist, absent from Paris during revolution, 22-
- Blum, Léon, French politician, becomes Prime Minister, 164; defeated, 164; and the Spanish Civil War, 166-7
- Boleslaw the Brave, Polish Emperor, 221
- Bonnet, Georges, French Foreign Minister, not anxious to oppose Hitler, 167
- Boxers, Chinese anti-Europeans, gain strength, 5; murder missionaries, 5
- Briand, Aristide, French Prime Minister, sympathetic to Germany, 108-10
- Brockdorff-Rantzau, Ulrich von, refuses to admit German war guilt, 94
- Brusilov, A. A., Russian general, defeats Austrians, 70; driven back by Germans, 77; takes 400,000 Austrian prisoners, 78-80; appointed Commander-in-Chief, 82; dismissed, 83; supports Bolsheviks, 121
- Canaris, W. W., German Admiral, objects to Nazi brutality, 275
- Casement, Roger, British Consul, reports on Congo atrocities, 19-20; shot by the British, 20
- Cavell, Edith, an English nurse, shot by the Germans, 51; the shock of her death, 51-2
- Cavour, Count Camillo di, and the unification of Italy, 134-5, 144
- Chamberlain, Austen, British Foreign Secretary, sympathetic to Germany, 110
- Chamberlain, Joseph, British Colonial Secretary, reforms concentration camps in South Africa, 10-11
- Chamberlain, Neville, British Prime Minister, attempts to mediate in European affairs, 96; reduces income tax, 173; ignores opposition Parties, 175-6; dislikes rearmament, 176-7; falls from power, 177-8; refuses Hitler's peace offer, 195; and the Czechs, 218-20; and Poland, 229-30, 235; and Finland, 237; and Norway, 244
- Charles, Emperor of Austria, abdicates, 197
- Chotek, Sophie, Bohemian Countess, marries the heir to the Habsburg dominions, 31; assassinated, 37; buried, 38
- Churchill, Randolph, joins Tito's partisans, 263
- Churchill, Winston, on imperial wars, 9-10; on Boer War, 10; on the German character, 36; on the severity of Austria's ultimatum to Serbia, 39; no desire to fight Austria, 42; on British bravery at the Somme, 57-8; launches attack on Dardanelles, 72; his advice ignored, 77; builder of the British Navy, 91; favors war with Turkey, 171; challenges Indian self-government, 175; urges need for rearmament, 176-7; becomes Prime Minister, 178; on Hitler, 194, 195-6; on Russian self-interest, 235-6; urges action off Norway, 240-42; and the fall of France, 244-54; fights defeatism, 256; and the Battle of Britain, 260; and the Lend-Lease policy, 262; overruled by Stalin and Roosevelt, 284; urges American magnanimity, 288
- Ciano, Count Galeazzo, Italian Foreign Minister, hears Hitler appeal for peace, 257
- Clemenceau, Georges, French Prime

- Minister, his death rumored, 65;
and the Versailles Treaty, 155-6
- Conrad, Joseph, novelist, protests against Congo misrule, 20
- Cripps, Sir Stafford, British politician, seeks to combat fascist activity, 173
- Croce, Benedetto, Italian philosopher, compares Fascism and Nazism, 153
- Curzon, Lord, Viceroy of India, challenges apathy, 7-8; opposes war with Turkey, 171
- Daladier, Edouard, French politician, forms his first government, 162; forms his second government, 164; accepts British pressure, 167; declares war on Germany, 168; favors aid to Finland, 237, 239; opposes occupation of Belgium, 242
- D'Annunzio, Gabriele, Italian poet, goes to war, 139; retires, 140; supports Mussolini, 142
- Danton, Georges, French revolutionary leader, and the execution of Louis XVI, 254
- Darlan, French Admiral, promises to keep his fleet away from the Germans, 253-4
- De Gaulle, Charles, French officer, enters government in 1940, 250;
supports Anglo-French Union, 252; deprecates surrender, 253;
sets up Free French Movement, 254
- Denikin, Anton, Russian general, explains revolutionary situation in Russian army, 83; opposes Bolsheviks, 117; defeated, 119-20
- Deutscher, Isaac, historian, on the
Lenin Mausoleum in Moscow,
129-30
- Dollfuss, Engelbert, Austrian Chancellor, 204-5; ends parliamentary government, 205; brings bloodshed to Vienna, 206; murdered
by Nazis, 207
- Ebert, Friedrich, German socialist, becomes Chancellor, 102-3; rules through difficult times, 103-7
- Edward VII, King of England, protests against Congo misrule, 20
- Eisenhower, Dwight D., American
general, unable to attack Rome, 264
- Eisner, Kurt, German socialist, seizes power in Munich, 102; murdered, 105
- Elisabeth, Empress of Austria, killed
by an anarchist, 31
- Ender, Austrian Chancellor, 203
- Engels, Friedrich, and social injustice, 21-2
- Erzberger, Matthias, German politician, urges peace negotiations, 99;
and Kiel mutiny, 102; negotiates armistice, 102-3; assassinated, 107-
108; his success as a negotiator,
255
- Ferdinand, King of Bulgaria, greets
the Kaiser after the defeat of Serbia, 78
- Fermi, Enrico, Italian physicist, leaves Italy because of anti-Semitism, 153
- Fisher, H. A. L., sees need for appeasement in 1919, 92
- Flandin, Pierre, French Foreign
Minister, seeks British support, 166
- Foch, French Marshal, his suicide rumored, 65; impassive at armistice, 103
- Franco, Francisco, Spanish general, receives military aid from Italy,
132, 151-2; and French noninter-

- vention, 166-7; and the defense of Madrid, 251
- François, Hermann, German general, successful at Tannenberg, 68-69; no immediate fame, 69
- Frank, Hans, German Nazi, rules Poland, 268-71; urges deportation of Jews to Madagascar, 278; on need to destroy Jews, 279
- Frank, Karl, Czech citizen, seeks autonomy for Sudeten Germans, 217, 218
- Franz Ferdinand, Habsburg heir, and imperial policy, 30; renounces his children's right to succeed him, 31; assassinated at Sarajevo, 34, 37; buried, 38
- Franz Josef, Habsburg emperor, unites Austria and Hungary, 2; maintains absolute control, 28-30; his unhappy private life, 30; a man of peace, 31; pardons traitors, 33; accepts his nephew's murder with equanimity, 37; unwilling to contemplate war, 38-9; receives British regrets on outbreak of war, 42; dies, 80; his portrait in every cottage, 200; and Polish independence, 223
- Gandhi, Mahatma, Indian nationalist leader, and nonviolence, 174
- Garibaldi, Giuseppe, and the unification of Italy, 135
- Geddes, Sir Eric, British politician, on the need to squeeze Germany, 169
- George V, King of England, critical of Lloyd George, 171
- Giolitti, Giovanni, Italian Prime Minister, encourages Mussolini, 141
- Goebbels, Joseph, German Minister of Propaganda, comments on Mussolini, 264
- Grey, Sir Edward, British Foreign Secretary, urges conferences rather than war in 1914, 40; accepts war to prevent German domination of Europe, 41
- Gröner, General Wilhelm, helps German victories, 99; supports socialists, 103-4
- Haig, General Douglas, breaks German line at Neuve Chapelle, 50; hopes for victory on the Somme, 55; disappointed by the continuing stalemate, 57; overruled by the French, 58; launches third battle of Ypres, 60; criticized by Lloyd George, 60
- Haller, Jozef, Polish general, supports allied cause, 224
- Henderson, Sir Neville, British Ambassador to Berlin, supports German annexation of Sudetenland, 217
- Henlein, Konrad, Czech citizen, demands autonomy for Sudeten Germans, 217; visits Britain, 217; under pressure from Hitler, 218
- Hertling, Georg von, German Chancellor, opposes peace negotiations, 100
- Heusinger, Adolf, German general, loyal to whoever gives orders, 290
- Heydrich, Reinhard, Acting Protector of Bohemia, murdered, 273
- Himmler, Heinrich, Nazi leader, on violence, 269; on extermination, 272
- Hindenburg, General Paul von, on the needless sacrifices at Verdun, 55; and the war in the East, 67, 69, 71; becomes chief of staff, 98; advocates peace negotiations, 100-101; insists on armistice, 102-3; becomes President, 107; invites Hitler to become Chancellor, 186; presides at Potsdam, 187
- Hitler, Adolf, an unsuccessful Aus-

- trian painter, 95; Chancellor of Germany, 96, 107; attempts to seize power in Munich, 111; and Mussolini, 150-3; and France, 166-168; restricts liberty, 174; and Britain, 176-8; his early life, 179-182; his struggle for power, 182-186; his tyranny, 187-96; and Austria, 206-10; and Czechoslovakia, 216-20; attacks Poland, 232; offers to make peace, 239; attacks Norway, 241-4; seeks the mastery of Europe, 255-67; declares war on U.S., 263; and German brutality, 268-83
- Hoare, Sir Samuel, British politician, and Indian self-government, 174
- Hoffman, Max, German general, and the battle of Tannenberg, 67; his skill not immediately recognized, 69; his bold plan discarded, 71; another plan accepted, 83
- Hötzendorf, Conrad von, chief of the Austro-Hungarian general staff, favors war against Serbia, 31, 38; senses victory in the East, 69; orders his troops to withdraw, 70; comes to aid of Germans, 71
- Hugo, Victor, his novels read by Stalin, 123
- Hull, Cordell, American Secretary of State, warns France about losing U.S. friendship, 253
- Innitzer, Cardinal Archbishop and Primate of Austria, sends Hitler greetings, 210; urges Catholics to support union with Germany, 210
- Jaksch, Wenzel, Czech citizen, leads Sudeten German Social Democrats, 217; a moderate, 217; seeks visas in London, 220
- Jameson, Dr. Leander Starr, fails to seize power in Transvaal, 8
- Jaurès, Jean Léon, French socialist, supports co-operation with bourgeois parties, 27; opposes war, 87
- Joffre, General Joseph Jacques, plans to drive Germans from France, 48; fails to do so, 49-50; senses growing defeatism among his soldiers, 58; his powers curbed by politicians, 58
- Juliana, Princess, heir to the Dutch throne, goes into exile, 245
- Kaufmann, Nazi official, describes the destruction of Hamburg, 266
- Keitel, Wilhelm, German general, defends Nazi brutality, 275-6; elaborates on Hitler's instructions, 277
- Kemal, Mustafa, Turkish officer, repels invaders at the Dardanelles, 74; becomes President of Turkey, 171
- Kerensky, Alexander, Russian War Minister, tries to create enthusiasm for the war, 82; launches offensive against Germany, 83; attacks Bolsheviks, 112; defeated outside Petrograd, 113; and Polish independence, 224
- Keyes, Roger, British sailor, sees chance of victory at Dardanelles, 74
- Khrushchev, Nikita, removes Stalin from the public view, 129
- Kipling, Rudyard, poet, and soldiers' view of Empire, 2; puzzled by American imperialism, 18; on the burden of empire, 18-19
- Koch, Erich, ruler of the Ukraine, on German policy in the East, 276
- Kolchak, A. V., Russian general, advances on Bolsheviks, 115-7; proclaimed Supreme Ruler of Russia, 117-8; continues advance on Bolsheviks, 118; shot by Bolsheviks, 119

- Kruger, Paul, Transvaal President, restricts settlers' rights, 8; invades British territory, 9; visits Europe, 11
- Krupp, German industrialist, described as a pederast by Mussolini, 139; uses forced labor at Essen, 271
- Kun, Bela, Hungarian Communist, murdered by Stalin, 112
- Kundt, Czech citizen, urges autonomy for Sudeten Germans, 217-218
- Laval, Pierre, French politician, becomes Prime Minister, 163; resigns, 163; as Foreign Minister, 166; favors armistice with Germany, 252
- Law, Andrew Bonar, Conservative leader, and postwar England, 169-170; writes letter to The Times, 171; becomes Prime Minister, 172
- Lenin, Vladimir, adopts Marxist program, 24; plans revolution, 25; reaches Russia from Switzerland, 82; seizes power, 83; makes peace with Germany, 84-5; his enthusiasm, 95; rules Russia, 112-117; in difficulties, 118; appeals to America, 122; and Stalin, 124; his opinions ignored, 126-7; dies, 129
- Leopold, King of the Belgians, controls the Congo, 19; forced to relinquish control, 20
- Liebknecht, Karl, German revolutionary, leads revolution, 104; shot, 105
- Limberg, Bishop of, worried by exterminations, 275
- Lloyd George, David, British Liberal, against Boer War, 9-11; advocates social reforms, 27; and the coming of war in 1914, 41-2; supports French generals against his own, 58; critical of British generals, 60; opposes an anti-German Peace Treaty, 93; friend of Germany, 108-10, 157; Prime Minister in peace and war, 169-172; demands Chamberlain's resignation, 178; attracted by Hitler, 192; attracted by Hitler's peace offer, 195; and Polish independence, 225; and rumors, 256
- Lobengula, King of Matabeleland, defeated, 17
- Ludendorff, General Erich von, and fall of Liège, 45; launches offensive on Western Front, 61; approaches Paris, 61-3; halted by the Americans, 63-4; and the war in the East, 67, 69, 71, 83; becomes military dictator of Germany, 98; supports peace negotiations, 99-101; joins revolution in Munich, 111, 182
- Luxemburg, Rosa, German revolutionary, leads revolution, 104-5; murdered, 105
- MacDonald, Ramsay, British Labour leader, sympathetic to Germany, 110; twice Prime Minister, 172-173
- Macmillan, Harold, British politician, critical of Conservative blindness, 177-8; votes against Chamberlain, 178
- Marx, Karl, and the class struggle, 21-3
- Masaryk, Thomas, President of Czechoslovakia, considered the ideal democrat, 211; seeks allied support in Great War, 213
- Matteotti, Giacomo, Italian politician, opposes Mussolini, 142-3; murdered, 144; Mussolini implicated, 145
- Max von Baden, Prince, German Chancellor, and peace negotiations, 101-3

- Mensdorff, Count Albert von, Austrian Ambassador to London, denounces Germany at outbreak of war in 1914, 42
- Michaelis, Georg, German Chancellor, an unknown, 99
- Millerand, Alexandre, socialist, joins French Cabinet, 27
- Moorehead, Alan, describes warfare at the Dardanelles, 75
- Morel, Edmund, a shipping clerk, publicizes Congo atrocities, 19
- Mosley, Sir Oswald, British politician, his private army outlawed, 173
- Mueller, Heinrich, head of the Gestapo, advises shooting prisoners of war, 276
- Mussolini, Benito, an Italian journalist, 95; his early life, 138-9; comes to power, 140-2; the nature of his rule, 143-7, 152-3; and war, 147-52; and Austria, 206-8; in favor of peacemaking, 239; invades France, 253; invades Greece, 261; overthrown, 263-4; kidnapped by Hitler, 264; murdered by partisans, 267
- Napoleon, French Emperor, visited by Hitler, 257
- Nasmith, M. E., submarine captain, brings panic to Constantinople, 75
- Nelson, Horatio, British Admiral, destroys Danish fleet, 254
- Nicholas II, Tsar of Russia, a moderate Emperor, 2; benefits by gulf between peasants and intellectuals, 30; pursues less liberal policy, 32; opportunity to defeat Austria, 80; his authority challenged, 81-2; abdicates, 82; and jealousy of Germany before 1914, 95; his power sought by Bolsheviks, 113; murdered, 115-7; and Czech independence, 212; and Polish independence, 224
- Nicholson, C. N., British officer, and the defense of Calais, 247-8
- Nicolson, Sir Arthur, doubts if Austria will attack Serbia, 39
- Nivelle, General, seeks victory for France, 58; fails to break the German line, 59
- Norton, Clifford, British diplomat, speaks the truth, 230
- Noske, Gustav, German politician, crushes revolution, 104-5; guards Weimar Assembly, 106
- Paderewski, Jan, Polish pianist, urges Polish independence, 224; and Danzig, 225
- Papen, Franz von, German politician, imagines he can control Hitler, 186
- Pavlič, Ante, Croat politician, joins the ranks of Quislings, 261; resorts to murder, 270
- Pétain, General Henri Philippe, successful against Germans in 1915, 51; in command of the defense of Verdun, 54; becomes Commander-in-Chief of the French Army, 59; enters government in 1934, 162; reenters in 1940, 250; becomes Prime Minister, 253; refuses to surrender the French fleet to Britain, 254; rules France, 256; condones violence, 270
- Peters, Karl, German administrator, dismissed from imperial service, 16
- Pilsudski, Joseph, fights for Polish independence, 223-4; President, 228; assumes dictatorial powers, 228
- Pisarev, Dmitri I., Russian writer, on the connection between dreams and reality, 25

- Poe, Edgar Allan, his horror stories envied by Mussolini, 138
- Poincaré, Raymond, French Prime Minister, opposes compromise with Germany, 108-9; insists upon occupation of the Ruhr, 157; and French economic troubles, 160-1
- Potiorek, Oskar, Austrian General, defeated by Serbs, 66
- Putnik, Serbian General, successful against Austria, 66; his prisoners taken to Albania, 77-8
- Quisling, Vidkun, Norwegian politician, helps Hitler, 240; rules Norway, 256; hears Hitler speak of peace, 257
- Rakovsky, Christian, Balkan socialist leader, persuades his followers to oppose war, 87; rules the Ukraine, 125; challenges Stalin, 128; banished to London, 130; returns to Moscow, 131
- Ramek, Austrian Chancellor, discredited, 202
- Rasputin, G. E., Russian monk and courtier, murdered, 81
- Rathenau, Walther, German politician, seeks modification of reparations, 108; assassinated, 109-10
- Rennenkampf, P. K., Russian general, defeats Germans, 67; unable to reach Tannenberg, 68
- Renner, Karl, Austrian Chancellor, accepts independence, 199; resigns, 201; supports anti-democrats, 205; supports union with Germany, 210
- Reynaud, Paul, French politician, seeks economic reforms, 164; becomes Prime Minister, 245; and the Dunkirk evacuation, 249; appeals to America, 250-1; appeals to Britain, 251; realizes he cannot rely on American help, 252; resigns, 253
- Roehm, Ernst, builds Nazi storm-troopers, 185; shot, 191
- Rommel, Erwin, German general, impressed by Polish bravery, 235; in the attack on France, 247; in the African desert, 262; defeated, 263; commits suicide, 266
- Roosevelt, Franklin Delano, American President, and the fall of France, 247, 250, 252; and the Lend-Lease policy, 262; declares war on Japan, 263; joins Stalin to overrule Churchill, 284
- Roosevelt, Theodore, American President, protests against Congo misrule, 20
- Rudolf, heir to the Habsburgs, commits suicide, 30
- Samsonov, A. V., Russian General, crosses into Germany, 67; defeated at Tannenberg, 68
- Sarraut, Albert, French Prime Minister, indecisive at a crucial moment, 166
- Sassoon, Siegfried, and those who did not go to war, 60-1
- Schluss, German Chancellor, non-existent, 103
- Schober, Johann, Police President of Vienna, becomes Austrian Chancellor, 201; outvoted, 201; returns as Chancellor, 202-3; becomes Vice-Chancellor, 203; and Schuschnigg, 207
- Schuschnigg, Kurt von, Austrian Chancellor, 207; and Hitler, 208-210
- Sebekovsky, Czech citizen, urges autonomy for Sudeten Germans, 217-8
- Seipel, Mgr. Ignaz, becomes Austrian Chancellor, 201; neglects social legislation, 202

- Seton-Watson, R. W., British historian, and Czechoslovakia, 213; supports autonomy for Sudeten Germans, 217
- Seyss-Inquart, Arthur, Austrian politician, supported by Hitler, 208; becomes Chancellor, 209
- Skorzeny, Otto, Austrian Nazi, kidnaps Mussolini, 264
- Sobieski, Jan, Polish King, saves Vienna from the Turks, 221
- Stalin, Joseph, a tyrant, 95; his early life, 123-5; challenges Lenin, 126-128; gains power, 129-31; helps Spanish Republic, 132; makes terms with Hitler, 133; restricts liberty, 174; attacks Finland, 236-239; extends Soviet rule westwards, 284-5
- Starhemberg, Prince Ernst von, builds private army in Austria, 202; becomes Vice-Chancellor, 206
- Stavisky, Serge, French financier, the center of a scandal, 162
- Steed, Wickham, British journalist, and Czechoslovakia, 213
- Stresemann, Gustav, German statesman, becomes Chancellor, 110-11
- Stroop, General Juergen, suppresses Warsaw Ghetto uprising, 282-3
- Tardieu, André, French Prime Minister, resigns, 161; resigns again, 162-3
- Thiers, Adolphe, French Prime Minister, makes peace with Germany, 22; bombards Paris, 23
- Thyssen, Fritz, German industrialist, supports Hitler, 186
- Tirpitz, Admiral Alfred von, seeks a large German navy, 36; favors submarine warfare, 98
- Tito, Josip Broz, Yugoslav guerilla leader, leads the partisan war, 263; rejects Russian tutelage, 285
- Trotsky, Leon, helps Lenin seize power in Russia, 112; conducts foreign policy, 114-15; creates Red Army, 117; quells rebellion, 122-123; predicts dictatorship, 123; overshadows Stalin, 124; overshadowed by Stalin, 125-30; outnumbered by Stalin, 130; assassinated, 131
- Truman, Harry, American President, gives aid to Greece, 287
- Twain, Mark, American writer, protests against Congo misrule, 20
- Vansittart, Robert, sees danger in Austria's anti-Serbian policy, 39; on Mussolini and Hitler, 153
- Vetsera, Mary, in love with the Habsburg heir, 30
- Victoria, Queen of England, symbolizes British power, 2; her own powers limited, 28
- Walden, Russian colonel, joins Bolsheviks, 113
- Wilhelm II, German Emperor, manipulates autocratic state, 1; willing to face war on two fronts, 34-5; urges rapid shipbuilding, 36; sees no reason for an Austro-Serbian war, 40; his armies checked by the Belgians, 44; goes into exile, 64; greeted in Latin after the conquest of Serbia, 78; and Russian rivalry, 95; his powers before 1914, 97; his powers weakened, 99-100; abdicates, 101
- Wilhelmina, Queen of the Netherlands, goes into exile, 245
- William, Crown Prince of Germany, congratulates French defenders of Verdun, 54
- Wilson, Woodrow, American President, opposed to an unjust Peace

Treaty, 93; insists on German emperor's resignation, 101; seeks to mediate for Bolsheviks, 118; and France, 156; and Czechoslovakia, 211

Windsor, Duke of, rumors concerning his defeatism, 256

Württemberg, Bishop of, complains about exterminations, 275

York, Archbishop of, proposes day of humiliation for Empire, after Boer War, 11