

Contents

Table of Cases	xiii
List of Abbreviations	xxi
1. Introduction	1
1.1 Scope and Method of This Study	1
1.2 Structure of the Study	4
1.3 Jurisdiction as a Concern of International Law	5
1.4 The Concept of Jurisdiction in Transnational Domestic Litigation	10
1.5 The Concept of Jurisdiction in International Human Rights Treaties	22
1.6 Concluding Remarks	26
2. Public International Law Approaches to Jurisdiction	29
2.1 The Lotus Case	30
2.2 Customary International Law	34
3. The Territoriality Principle	49
3.1 Historical Growth of the Territoriality Principle in Continental Europe	50
3.2 The Territoriality Principle in England	62
3.3 The Territoriality Principle in the United States	65
3.4 Territorial Jurisdiction over Cross-border Offenses	77
3.5 Territorial Jurisdiction and the Internet	79
3.6 Territorial Jurisdiction over Antitrust Violations	82
3.7 Territorial Jurisdiction and Securities Regulation	84
3.8 Territoriality and Orders for Discovery Abroad	89
3.9 Territorial Extension of Domestic Law	94
3.10 Concluding Observations	99
4. The Principles of Extraterritorial Jurisdiction	101
4.1 Continental Europe v Common Law Countries	101
4.2 Active Personality Principle	104
4.3 Passive Personality Principle	110
4.4 Protective Principle	114
4.5 Universality Principle	120
4.6 Concurrent Jurisdiction and Normative Competency Conflicts	142

5. A Reasonable Exercise of Jurisdiction	145
5.1 Comity as a Discretionary Principle of Jurisdictional Restraint	147
5.2 "Reasonable Jurisdiction" Under International Law	152
5.3 The Jurisdictional Rule of Reason of § 403 of the Restatement (Third) of US Foreign Relations Law (1987)	162
5.4 The Problematic Character of the Jurisdictional Rule of Reason as an International Law Norm or Principle	167
5.5 The Jurisdictional Rule of Reason as a Norm of International Law	180
6. A New Theory of Jurisdiction in International Law	189
6.1 Inevitability, Democracy, and Reciprocity	190
6.2 Substantivism	197
6.3 Devising a Jurisdictional Framework: Using Transnational Regulatory and Judicial Networks	208
6.4 Revisiting Reasonableness: Protective Purpose and Subsidiarity	215
6.5 Final Concluding Remarks	230
Index	233