
Contents

Notes on contributors	vii
Acknowledgements	ix
1 Introduction	1
Bart Moore-Gilbert and John Seed
2 Hegemony postponed: the unravelling of the culture of consensus in Britain in the 1960s	15
John Seed
3 The new radicalism: the politics of culture in Britain, America and France, 1956-73	45
Alf Louvre
4 The politics of culture: institutional change	72
Stuart Laing
5 From equality to liberation: contextualizing the emergence of the Women's Liberation Movement	96
Jane Lewis
6 A critical stage: drama in the 1960s	118
Martin Priestman
7 Inside the liberal heartland: television and the popular imagination in the 1960s	139
Jeremy Ridgman
8 British poetry and its discontents	160
Robert Sheppard

9	The return of the repressed: Gothic and the 1960s novel	181
	Bart Moore-Gilbert
10	Step by step: the cautious revolution in dance	200
	Judith Mackrell
11	New waves and old myths: British cinema in the 1960s	218
	Jeffrey Richards
12	Still crazy after all these years: what was popular music in the 1960s?	236
	Dave Harker
13	Caro verbum factus est: British art in the 1960s?	255
	Stuart Sillars
	Index	279