1 Introduction	1
1.1 Major themes of the study	1
1.2 Organization	4
2 Conversational analysis	6
2.1 Notation conventions	6
2.2 The turn-taking system	10
2.3 The structural organization of conversation	12
2.4 Conclusion	14
3 Anaphora in conversational English	16
3.1 Introduction	16
3.2 The data	17
3.3 The basic pattern of anaphora	18
3.4 Anaphora in the environment of different-gender referents	45
3.5 Anaphora in the environment of same-gender referents	48
3.6 Non-structural factors in anaphora	62
3.7 Summary	75
4 Rhetorical structure analysis	77
4.1 Rhetorical structure concepts	78
4.2 Validity in the analysis	91
4.3 Summary	92
5 Anaphora in expository written English texts	93
5.1 Introduction	93
5.2 Anaphora in some expository written English texts	94
5.3 Rhetorical structure breaks in anaphora	111
5.4 Anaphora in the environment of different-gender referents	118
5.5 Anaphora in the environment of same-gender referents	123
5.6 Non-structural factors	132
5.7 Summary	135

6	Anaphora in expository written and conversational English	137
6.1	Introduction	137
6.2	Theories of the differences between spoken and written language	137
6.3	The basic patterns	139
6.4	Demarcating structural units	143
6.5	Different-gender referents and anaphora	144
6.6	Same-gender referents and anaphora	147
6.7	Non-structural factors in anaphora	148
