

CONTENTS

PREFACE . . . . .	9
INTRODUCTION . . . . .	13
1 CANADIAN IDENTITY AND A NATIONAL LITERATURE . . . . .	27
Identity and Maturation: Toward Selfhood . . . . .	29
Definitions of National Identity . . . . .	31
Hugh MacLennan as Autobiographer of a Nation . . . . .	32
Defining the Canadian Character: The Foundations of National Selfhood . . . . .	34
The Development of a National Literature . . . . .	42
2 MACLENNAN'S VOYAGE OF DISCOVERY: A SEARCH FOR CANADA . . . . .	55
The Early Years: the First Setting . . . . .	58
Toward an Artistic Identity . . . . .	63
Oxford, England, and the Continent . . . . .	64
Princeton and America . . . . .	67
Toward an Independent Philosophy . . . . .	70
First Novels . . . . .	73
The Voyage Home . . . . .	77
3 BAROMETER RISING: AN EXPLOSION OUT OF COLONIALISM . . . . .	83
Toward Selfhood . . . . .	86
The Odyssey Theme as a Myth of Selfhood . . . . .	93
Violence as a Theme in MacLennan's Novels . . . . .	94
Characters as Symbols of Selfhood . . . . .	101
Style and Technique . . . . .	105
Images of Canada in Barometer Rising . . . . .	108
4 TWO SOLITUDES: A STUDY IN DUALITY . . . . .	127
French and English Canada: A Plea For Understanding . . . . .	133
Characters as Symbols of National Identity . . . . .	140
Themes of Post-colonial Independence in Two Solitudes . . . . .	149
Images of Canada: Landscape and Cityscape . . . . .	151
Style and Technique . . . . .	158

5	THE PRECIPICE: A PURITAN PARABLE . . . . .	163
	Canada and the United States: A Search For Meaning . . .	167
	Puritan Trails . . . . .	176
	Gadarene Parables . . . . .	177
	The Land: Familiar Scenes and Images . . . . .	178
6	READERS AND CRITICS:
	THE AUDIENCE RESPONDS . . . . .	187
	Barometer Rising : "A major weather sign" . . . . .	189
	Two Solitudes : "Canada's biggest literary event" . . . . .	198
	The Precipice : "A serious disappointment" . . . . .	202
	Concluding Comments . . . . .	207
	NOTES . . . . .	211
	BIBLIOGRAPHY . . . . .	223