
Contents

Illustrations	xiii
Preface to the Second Edition	xv
Acknowledgments	xix
1—Organization of Information and Cataloging	1
The Information Transfer Cycle	1
The Principles of Information Organization	3
Principle One: Definition of Scope and Selection Criteria	3
Principle Two: Creation of Representation	3
Principle Three: Analysis for Access	4
Principle Four: Organization of Resources and Their Representations	5
The Principles and Cataloging	5
Organizing Audiovisual and Electronic Materials	6
Purpose of This Book	8
Conclusion	9
2—Cataloging: An Overview	13
Treatment of Nonprint Resources	13
Description	14
Rules for Descriptive Cataloging	16
Levels of Description	16
Chief Source and Prescribed Sources of Information	17
Area 1. Title and Statement of Responsibility (MARC Field 245)	17
Area 2. Edition (MARC Field 250)	18
Area 3. Material Specific Details	18
Area 4. Publication, Distribution, Etc. (MARC Field 260)	18
Area 5. Physical Description (MARC Field 300)	20
Area 6. Series (Field 4XX)	20
Area 7. Notes (Field 5XX)	21

Description	88
Rules for Descriptive Cataloging	88
Chief Source of Information	88
Prescribed Sources of Information	89
7.1. Title and Statement of Responsibility (MARC Field 245)	89
7.2. Edition (MARC Field 250)	94
7.3. Material Specific Details	95
7.4. Publication, Distribution, Etc. (MARC Field 260)	95
7.5. Physical Description (MARC Field 300)	96
7.6. Series (MARC Field 4XX)	98
7.7. Notes	99
7.8. International Standard Numbers (Fields 020, 022, and 024)	104
Music Videos	104
Television Episodes and Series	105
Streaming Videos	105
Assignment of Access Points	106
Subject Analysis	107
Library of Congress Subject Headings	107
Fiction Films	108
Nonfiction Films	109
Classification Numbers	110
Arrangement	111
Closed Stacks	111
Shelving by Format, Type, Etc.	112
Other Possibilities	112
Cataloging Examples	113
5—Electronic Resources	149
MARC Fields for Electronic Resources	152
Common Fields for Direct Access and Remote Access Electronic Resources	152
Type “m”	154
Computer Files/Electronic Resources 006 Field	155
Coding “File” and “Form” in Fixed Field	158
Electronic Resource 007 Field	159
Description	161
Rules for Descriptive Cataloging	161
9.0A. Scope	161
9.0B1. Chief Source of Information	161
9.0B2. Prescribed Sources of Information	162
9.1. Title and Statement of Responsibility (MARC Field 245)	162
9.2. Edition (MARC Field 250)	164
9.3. Material Specific Details	165
9.4. Publication, Distribution, Etc. (MARC Field 260)	165
9.5. Physical Description (MARC Field 300)	165
9.6. Series (MARC Field 4XX)	167
9.7. Notes	167
9.8. Standard Numbers (MARC Fields 020, 022)	171

Electronic Books	171
Single Record Approach Vs. Separate Record Approach	172
Enhanced CDs	176
Finite Internet Resources (PDF Files, Static Documents, Etc.)	177
Assignment of Access Points	178
Subject Analysis	178
Library of Congress Subject Headings	178
Classification Numbers	180
Arrangement	181
Cataloging Examples	182
6—Integrating Resources	207
Issues for Consideration Before Record Creation	208
Resource Selection	208
Aspects for Description and Access	208
Type of Insurance	209
Single Record Approach Vs. Separate Record Approach	210
MARC Fields for Integrating Resources	210
Decisions on 008 Field and 006 Fields	212
Electronic Resource 007 Field	214
“File” and “Form” in Fixed Field or Field 006	215
Description	217
Rules for Descriptive Cataloging	217
Basis of Description	217
Chief Source of Information	218
Prescribed Sources of Information	218
Area 1. Title and Statement of Responsibility (MARC Field 245)	219
Area 2. Edition (MARC Field 250)	222
Area 3. Material Specific Details	223
Area 4. Publication, Distribution, Etc. (MARC Field 260)	223
Area 5. Physical Description (MARC Field 300)	225
Area 6. Series (MARC Field 440 or 490)	225
Area 7. Notes (MARC Fields 310, 546, 500, 538, 530, 520, 505, Etc.)	226
Area 8. Standard Numbers (MARC Fields 020, 022, 024)	234
Assignment of Access Points	234
Changes in Responsibilities and Titles in Later Iterations	235
Subject Analysis	236
Cataloging Examples	237
7—Remote Access Electronic Serials	267
Issues for Consideration Before Record Creation	269
Serials Vs. Integrating Resources	269
ISSN and Remote Access Electronic Serials	271
Decisions on Creating New Records	271

Single Record Approach Vs. Separate Record Approach.	272
Steps for Cataloging Remote Access Electronic Serials	272
Major Tools for Serial Cataloging	273
MARC Fields for Remote Access Electronic Serials	274
Description	276
Rules for Descriptive Cataloging	276
Basis of Description	276
Chief Source of Information	278
Area 1. Title Proper (MARC Field 245)	279
Area 2. Edition (MARC Field 250)	280
Area 3. Material Specific Details	281
Area 4. Publication, Distribution, Etc. (MARC Field 260)	283
Area 5. Physical Description (MARC Field 300)	283
Area 6. Series Statement (MARC Field 4XX)	283
Area 7. Notes	284
Area 8. Standard Numbers: International Standard Serial Number (ISSN)	291
CONSER Policy for Creating Aggregator-Neutral Records	291
Assignment of Access Points	292
Decisions on Main Entry and Added Entries	292
Uniform Title (Rule 25.5B1)	293
Subject Analysis	295
Subject Headings	295
Classification	296
Cataloging Examples	298
 8—Organizing Information in the Digital Age	 343
Scholarly Communication	343
Users and Information Environment	344
Metadata	347
Metadata and Cataloging	348
Selected Metadata Schemas	351
MARC 21 Formats	351
MODS (Metadata Object Description Schema)	351
Dublin Core	352
Text Encoding Initiative (TEI)	354
Encoded Archival Description (EAD) Document Type Definition (DTD)	355
ONIX for Books	355
Metadata Schemas Selection and Implementation	355
Dublin Core and Cataloging	357
The Future of Cataloging and Catalogers	357
Conclusion	359
 Bibliography	 365
Index	371