

European Competition Law Review

2016 Volume 37 Issue 6

ISSN: 0144-3054

Table of Contents

Articles

WERNER BERG AND MIKLOS
MUDRONY

A Year of In-depth Assessment—EU Merger Control 2015 215

2015 was an active year in EU merger control. Unilateral concerns have been the most prominent theory of harm with closeness of competition becoming an increasingly prominent substantive test. The Commission is extending its co-operation with other competition authorities across the globe, including MOFCOM in China.

GAVIN MURPHY

Staples/Office Depot merger stalled in Canada and US, but green light given in EU and elsewhere may offer incentive for resolution 226

The Staples/Office Depot merger is stalled in Canada and the US, but cleared in the EU and elsewhere, with the case scheduled to be heard by an administrative law judge of the FTC this month in America. There is the real possibility of a conflicting outcome with different results in different jurisdictions. Gavin Murphy explains.

CSONGOR ISTVÁN NAGY

EU competition law's fair trial revolution: much ado about nothing? 232

The article examines the right to fair trial in the context of the judicial review of competition authority decisions. It briefly presents the general models of judicial review and analyses the recent jurisprudence of the European Court of Human Rights and the Court of Justice of the European Union. The article argues that although the reader of the recent jurisprudence on the standard of review may easily get the impression that it is no exaggeration to speak about a revolution in Europe, when taking a closer look at the case law, it becomes clear that it is very far from a qualitative change taking the form of a leap.

PETER DAVIS

Competition policy and the economic consequences of customer inertia from barriers to search and switching 239

Powerful forces are encouraging competition agencies towards intervention in markets where there are barriers to search or switching. This article considers the implications of the economic literature on customer inertia for the questions that a properly reasoned competition agency decision must answer. It illustrates the challenges by drawing on the experience gained so far from the CMA's ongoing energy market investigation.

MACIEJ BERNATT

Catching-up with EU due process standards. A case of Poland's soft law guidelines 247

This article discusses how soft law guidelines can be used to achieve greater convergence with EU procedural rules in relation to undertakings' due process rights as well as NCAs' greater transparency. The approach taken in this respect in 2015 by Poland's competition authority is presented here.

Comment

HETHAM HANI ABU KARKY AND
ZU'BI M.F. AL-ZU'BI

Corporate governance considerations at Jordanian competition law 253

This article tries to briefly find the harmony factors between corporate governance principles and competition law in Jordan, by analysing competition law articles which have harmonisation with corporate governance principles such as enhancing transparency and the clarification of information.

Case Comment

SUNNY S.H. CHAN

Hong Kong: Abuse of Dominant Position—Television Broadcast 257

Discusses the Hong Kong Court of First Instance judgment in Television Broadcasts Ltd v Communications Authority (HCAL 176/2013). Discusses the substantive rulings, including standard of proof, requirement of proportionality of remedy, and meanings of "purpose" and "effect". Discusses relevance of EU jurisprudence. Discusses the judgment's binding effect.

Book Reviews

DR ARNDT CHRISTIANSEN

The Oxford Handbook of International Antitrust Economics, Vol.1 and Vol.2 258

ANDREAS STEPHAN

The Criminalization of European Cartel Enforcement: Theoretical, Legal and Practical Challenges 259

National Reports

Canada

GENERAL

Emerging issues N-79

CJEU

PROCEDURE

Regulation 1/2003 N-80

Czech Republic

LEGISLATION

Supermarket power N-83

Germany

MERGERS

Thresholds N-84

Netherlands

MERGERS

Risks N-86